ONE PER CENT. GAINED — A three or four-story building may be built which will net you about seven per cent. on your investment. If you put in the Luxfer System of Sidewalk Lights you can make the basement as well lit with daylight as are the upper floors, and can in consequence get one per cent. more, perhaps, out of the investment. Anyway it will pay you to send for our man who will explain it to you. 'Phone 3276 Gramercy.

THERE is little to be said about the action of the stock market during the week. Advances and declines have been succeeded by recoveries, the latter in some instances leaving some stocks with net losses. As has been said before in this column, it is difficult to say what the trend of the market is. There are encouraging and discouraging features, but it would appear on the whole that there are more reasons for taking a favorable view than the reverse. Crop scares are no longer a factor, and whether Mr. Harriman will be called on by the federal government to answer certain questions as to "deals" of questionable character does not seem to be worrying Wall Street to any great extent. That great financial centre not only discounts everything, but it also quickly forgives and as easily forgets. Trading of any magnitude has been confined chiefly to a few of the high-priced speculative issues, especially Reading and American Smelting. As to the latter, a controversy is still raging as to whether the Guggenheims promised a ten per cent. dividend a year or not. Certain it is that the company has placed all of its stock on an 8 per cent. basis—the former rate was 7. There is much disappointment in consequence. It is said authoritatively that while the earnings of the company might justify a dividend rate of 10 per cent. the management preferred to lean on the side of conservatism. It was felt that this was not the time to raise dividends to a higher point. Wall Street considered that the reasons given were both good and sufficient. The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation still continue phenomenal, but the price quoted for both the common and preferred do not reflect the prosperity of the company. The stock has acted very well since the March trouble and did not suffer in proportion to other issues subjected to forced liquidation. In connection with this matter it is interesting to note, that according to the Iron Trade Review, the May shipments of ore from Lake Superior ranges in May made a new record and indicate that 40,000,000 tons can be shipped easily this year. The continued gold shipments to Europe are not causing any concern, and are having little or no influence on the market. It is conceded that they were necessary to balance international trade and financial conditions. The exportation of the yellow metal has not affected the New York loan rate for call and time funds, so that other things being equal building and real estate interests should have no difficulty with proper security in obtaining funds for legitimate purposes. A dull stock and money market are looked for during the ensuing three months.

COMPTROLLER METZ is undoubtedly right in protesting against the high prices which the city is obliged to pay for the land it condemns, but the Record and Guide doubts whether the system will be improved by merely seeking to discipline the commissioners. The truth is that the difficulty of ascertaining a fair value, particularly for vacant property in New York, has enormously increased of late years. The public records have become of comparatively little use as a guide to values. The consideration is uniformly omitted from the deeds, and the consequence is that it is only the speculators and brokers who operate in a given vicinity that are thoroughly familiar with values in the neighborhood. The prices which property brings are matters of private rather than public record; and they have been withdrawn from public record precisely for the purpose of concealing values and in this way giving the professional operator an advantage over the investor and the tax-assessor. There can be no doubt that the public interest is prejudiced by this practice, as well as the interests of those men who invest in real estate. The tax assessor cannot prove what level values have reached, and he naturally prefers to under rather than over appraise a parcel of property. On the other hand, when the city is purchasing instead of assessing property, the interest works the other way. The values in condemnation proceedings are determined largely by the testimony of local brokers, and it is to the interest of local brokers to make such values as high as possible. Thus the city and the public interest loses in both cases; and as long as existing conditions prevail, it is surely inevitable that it should lose. The difficulty of securing disinterested testimony as to the value of real estate has enormously increased, and the city has taken no steps to protect its interests in the matter. We are unable to discover any good reason why the grantee in every real estate transaction should not be obliged by law to file with the Tax Department a sworn copy of the contract whereby the parcel was originally transferred. The information contained in such a copy would be accessible only to the assessors, and to commissioners in condemnation proceedings. Then, perhaps, there would be less evasion of taxation and fewer extortionate prices paid by the city for real estate.

Charter Revision.

THE Legislature has passed the bill bestowing on the Governor power to appoint a commission to revise the charter of New York City, and presumably the project for a new charter will be submitted to the Legislature at its next session. That the charter can be modified to advantage is manifest, but it is to be regretted that the call for revision has not been accompanied by some more definite statement as to the direction which the revision ought to take. Both the Governor and the Mayor favor revision, but neither of them has indicated the specific amendments which, in his opinion, should be incorporated in the revised instrument. The consequence is that no one can predict with any confidence just what kind of a changeling the commission is likely to bring forth. Moreover, public opinion seems to be, as usual, singularly indifferent as to the nature of the instrument whereby the people of New York are ruled. The newspapers do not discuss the question, and there is no consensus of opinion as to the principles which should determine charter revision. The chief consolation is that Governor Hughes is likely to appoint an able and well-informed commission, and that the members ex-officio, viz., the Mayor and the Comptroller, can be trusted to use their influence in favor of desirable amendments.

The provisions in the existing charter which have worked least well have been those referring to the Board of Aldermen and the borough presidents. The Board of Aldermen has been shorn of its most important functions by legislative enactments. The Board of Estimate has thereby obtained almost exclusive control over important street openings, over franchises, and the functions remaining with the Board of Aldermen are inconsiderable and could easily be distributed among the other organs of the city government. It is merely a superstition in favor of a local legislative body which prevents the Board of Aldermen from being cut out of the charter entirely, and if it were dispensed with the city would save a good deal of money and would be much better off than it is at present. There is no evidence, however, that this superstition in favor of a local Legislature which has been deprived of all important powers of legislation will not continue to prevail, and the best that can be expected is that no changes will be made proposing to bestow any increase of power on the Aldermen. But in respect to the borough presidents, it is very probable that the project for a new charter offers radical changes. The existing system of allowing an official elected by the population of one borough to spend money which is levied on the whole city and to have a voice in the governing board of the whole city has not worked well. There can be no doubt that the borough presidents should become exclusively administrative officials, and like other administrative officials, responsible to the Mayor. The present method of electing them by popular vote has simply tended to make them irresponsible. The actual record of a borough president has very little to do with his chance of re-election. The borough elections are subordinated in popular interest to the general municipal election; and the consequence is that the local machines can usually nominate and elect anybody they please. Then after his installation any particular borough president is chiefly occupied with wringing as much money as possible from the Board of Estimate to spend in his bailiwick. If he is extravagant or corrupt, his extravagance is paid for, not by his own constituents, but by the whole city. Inasmuch as the borough expenses are derived from the city treasury, the men who spend this money should be made responsible to the executive head of the whole city.

If, however, the borough presidents are transformed into administrative officials, this change will necessitate, in its turn, a transformation in the constitution of the Board of Estimate. With these local officials omitted, that Board would consist only of three members—the Mayor, the Comptroller and the President of the Board of Aldermen—and considering the importance of the functions of the Board, its membership should consist of at least five men, all of them elected by the votes of the whole population of New York. The source from which these new officials should be derived and their special functions would be one of the most difficult problems confronting a charter revision commission. Had the Rapid Transit Commission survived, it would have been a good idea to make its president elective and to give him a seat on the Board. In any event the new members should have certain special in addition to their general functions, and the reorganized Board should be made even more completely responsible for the government of the city than it is at present. Its responsibility should not be restricted, that is, either by the Board of Aldermen, or by mandatory legislation on the part of the State Legislature; and in two instances, at least, its powers should be enlarged by amendments to the State constitution. It should have authority, in conjunction with the new State commission, to authorize rapid transit extensions irrespective of the constitutional debt limit, and it should, also, have authority when it decides to open up new streets to condemn additional property in the same neighborhood, so as to reduce the cost of the street opening by the subsequent sale at an increased price of this adjoining land. It is very much to be hoped that the charter revision commission will not overlook the desirability of these constitutional amendments, for a better opportunity for recommending them to the Legislature is not likely to occur for many years.

THE report that Mr. Felix Isman has paid $700,000 for a full lot at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street is assuredly an exaggeration. Corner lots on Fifth Avenue are not yet worth over $270 a square foot. We should not be at all surprised, however, in case a price between $225 and $250 a square foot had been paid for this property, and even such a comparatively modest price would be sufficiently remarkable. Again and again it has been proclaimed that the prices of real estate on Fifth Avenue have reached their limit; but six months pass and inevitably some new record is established. Moreover, this is all the more remarkable because the higher range of values is constantly driving many of the existing tenants of buildings on Fifth Avenue to seek less expensive locations in the side streets. Thus, renting conditions remain very uncertain, and there is an incessant and expensive shifting of tenantry all along the avenue. But new business firms are constantly being found, who are willing to pay the higher rents, and the end is not yet. But surely the end is not far away. Such a high level of real estate values as that which prevails on Fifth Avenue for over a mile and a quarter of its length is, we believe, unparalleled in any American or European city; and it does not appear as if even the wealth of New York would be sufficient to raise such a long line of real estate to a much higher level. There must come a time when it will be cheaper for even the richest retailers to seek locations elsewhere in the same neighborhood, and in case a period of bad times is about to follow the fat years which have succeeded one another since 1900, there is likely, during the next few years, to be a period of at least stationary values on the avenue. It is peculiarly the Fifth Avenue shop which will feel any diminution in business, and many such stores that can afford large rentals, while business is abundant, would under less favorable conditions be ruined by them. In any event, it is evident that the choice part of Fifth Avenue will be the blocks from Thirty-fourth Street to Fiftieth Street, and that the highest prices will be paid for corners north of Thirty-fourth Street. Just as Murray Hill was once the most desirable district for rich people to inhabit, so it is becoming the most desirable shopping district for the patronage of such people. Indeed, south of Thirty-fourth Street it may well be that a certain class of wholesale trade will gradually creep in. It is already beginning to occupy the side streets; and while it cannot afford to turn the retailers out of Fifth Avenue, the next five years will probably witness an increase of wholesale signs on this part of the avenue.

The Riverside Drive Widening.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

THIS great public work is now in an advanced stage of construction, and will presently bring the traffic of the Drive directly on to the course of the one-time Boulevard Lafayette, at 158th st. The Boulevard has now been re-named "Riverside Drive," of which it will, of course, form a continuation.

When the Boulevard was opened, its width was established at 100 ft., but for the purpose of temporary economy the city authorities authorized only the completion of the westerly 60 ft., leaving 40 ft. of unfinished road space along the entire easterly line of abutting properties. The property owners, among whom are the trustees of the New York Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, who paid their share of the assessment for this work, have thus been left for several years with property abutting on an unusable and ungraded road space, and no development of their land has been possible.

They have, not unnaturally, therefore, urged upon the city engineers their demand for a completion of this frontage and for the opening of the cross streets, particularly as regards that portion of the Drive from 158th st to 165th st, upon which the more fortunate owners on the westerly side have long since been enabled to carry out improvements and to erect buildings. The departmental engineers finally completed a plan for the completion of the east side of this part of the driveway which, in their judgment, required an important addition in width at this point, on account of the junction of the new extension at an acute angle to the present Drive.

The improvement in question therefore consists of the acquisition by the city of the necessary land, at present fronting upon the east side of the driveway, and for the construction of an extension of the roadway of 40 feet in width, which has been planned by the city's engineers, to be constructed as a separate roadway, rising from 158th st to a higher level than the drive, by about 15 ft., and again descending to the drive level at 165th st.

This addition was specially designed to admit of the present 100-ft. width being made into the form of a double roadway, in order to separate the northbound traffic from that coming south, which will afford a much needed security at this sharply curving and angular portion of the Drive.

The rise in level of the added portion is planned so as to afford to the city the opportunity to open the cross streets from Fort Washington av on a reasonable grade, which improvement, under existing circumstances, is denied to the city and to the property owners on account of the excessive grades which would be involved in connecting the streets down to the level of the driveway.

The land through which these cross streets would extend is undeveloped property, though the frontage abutting upon the Drive has long been ripe for improvement. But for the uncertainty attendant upon the belated action of the city it would probably long ere this have been built upon, as has the frontage on the opposite or westerly side of the Drive at this point.

The assessed valuation for taxation under these circumstances has therefore been properly and reasonably maintained by the Department of Taxes at farm values, a condition which naturally would change to the considerable benefit of the city as soon as the location of the frontage on the Drive shall have been permanently settled.

Inasmuch as the cost of opening of the cross streets will fall upon the property owners, no part of the recent agitation appears to have been directed upon this part of the plan, but the exponents of the opposition have proposed an abandonment of the entire improvement, which, if carried into effect, would not only inflict an expense in constructing inaccessible and undesirable side streets between the present Drive and Fort Washington av, but would depreciate values on those streets so as to reduce their return in taxation, and at the same time would deprive the public at large of a needed widening of the driveway at this curve.

The abutting properties are at present so situated as to afford to each owner a certain proportion of driveway frontage, the lots extending back at right angles to the course of the Drive.

It will readily be perceived, therefore, that in cutting off by forced condemnation proceedings 40 ft. from each such lot, a considerable deprivation or reduction takes place of the most important and valuable portion of each property affected. Bounded on the rear by other lots extending from the side streets, the future available frontage is only to be attained by a sacrifice in some cases of the street properties, which thus become merely side or rear portions of the lots.

In one instance the new line of curvature takes away from an owner his present corner property and places what is left of his land as inside lots.

All this is being effected, it is to be noted, by power of eminent domain, upon frontages of property which can be readily developed as they stand to-day, were the Drive completed.

All these features appear to have been very carefully and exhaustively considered by the commissioners who were appointed by the Supreme Court, and who elicited a large amount of information as to the present values of land in the vicinity which have in the course of the recent rapid development of the locality due to its special attractions and the new access afforded by the subway, not unnaturally, and very considerably expanded.

The particular location of the land affected by these proceedings is such as to make the Drive frontage not only peculiarly but extraordinarily advantageous. Situated at a sharp curving portion of the driveway, and at an elevation affording a prospect over Audubon Park, the Drive and the river, it may well be considered, as it is among all residents in that section, the choicest site for future residential structures of the highest character.

The whole improvement is, therefore, one which is of much more than usual general public interest, and its abandonment would inflict an injury of much more than local character. The commissioners in their tentative announcement, having considered all these points, nevertheless properly reserved and are about to exercise their decision, as to the extent of the valuation to be applied to the frontage area to be taken from the property owners, and should they decide that the application of the Hofman rule, which places a graduated valuation on the front portions of lots abutting on an avenue or street, does not properly apply in this case, the announced preliminary values would be very substantially lowered.

The proceedings of the commissioners not being either closed or confirmed by the laws, it appears that the agitation and the reckless statements by which it has been distinguished are, to say the least, premature.

But many of these assertions are so absolutely unwarranted and unfounded as to call for a stronger qualification. To compare, as has been done, such property in the most desirable and accessible part of Washington Heights with the value of other property which is remote from access by any means of transportation, and is withal entirely unsuited for improvement, is deliberately misleading and unfair to the public.

Allegations have been most unwarrantably made that the property under condemnation has been acquired by certain politicians and their friends with a view to securing fictitious values upon it. It can be definitely stated that no part of the property in question has changed hands within several years, a large part of it being the property of the trustees of the Deaf and Dumb Institution, and other portions held by owners of high standing, entirely unconcerned with any persons in official positions.

The values established are also alleged to be inordinate, but those making this assertion are evidently unaware of the recent prices which have been willingly paid by investors and builders in the immeidate vicinity. In making these statements of inordinate value, the authors also mislead the public by computing the value on the mere area of the roadway, divided into city lots of 2,500 sq. ft., whereas the line of property to be taken is all frontage, or part of a series of abutting lots.

As to the proper area on which the cost should be assessed, a considerable difference of opinion may not unnaturally be expected to exist, some taking the view that the improvement is of a character which should require its cost being spread upon the city at large; others that it should be regarded as purely local, and its entire cost be assessed upon the abutting owners. Between these two views there will probably be some who will agree with the middle course proposed by the commissioners, of an area assessment approximately similar to that adopted by the Legislature for the cost of the work of improvement up to the same locality.

A WASHINGTON HEIGHTS TAXPAYER.

Warning!

It has been brought to our attention that some one is calling upon real estate men and builders purporting to represent the Record and Guide, presenting an offer for a "write-up" or "puff" in this periodical, the same to be paid for by the purchase of a certain number of copies, said copies, of course, to be paid for on signing of agreement. Needless to say this method of "business" lies quite outside the practice of the Record and Guide, and prospective victims are earnestly requested to communicate by telephone with this office the moment they are approached. Telephone 4430 Madison, Record and Guide Co., 11 to 15 East 24th st.

—As to current and prospective business possibilities, building is progressing very satisfactorily and is of a very fair volume in comparison with last year, and particularly so in the outlying sections of the district,

The Value of Real Estate

By W. A. SOMERS*

VALUE is merely an attempt to compare or measure the desire of man for the same object. Therefore land—that is, any portion of the earth's surface—can only be said to have a value or to be valuable when two or more of the human family desire the same tract. The value will increase as the number of individuals desiring to control the same tract increases.

Up to a certain point this value will depend upon the productive power of the land. It may be as agricultural, mineral or timber land, or it may be because of the opportunity it affords for fishing or hunting.

As population increases and communities are formed for protection or for commercial or social intercourse the productive value is overshadowed by site value—that is, the value or desirability which attaches to a given locality as a site which may be used for residence or business purposes. This site value is the value which it is necessary to determine in the appraisement of city property, both for the purpose of taxation and for commercial use.

The city, as a rule, grows from cross-roads or intersecting lines of travel, and will in the beginning consist of the roads, lanes and farms, gradually changing into streets, alleys, blocks and lots.

Generally, in the early growth of a city, the streets follow more or less closely the original roads and conform to the topography of the ground, making sub-divisions into blocks and lots of irregular shape. Later, as new sections or additions are laid out, the streets are generally planned and laid out more regularly, both as to alignment and as to systematic subdivision of the blocks and lots.

The land covered by a city is divided into public property, consisting of streets, alleys, etc., which are held for the common use of all citizens, and private property, being the blocks surrounded by streets, which may be divided into lots and held by individual owners as private property.

The streets generally occupy from twenty to forty per cent. of the total ground covered by the city, leaving from sixty to eighty per cent. as private property. This difference will be determined by the size of the blocks and the width of the streets.

This private property, the blocks and lots, is the only part that can be said to have a value, as it is the only land that can be held and used by one individual to the exclusion of all others. As before stated, the value of any particular tract is in proportion to the number of individuals who desire to use it, and this desire being created and intensified in proportion as the particular tract is accessible to a large number of people, it is evident that the most valuable land will be situated along and on the streets which are used by the greatest number of people.

This fact, I contend, furnishes the best guide from which to arrive at the value of blocks and lots, and is the underlying principle which must be understood to determine successfully the value of all the lots in the city. Heretofore this has been overlooked, and the attempt is commonly made to determine the value of individual lots or fractional parts of blocks separately, generally guided by prices as disclosed by sales or transfers of property. This attempt does and must fail, because it is impossible to deduce values for each one of the many lots forming a city from the sales of the few that would be sold within any reasonably short time, and if we use all the sales made within a period of time long enough, so that they shall include the sale of a majority of all the lots, the chances are that in many cases one lot has been sold several times, each time for a different price; in some cases the last sale may show the highest price, while in others the first sale may have been the highest.

The blocks not being uniform as to size and shape, and the several streets surrounding a block differing as to their relative importance, the comparison of one block with another is very unsatisfactory. If we go one step further and try to compare the lots one with another, we find an almost infinite variety as to size, shape and location with reference to the streets. All these differing conditions affect the value of each lot.

While there is no generally expressed value given to the streets of the city, the relative importance of the streets is clearly recognized by most, if not all, of the citizens. To use this common knowledge and reduce it to figures that will express the consensus of opinion is a simple and practical operation, and is best accomplished by a committee of citizens, start-

*The appointment of Mr. W. A. Somers by the Tax Department to study the condition of tax assessment in New York City and note to what extent his system could be applied here was suggested by several men of large experience with real estate appraisal. President Purdy has known Mr. Somers well for many years and been familiar with his work in other cities. Mr. Somers will study the conditions in New York in order that he may assist in the development of the system now in use, which is the same in principle as that successfully employed by Mr. Somers in St. Paul.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

The Brick Supply and the Price.

IT IS NOW between hay and grass in the brick supply, and the present tension will not be relieved till the 1907 product begins to arrive freely in New York. While prices of brick are very much lower than last year about this time, they are much higher than the low figure reached in the slump of a few weeks ago.

It is not always clear to account for erratic price movements in any market, but, bearing on the ups and downs of brick so far for the present year, Mr. J. C. McNamara, a large jobber in Hudson River brick, recalled this week that this spring the ice held sway on the Hudson to a later date than usual, and when Jack Frost did let go, instead of following the usual schedule of releasing each point of supply one after the other in turn, the river opened all along the line, almost at the same time.

"Then, stimulated by an exaggerated impression of the amount of old brick to be marketed in what seemed to be a shorter time before the advent of new stock than usual, each yard owner got early shipments to market almost simultaneously, arrivals aggregating in a single week upwards of forty millions of brick.

"This was accompanied by a pressure to sell which resulted in a drop to far below the cost of production, and sales at heavy loss to the owner. These conditions naturally made the manufacturers less enthusiastic about an early starting of the yards, and then the prevailing cold and wet weather made a comparatively late start imperative."

Help on the brick yards this season is not plentiful, Mr. McNamara said, and many plants depend almost entirely on colored men from the Southern States to operate them.

"With these conditions on the one hand, and a fair demand on the other, the indications are that the low price on brick for 1907 has been passed," Mr. McNamara added, "and that as soon as supply becomes normal a steady market with a fair price may follow. . . . With the great improvements under way in Greater New York—tunnels, bridges, subways and the gigantic terminals—conditions would seem to necessitate building operations indefinitely, by which the brick trade ought to benefit."

Some Day an Unburnable City.

FALLING INSURANCE RATES SHOW GROWTH IN NUMBER OF FIREPROOF BUILDINGS—HOUSES THAT WON'T BURN ARE MOST ECONOMICAL.

"Some day we shall see an unburnable city," said a prominent fire insurance underwriter of New York, commenting upon the low rate upon lofty office buildings.

This authority mentioned a building in the Wall st district which carries the lowest rate possible under the schedules of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange. It is the "Caledonian," in Pine st, and its net rate is only five cents per hundred dollars. The building has a cast-iron frame, the members of which are protected by porous terra cotta and brick. It is twelve stories high.

A 10-sty building in Broad st, not far from the New York Stock Exchange, has to pay twice as much, or a net rate of ten cents per hundred dollars, though it is two stories lower than the Caledonian. Its metal frame is not protected by either terra cotta or brick, and that causes the difference in the rate. An official of the Fire Insurance Exchange says:

"I should estimate that fireproof protection, that is terra cotta or brick—means a difference of fully 25 per cent. in the net rate of insurance on steel and iron buildings. Five cents is the lowest rate allowed in New York. More and more modern buildings put up nowadays approach that minimum. Unquestionably this city is becoming safer from fire every day through the erection of buildings of protected iron and steel."

Another example of a very low rate due to modern fireproofing methods is the Trinity Building, No. 111 Broadway. Its great height, 21 stories, which would ordinarily mean very costly insurance, is counterbalanced by the character of construction, and the rate is only twelve cents per hundred dollars. Architects and engineers are considering as never before the isolation of each floor from the others, the limiting of areas, the utmost possible elimination of well holes and the enclosing of stairways.

Points on the Material Market.

The steel companies did a larger business this May than in May of last year.

Business in linseed oil continues light, small withdrawals on contracts and but light demand for jobbing lots characterizing the condition of the market.

When rain does not prevent, there is a great deal of brick building going on. Seventy cargoes were taken up last week. Brick shipments have latterly scarcely equalled the requirements, and wholesale quotations have touched $8.

Whatever the outcome of the unseasonable weather, so far as the crops are concerned, there is no doubt that it has interfered seriously with the current volume of business, causing the deferring of many purchases and delays in outside work.

Prices for materials composed entire or in part of copper, including brass, in sheets, rods, wire, tubes and kindred staples, show little if any change, the market being of a waiting character. Users of copper and brass materials are buying for current needs only.

The order for 3,100 tons of cast-iron pipe placed by the City of New York May 22 was taken by contractors, who will purchase the pipe from manufacturers. The demand for small lots is fair, but no large work is in sight at present. The foundries are so well filled with business that prices are exceedingly firm. Quotations are continued on the basis of $37 to $38 per net ton, tidewater, for carload lots of 6-in.

An Operation in Concrete.

Standard Concrete Steel Co., engineers and contractors, 31st st and East River, have received the contract to raise the Bonwit-Teller Building, Nos. 13 to 15 West 34th st, from six stories to eight stories in height. The Standard Co.'s system of construction was adopted in the present building after a competition with the regular steel and fireproof methods. Instead of the regular heavy steel construction, a miniature frame, made of the ordinary steel beams, is erected in the regular way, with about 35 per cent. of the amount of steel used as intended for the regular steel construction.

According to the system, which is an invention of Mr. G. B. Waite, this light frame is used temporarily for scaffolding supports during the erection of the building, but after the concrete floors are put in the concrete is so united with this light frame that it is incorporated into a reinforced concrete construction. In this way all the advantages in the matter of speed and safety of the regular steel construction is obtained, with the economy in cost of the reinforced.

The six stories were erected during January and February of this year (during severe weather). The satisfaction of the construction, after having been thoroughly tested by the architects, is shown by their securing the contract to raise the building from six stories to eight stories.

It is interesting to state that the architect made changes in the elevator and stair shafts which required them to be located near the front of the building. At the present time they are engaged in cutting out in one part of the building and filling in the other, which is being done in a very practical and feasible way.

Building Operations.

Work to Start on the New York Law School Building.

FULTON ST.—The old buildings Nos. 172 to 174 Fulton st, opposite St. Paul's Churchyard, on plot 54x78 ft, have already been demolished and work upon the foundations for the 11-sty office structure which the New York Law School, 35 Nassau st, is to erect, will be begun immediately. The facade will be of limestone and Harvard brick. The entrance and corridors will be finished in marble. There will be a heating plant and an elaborate air filtration and ventilating plant for that portion of the building which will be occupied by the Law School students. The Library will be on the 9th sty and there will be private rooms for the professors and secretaries on the 8th sty. Large and special elevators will run to the lecture and library rooms from the special mezzanine floor which is reached by a separate staircase from the main vestibule. Cost of the building will be about $300,000. George Chase is secretary and dean of the school, Thomas S. Ormiston treasurer, and James M. Townsend director. Architect C. P. H. Gilbert, Townsend Building, is now taking bids on the structural steel work, and estimates on other contracts will be taken in about ten days. No contracts have as yet been placed. (See also issue March 16, 1907.)

Architects Will Soon Take Bids for Kent Hall.

AMSTERDAM AV.—Messrs. McKim, Mead & White, 160 5th av, architects for Kent Hall, to be erected for the Schools of Law and Political Science by the Trustees of Columbia University, at Amsterdam av and 116th st, will have plans ready for estimates in the neighborhood of from one month to six weeks' time. The building is to cost $550,000, of which $450,000 has already been contributed. Work is to be started as soon as possible, it being the intention to have the building ready for occupancy by September of next year. At the May meeting a year ago it will be recalled the trustees of Columbia University decided that Messrs. McKim, Mead & White should be the official architects of the university for the future. These architects designed the general scheme of the college buildings and most of the individual structures, though one of the buildings, namely, the School of Mines, was planned by Arnold W. Brunner and erected by the A. J. Robinson Co., and the College Chapel was designed by Howells & Stokes, associated with McKim, Mead & White. Charles T. Wills was the builder. The trustees have in view several more buildings for which no plans have as yet been drawn.

Particulars of the New Lotos Club House.

59TH ST.—Working plans have just been started by Architect Donn Barber, No. 24 East 23d st, for the new 8-sty building which the Lotos Club is soon to erect in 59th st, between 6th and 7th avs, to cost in the neighborhood of $600,000. Operations will be commenced as soon as plans have been approved by the Building Bureau. No contracts have yet been awarded or figures taken. An entire floor will be given up to an art gallery, another story to a banquet hall. The club will remain in its present building at 5th av and 46th st until the completion of the new structure. John Elderkin, Charles W. Price and William T. Evans are members of the building committee. From the sale of the property Nos. 556-558 5th av the Lotos Club last March realized the sum of $750,000.

James Stewart & Co.'s New Orleans Contract.

James Stewart & Co., No. 135 Broadway, Manhattan, have signed the contract for the construction of a union passenger station and train sheds to be built at Canal and Basin sts, New Orleans, La., for the use of the Rock Island, Frisco and Southern Railroad systems. The station will be of granite, with a steel superstructure. Mr. Stewart's company has also recently obtained contracts for the rebuilding of the Parrott Building, at San Francisco, Cal., to be completed by Sept. 1, 1908, and for a 10-sty structure for Mose Gunst at the southwest corner of Mission and 3d sts, an 8-sty building for Thomas Williams, an 8-sty building for Sanford Sachs, and the new Orpheum, all at San Francisco.

Manning, Maxwell & Moore to Build Large Warehouse.

Messrs. Manning, Maxwell & Moore, of No. 85 Liberty st, this city, one of the largest machinery concerns in Manhattan, are about to commence the erection of a large storage warehouse, 110x260 ft., two stories in height, on a plot opposite the freight office of the New Jersey Central Railroad at Jersey City. The structure is to be of brick, concrete and steel construction, fireproof throughout, each floor containing 40,000 sq. ft. There will be installed a twenty-ton electric traveling crane and a hydraulic elevator. The new building is intended for the special purpose of storing machinery, machine tools and supplies. The company will also continue to use its present warehouse in this city.

Astor Estate Deny Thirty-third Street Project.

33D ST.—A rumor was in circulation during the week to the effect that the Astor estate contemplated improving its property in 33d st, opposite the Waldorf-Astoria, by the erection of a modern office building on the site. Inquiry at the executive offices of the estate for the Record and Guide elicited a denial of this report. On this side of 33d st is a row of old buildings that were recently altered for business purposes.

American Bridge Co.'s Contracts.

Steel contracts just obtained by the American Bridge Company, 42 Broadway, are 2,600 tons for an office building at Philadelphia, 1,400 tons for bridges for the Atlantic Coast Line, 1,300 tons for the Carnegie Steel Company, 800 tons for building at Gary, Ind., and 500 tons for Memphis, Tenn. It is estimated that 150,000 tons of steel contracts were let during the month of May.

Tucker & Vinton Get Sixty-Fifth Street Contract.

65TH ST.—The general contract for the 7-sty fireproof, plastic slate roof storage building, 50x100, which the Bowling Green Storage and Van Company, 18 Broadway, is about to erect at No. 248 West 65th st, has just been awarded to Messrs. Tucker & Vinton, of No. 4 West 22d st, to cost about $80,000. William B. Tubby, 81 Fulton st, is the architect.

Apartments, Flats and Tenements.

113TH ST.—On the south side of 113th st, 100 ft west of Lenox av, Joseph Roberts, builder, will erect a 5-sty flat building on plot 25x75 ft.

10TH ST.—J. Lipman and Samuel Loet, 72 West 99th st, will build at Nos. 236-238 West 10th st a 6-sty tenement, to cost $48,000. Edward A. Meyers, 1 Union sq, is making plans.

The modern trade journal is an automatic selecter of possible buyers, and a developer of latent want into commercial demand. If rightly hitched to the load it is the present day engine of marketing those products whose consumers can be segregated from the general public. Thus, the paper that reaches the allied building and real estate interests, which represent an extremely large part of "the public"—probably more than one-quarter of the whole population—ought to be and is the best possible medium.

There is a good deal of force behind the property owners' battering-ram for the extension of 6th and 7th avs, and it looks as if they would make a breach in the walls. The petitioners say that they represent 70 per cent. of the assessed value of property in 6th and 7th avs, below 14th st, and more than 500 properties in the old Ninth Ward. The plan has received the indorsement of the Merchants' Association, the Merchants and Manufacturers' Board of Trade, the New York Team Owners' Association and the Automobile Club of America.

Col. Washington A. Roebling, under whose direction the construction of the Brooklyn Bridge was completed, recently celebrated his seventieth birthday. The Brooklyn Bridge is an honor to the building fraternity as a whole, as well as to its own particular engineers and builders. A good work is its own reward to its creator. The reward is not in the profit, wage or anything else that comes from doing it, but in the consciousness of doing a good job. "I have known real happiness," said an ancient teacher, "for I have done good work." And it has been said that no one can really experience the fullness of life until he has begotten a son, written a book, or built a ship, a bridge or a house.

The Value of Real Estate.

ing with the best and most valuable street and there fixing upon a value for a certain depth of lot, say 100 feet deep, which lot must be located at or near the centre of the block, where the influence of the corner values will not affect it.

This unit being fixed for the best part of the best street, all other units will be of less value, and it will not be difficult for the committee to determine the comparative value of corresponding units along each street, on each side of every block. Generally one value or unit on each side of the block will be sufficient, but units must be marked wherever the street value changes. This may result in fixing two or more units along the side of some blocks, the idea being that all changes in values along a street shall be indicated, and if, as is sometimes the case, one side of the street is better than the other, this fact must be indicated by units marked along both sides.

Having units which show the comparative value along each street, we have around each block, then, a set of unit figures which are the best possible measure of the value of the block. The value of a given block will depend upon the importance of the streets surrounding it, as shown by the unit figures and upon the shape and size of the block. In a square block surrounded by streets, all of the same value, there will be four units, each indicating the value of one foot wide by one hundred feet deep. If the block is 300 feet square, it will be 150 feet from each street to the centre of the block. As the unit is fixed for only 100 feet, we must add to this unit value whatever the increased depth of 50 feet adds to the value of a lot.

This is a practical question, and there will be found more or less difference of opinion, which it is impossible to harmonize, because these differences arise from individual preferences and each one stands as good and with the same authority as every other one; but it is evident that there are certain principles governing relative value of the land lying next to and adjoining the street, and the interior parts of the block, which will help in reaching a conclusion, viz.:

First—That as the land is valuable in proportion as it is within easy reach of the people, that the most valuable part of a block is along the street front.

Second—That as the land extends backward from the street each foot is less valuable than the foot in front of it.

Now, by taking some practical divisions, say, comparing lots 50 ft. deep, 100 ft. deep and 150 ft. deep, and carefully fixing upon the comparative value by a study of the uses to which the different depths are put, it will be discovered that the range of difference is comparatively small. These comparative values are then platted on cross-section paper, using the perpendicular lines to indicate the distance back from the street or depth of the tract, and the horizontal lines to indicate the percentage of unit values. By marking on this paper at a point 100 ft. back from the street a point to indicate 100 per cent. of the unit value, then marking at a point 50 ft. back from the street the percentage of unit value that has been determined as proper for this part of the lot, then marking at a point 150 ft. deep the percentage of this value, then by drawing a curve from the 150-foot point through the 100-foot point and through the 50-foot point to a zero point at the street line, we have a curve of value that may be read as a percentage of the unit value for any depth of lot up to 150 ft., and that will show the proportion of values belonging to that part of the block lying between the street and the point at which the reading is taken.

This curve can now be used to determine the value of any part of the block, except where the values are changed by the corner influence. This corner influence is the effect of the two streets forming a corner, making the tract near their intersection most accessible, or accessible to a larger number of people, therefore more valuable.

The amount of this increase measured as a percentage of the unit value as fixed on the best street will evidently be least when the corner is formed on the street having the highest unit value by intersection with the street having the lowest unit value, and the percentage of increase will be the greater when the two streets are of equal value.

It is evident that the value of corner lots will be directly in proportion to the importance of the streets forming the corners, as, for instance, a corner lot formed by two streets where the unit value is in both cases $1,000 will be worth more than a lot of the same size and shape fronting upon streets one of which has the same unit value of $1,000, while the other has a unit value of $500.

The determination of the effect of this corner influence and the extent to which it is limited is a practical question and must be arrived at by a careful study of corners as actually used. Beginning with the limits of the corner influence, it is safe to say that, in the case of a block 300 feet square or less, that a lot 100 feet square on the corner will include all of this corner effect, and in case the blocks are more than 300 feet square the corner effect will not cover or extend beyond a square equal to one-third the long side of the block.

Practically I have found that 100 feet square includes all of the corner increase up to blocks that are 320 feet by 400 feet.

After many experiments and a careful study of corner conditions and value, I have constructed a set of corner scales which give satisfactory results wherever they have been tried. These scales are made to read any combination of unit values, from zero up, a separate scale being required for each different size or shape of lot. For practical working in high values, where the sub-division into lots is irregular, a set of 49 scales will enable calculation to be made of any sub-division of the corner.

The construction of the corner scale is somewhat complicated, and a description of the method would be difficult and tedious and hard to make clear, except by use of the scales and diagrams, which it is impracticable to use in connection with this article.

The use of the scales and curves of value and rules necessary to a practical application of the system to the determination of the value of city lots is simple and easily within the ability of any intelligent clerk, and the fact that the total value of all the lots in a given block must correspond to the total value of the block, when considered as a whole, gives an opportunity for a double check on the clerical work that counts for both accuracy and honesty in fixing the value of individual lots.

Extraordinary conditions of topography, involving unusual expense in making use of the land, or extraordinary conditions of lot division, affecting the usefulness of the tract for ordinary purposes, render necessary special adjustments in accordance with the facts.

Obituary.

HON. WILLIAM J. FRYER.

TO NO ONE intimately acquainted with the New York building industry is it necessary to explain the position therein which Mr. Fryer occupied, the measure of the uplifting work which he contributed to it, and the feeling of irreparable loss that his death has given rise to. During a long period of years, within which occurred the most wonderful transition in building methods that American history has marked, or the mind can conceive of for the future, Mr. Fryer was in the very forefront of events. He was recognized as the highest authority on building laws and principles, not simply in his official capacity as Chairman of the Board of Examiners, but in his private business as consulting architect and engineer, and as author of treatises on building construction and editor of building codes.

Mr. Fryer's death occurred on Sunday afternoon, June 2, 1907, at his country seat near New Providence, N. J., about four miles west of Summit. Thither a number of friends journeyed on Wednesday and attended the funeral service, which was said by a clergyman of the Reformed Dutch Church. The body was interred in a village cemetery. As rain continued to fall during the ceremonies, it brought to mind the saying: "Blessed are the dead that the rain falls on." Several months ago Mr. Fryer had a severe illness from which he recovered to the extent that he was able to resume his duties in the city, but latterly a complication in the nature of blood poisoning developed and ended fatally.

Mr. Fryer's mother was a Livingston, his father was the leading merchant at Albany, and there he was born in the year 1842. By birth and youthful association he was a member of the best social circles of the capital city. He studied architecture and engineering, practiced for some years in his native city, and came to New York in 1865, at the age of 23, to take a position with the architectural ironworks of J. L. Jackson & Co., afterwards the "Jackson Architectural Iron Works." At no time in the history of these works did they occupy a position other than in the front rank in producing and erecting structural and ornamental ironwork. Afterward Mr. Fryer became a partner in the Etna Iron Works, which subsequently fabricated a large part of the structural material for the Third Avenue Elevated Road. Fireproof construction early engaged Mr. Fryer's attention, and he and Mr. J. G. Johnston claimed to be the real inventors of the hollow tile fireproof block. The long litigation over this question need not be referred to, except to illustrate how closely Mr. Fryer was identified with and was largely responsible for the improvements in building methods that have occurred in our time.

Of all the cities in the United States, New York was the first to enact specific laws for building constructions and alterations In a primitive way public supervision over buildings was exercised by the Fire Wardens, and this method was continued up to the year 1860. At that time the limits within which a frame building could not be erected extended only to 52d st. Then it was that a separate building law for New York was enacted by the Legislature, creating a department of buildings and providing for the appointment of a superintendent of buildings. But in 1880 the Department of Buildings was again merged into the Fire Department as a bureau therein.

In July of that year Mr. Fryer called upon the head of the Building Bureau, who was then Mr. William P. Esterbrook, and stated that he and Messrs. Charles Mettam and Matthias Bloodgood had been preparing a complete revision of the building law, and that he would agree to furnish a copy of this code to Mr. Esterbrook if he would take up the work of securing the enactment of a better law. Assenting to this, Mr. Esterbrook sent the amendments in the form of a legislative bill to Albany, but as they called forth great opposition—as was to be expected—the bill was not passed until the session of 1885. The requirement that new elevator shafts should be inclosed by brick walls called forth more opposition than any other, though afterwards conceded to be the best provision that went into the bill.

In every way the measure was a great advance step. It required that all buildings exceeding a certain height should be constructed entirely fireproof; it provided for the safe construction of theatres and other public places of amusement. In the year 1887, and again in 1892, the law was amended, in order to conform to new developments and keep pace with the rapid progress that architects, engineers and builders were making. Just before the revision of 1892 became a law the builders of New York made known to Mayor Grant their desire that the Bureau of Buildings should be taken out of the Fire Department and constituted as a separate and distinct department. This was incorporated into the bill, and Thomas J. Brady was appointed as the head of the new department. Mr. Fryer was chairman of the Building Law Commission of 1892, the other commissioners being Cornelius O'Reilly and Leon Stern, with Allen C. Beach as counsel. Mr. Fryer was also a member of the revision commission of 1899, which produced the present Code.

Latterly as a member and Chairman of the Board of Examiners he heard and decided questions relating to building constructions on appeal from the building department of the five boroughs. In this body he was the delegate of the Society of Architectural Iron Manufacturers. In 1885 he was appointed superintendent of repairs for the U. S. Government's buildings in New York City, and while holding this position he wrote a pamphlet advocating the construction of a group of Government buildings—to include the Custom House, the Sub-Treasury and the Post Office—between Bowling Green and Battery Park. A part of the suggestion the Government has followed for the Custom House, and many believe that eventually other Government buildings will be erected near it, facing Battery Park. The group plan for public buildings is now being adopted in various cities. During Mr. Fryer's long career as a consulting architect and engineer his private practice was large.

Mr. Fryer's published writings were numerous. He edited the "Laws and Ordinances Relating to Buildings in New York," which were published by the Record and Guide Company in 1885, 1887, 1892, 1895, 1897 and 1900; "The Tenement House Laws Relating to New York City" (1902), "A Review of the Development of Structural Iron" (1898), "A Review of Ornamental Ironwork," "The New York Building Law" (1898), and various papers and pamphlets.

Mr. Fryer was at different periods of his life a member of a number of societies and clubs—the Holland Society, the St. Nicholas Club, Kane Lodge, F. & A. M.—and in all his activities and relaxations most highly esteemed. He was, as may be supposed, a man of high intellectual power, of a forceful nature and a very useful citizen. He was eminently respected in his profession, and by those intimately associated with him he was highly esteemed.

Mr. Fryer leaves a widow, a sister and three brothers. His sister was the wife of the Hon. Daniel S. Manning, Secretary of the U. S. Treasury under President Cleveland. The brothers are Charles Livingston Fryer, of the U. S. Sub-Treasury; Robert Livingston Fryer, president of the Manufacturers and Traders' Bank at Buffalo, and Alexander L. Fryer, a lumber merchant.

The pallbearers at the funeral were Messrs. Charles G. Smith, Warren O. Conover, Charles Buek, Thomas J. Brady, Samuel McMillan, Lewis Harding and Henry R. Marshall.

A Mahogany at Low Cost.

"Okume" is the name of a remarkable wood which is being imported from South Africa in large quantities by the American West African Trading Company, 66 Broad st. "Okume" is remarkable, inasmuch as it may be substituted for the ordinary mahogany product of West Africa, Cuba or Mexico, and stained and finished in any shade, while in cost it is about 25 per cent. cheaper. Okume is comparatively soft and is readily sawed, planed or shaped with the ordinary woodworker's tools. For trim in all classes of building construction where low cost is of prime consideration it should be in great demand. Veneers may be cut from it one-sixteenth of an inch in thickness which have a satin effect and figuring.

The American West African Trading Company also import the mahogany known as vermillion wood, which is somewhat harder than okume and equals in wear and appearance the best mahogany brought from Africa, but can be sold for one-third less. The company will forward samples and prices upon application.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

The private sales market for the week has given evidence of improvement both in volume and character of the trading. In the lower business section of Manhattan several important purchases were concluded, proving conclusively that although the season of greatest activity is drawing to a close, there are always plenty of buyers ready to take advantage of every opportunity offering quick returns on the money invested. The sales of 37-39 and 122-124 Warren st are regarded as well timed purchases, for it is practically certain that property in this street will soon participate in a noticeable change in values, which is being brought about by the requirements of modern construction. Among the important central Manhattan transactions was the purchase by Felix Isman of the southeast corner of Fifth av and 38th st at a figure approaching $700,000. The sale is particularly interesting since it establishes a new record price per sq. ft. for realty on that thoroughfare. Near the Circle, the sale of the southeast corner of Seventh av and 58th st is important, as it foreshadows the construction of a large 12-sty co-operative apartment, to cost more than a million dollars. In the upper section of Manhattan several large apartments changed hands, including the block front on the west side of Columbus av, between 86th and 87th sts, and those now in the course of construction at the southwest corner of Morningside av West and 118th st. Up in the Bronx there was a falling off in the sales of vacant lots and 2-family dwellings, but several good corners changed ownership, including a parcel at the northeast corner of Tremont av and Bronx st, which sold at a large profit over its original cost. The most notable sale in that borough was the purchase by N. Y., N. H. & Hartford Railroad of 10 acres on West Farms road from W. W. Astor. Considering the unfavorable condition of the weather during the early part of the week, and the break in the customary interest in trading in consequence of the attractions in the auction room, the budget is altogether satisfactory. The total number of sales reported is 139, of which 57 were below 59th st, 38 north, and 44 in the Bronx.

Felix Isman Again in the Market.

5TH AV.—By the purchase of 421 5th av, at the southeast cor of 38th st for a sum which approached $700,000, Felix Isman, the Philadelphia operator, paid a figure which establishes a record price for property in the new retail shopping district. The parcel sold consists of a 5-sty building on a lot 25.3x100. As the area of the lot equals 2,525 sq. ft., it will be seen that the price obtained is at the rate of about $277 per sq. ft. The previous record price along that thoroughfare was $211 per sq. ft., which figure Mr. Isman is supposed to have paid for the southeast cor of 5th av and 42d st, which changed hands a few months ago. The 38th st cor was owned by the estate of Catharine M. Andrews, who was the widow of Justice Geo. T. Andrews, of the Supreme Court. The present lessees are D. & S. Hess, whose lease will terminate on May 1, 1908. The brokers in the deal were Bryan L. Kennelly and Leopold Weil. A comparison between the prices recently obtained for high-class downtown parcels and that of the figure secured in the present deal is interesting. For the northeast corner of Liberty st and Broadway, about $230 per sq. ft. was paid, and for the property at the southwest corner of Dey st and Broadway, about $215 per sq. ft.

was secured. In both instances the price per sq. ft. was less than the sum paid by Mr. Isman in his most recent acquisition. It is definitely stated that the purchase was for "all cash," no element of trade entering into the transaction whatever.

A man had a row of high-grade dwellings to sell. The question was asked him, what percentage of the total number of readers of the ordinary daily newspapers were financially able to buy a house from him. When roughly estimated, it was perceived that the figure would be small. On the other hand, the percentage of the select list of readers of the Record and Guide, representing the most influential class of citizens and also the wealthiest, would be the highest possible. He used the Record and Guide.

Reports from many brokers indicate that the real estate market is in good condition, although it has been handicapped again this week by bad weather. Suburban sales were less numerous, the falling off was mostly in the small property deals, and due, of course, to the unseasonable weather. Operations in the larger property were active and a great deal of new building work has been started in many sections of the city. Inquiries for all classes of property are numerous, and lots and small home sales have been much greater in number than at this time last year. Money is easier and on the whole conditions are most encouraging.

McVickar-Gaillard Realty Company leased for Susan B. Olcott for a long term of years, at an aggregate rental of about $500,000, a plot situated at the northeast corner of 7th av and 51st st, facing Long Acre Square, and fronting 75 ft. on 7th av and 150 ft on 51st st. This property will be completely remodelled and altered by the lessee, John H. Scheier, formerly connected with Walter J. Salomon, at a cost of about $50,000. This parcel has been in the Olcott family for about 70 years. It forms an important part of the famous partition sale, Loughlan against Loughlan, held in New York in the year of the panic, 1893. The property is valued at close to $750,000, and is the only remaining piece of the Loughlan estate now held by Mrs. Olcott.

LEASES.

The McVickar, Gaillard Realty Company leased for Howland Pell to P. Adolphe, 48 West 37th st; a 4-sty dwelling, 20x100, for a term of years at an aggregate rental of $25,000. Holland Browne & Co. represented the owner. After extensive alterations the premises will be occupied by the lessee for business purposes.

George R. Read & Co. report the following leases:: Joseph Kornhauser, 196 Madison av, to St. Michael's School; 9 East 52d st, a private stable, for Theodore H. Price, to William H. Maxwell; 113 East 54th st, for Latham G. Reed to Mrs. Louise Pake; 17 East 31st st, for Mrs. Rose Canfield to Mrs. Ellen Sullivan; 457 West 23d st, for Mrs. Rebecca McManes Colfert to Irah de C. Richardson; 212 West 34th st, for Gutwillig Brothers to Mrs. Frederick Doyle; 137 East 74th st, for Dr. E. L. Keyes to Miss N. Dean Huger, and 123 East 36th st, for Mrs. Ruth D. Draper to Mrs. Blanche Moffitt.

The Auction Market.

The week's auction budget contained a variety of legal and voluntary sales, including the large offering of the Century Realty Company's holdings in the Bronx, which proved to be one of the most successful voluntary sales of the season.

The results of last Saturday's sale of 114 lots and a house, known as the "Wallace property," situated on and near Fort Schuyler road and La Salle av, were considered very satisfactory. It was conducted by H. C. Mapes & Co. on the premises and the entire tract was disposed of. For the house and plot, with a frontage of 60 ft., $7,800 was secured. The prices obtained for the lots varied from $300 to $2,150, the average price being about $828 each. All told, a total yield of $94,450 was realized.

On Monday Auctioneer Hugh D. Smyth sold 1920 to 1938 2d av and 303 to 315 East 99th st, the former bringing $228,519 and the latter $115,045. At the stand of Bryan L. Kennelly, 172 West 65th st, 5-sty flat, 25x100.5, brought $28,700, and No. 168 West 65th st, a similar building, 24x100.5, was knocked down at $25,150.

Tuesday's sale of the Century Realty Company's property in the Bronx, just north of the Ogden tract, resulted in a decided success. The parcel consisted of 216 lots on Aqueduct av, Featherbed lane, Macomb's road, Nelson av and 175th st, and the total sum realized was $591,875, or $2,800 a lot. Considering the extremely disagreeable weather immediately preceding the day of the offering the attendance was remarkable. The progress of the sale was uninterrupted, and the bidding was brisk throughout the day. Not for a moment did the interest of the gathering flag. The consensus of opinion with respect to the price obtained for the best lots on and near Aqueduct av was that many were knocked down at low figures, when compared with far less desirable parcels which brought proportionately better prices.

Inside lots on Aqueduct av averaged $3,500. A plot at northeast corner of that thoroughfare and Featherbed lane, less than two lots, fetched $11,100, which is regarded as a fair figure, and compares favorably with the prices obtained for similar plots at the Ogden sale six weeks ago. On Featherbed lane the prices ranged from $2,000 to $2,900. Short lots on Macomb's road brought prices exceeding $1,400, and for those equaling 133 ft. in depth $1,850 was secured. A noticeable feature of the Century sale was the absence of the professional speculator, the bidding being confined almost entirely to residents in that locality.

Lots running through from Nelson av to West 175th st brought $2,000 to $3,025. Inside ones, on Nelson av, brought $1,200 to $2,000, the higher prices being for more than full lots. West 175th st prices averaged about $1,400, and those on Macomb's road about $1,600.

The results of Wednesday's and Thursday's sales were not so satisfactory as expected, although at the stand of Joseph P. Day on the latter day 161 Av B, a 3 and 4-sty brick tenement, with store, brought $30,550, which was regarded by operators as a good price. On Friday one Manhattan parcel, in partition, No. 407 East 51st st, a 4-sty stone tenement, 20x100.5, was knocked down by Mr. Day to Goetz & Fouquet for $11,750. The only other parcel offered was a plot on Fulton av, Bronx, the sale of which was adjourned to June 14.

A Matter of Much Concern.

Too much publicity cannot be given to the serious error committed by certain Queens realty companies in continuing to ignore just requirements in the subdivision of their lands into building lots. It is known that several companies recently opened up streets on their properties in that borough with a total disregard of official maps now in course of preparation. Besides creating much confusion, this cannot but result in pecuniary loss to the lot buyer and home builder, and a consequent falling off in future investments in vacant property within the boundaries of Queens Borough.

A short time ago the president of one of the largest realty syndicates engaged in retailing lots ventured the opinion that unless some radical measure is taken to restrict the promiscuous laying out of streets by land developers in the outskirts of Queens, the business of selling lots will be seriously interfered with.

Among those who have expressed themselves in the matter is Hon. Otto Kempner, formerly president of Long Island Real Estate Exchange, who asserts that street conditions in the outlying sections of the borough of Queens are chaotic, and that a large number of development companies have not only laid out their properties without conforming to the city maps in course of preparation, but that they have also sold hundreds of lots to uninformed purchasers, many of whom will doubtless suffer considerable loss when the city institutes proceedings for the opening of new streets and avenues in that zone.

While admitting that the customary awards will of course be made, Mr. Kempner is strongly of the opinion that they will not be commensurate with the losses sure to occur through this neglect on the part of home site companies which is little short of criminal.

In this connection it is believed that much good will result from the interest lately evinced by the board of governors of the Real Estate Exchange of Long Island, who are making periodical inspections of the different developments with the view of listing those which come up to reasonable requirements.

To More Effectually Guard Realty Interests.

Recognizing the need of a representative body to more effectually protect the interests of property owners in the City of New York, a number of real estate agents held a meeting at the offices of Jackson & Stern, 31 Nassau street, Manhattan, on Tuesday afternoon, for the purpose of taking initial steps toward the organization of an association whose chief object will be to scrutinize legislative measures in so far as they affect real estate interests on Manhattan Island, although it is planned to eventually extend the powers of the board so as to include all the boroughs in Greater New York.

Other matters inimical to the interests of property owners, such as excessive awards and questionable assessments, will also come within the province of the organization, which is to be styled "Property Owners' Protective Association of Greater New York." The temporary quarters of the new allied interests will be located for the present at the offices of Jackson & Stern, 31 Nassau street, Manhattan. Among those interested are Mayer S. Auerbach, Samuel Goldsticker, Thomas O'Connell and Fleischman Construction Co.

In canvassing the subject Mr. Jackson, of Jackson & Stern, remarked that the formation of such a unity seemed necessary after the startling disclosures in the matter of the Riverside Drive assessment. "We intend to make this league a strong one," he said, "and will exert our best efforts to conserve the interests of all property owners within the boundaries of Greater New York."

Legislative Digest.

A bill to take away from the boating interests of the Hudson River the use of Piers 4, 5 and 6, on the East River, except for freight from "north of Castleton," has been flagged by Mayor McClellan. At a hearing at the City Hall, Mr. William H. Hilton, of the Rose Brick Company, appeared as a representative of the business interests of Newburgh and vicinity and opposed the measure. When he had explained its provisions Mayor McClellan said it seemed clear that the bill was preposterous. Mr. Hilton said the bill was drawn in the interests of the canalboat owners on the northern and western canals to cut off every manufacturer of brick, cement, stone and other products on the Hudson River. He said 1,400,000,000 bricks are landed in New York annually, and that much of this shipping would be shut out by restricting the piers mentioned in the bill, while besides a great deal of the shipping of sand, cement, stone, lime and other freight from Hudson River points below Castleton would be shut off. Mr. Hilton said the bill would increase the cost of brick in New York City $1 a thousand. "This bill certainly seems to violate the interstate commerce law," said the Mayor, "and the Constitution of the United States. It is in restraint of trade and would shut out the Hudson River trade as well and the New Jersey shipping interests on the Hudson, on the face of it."

The Utilities law will go into effect on July 1. It puts under direct State control every public service corporation, great or small, in the State of New York, with the exception of the telephone and the telegraph. The people will now have a "look-in."

The Elevated Bridge Loop bill is dead. It is thought that the subway loop will be enough.

Not of Right.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

"A," an owner, is indebted to "B," a real estate broker, for a commission for making a sale of real estate involving a large sum, but "A" declines to pay. In bringing suit against "A" for said commission, is it possible for "B," without swearing to a falsehood, at the time of commencing the suit to file a lispendens against the property sold (but not yet transferred) even though the lispendens later might not be sustained? It is admitted that "B" has no ground of attachment against "A." A. & B.

Answer.—Unless the complaint demands a judgment in some way affecting the title to, or the possession, use or enjoyment of the real estate, no notice of lispendens should of right be filed, and we think such notice of lispendens would be canceled on motion. See section 1670 of Code of Civil Procedure. On or much stronger case than this in Lindheim & Co. vs. Central National Realty & Construction Co., 111 App. Div., 275, it was held that on a complaint demanding such a judgment the right to file a notice of lispendens is absolute, and cannot be canceled except pursuant to section 1674 of said code, which latter section provides that such notice of lispendens may be canceled by the court when the action is settled, discontinued or abated, or when final judgment is rendered, or if the plaintiff unreasonably neglects to proceed in the action.

Higher Rentals on the West Side.

Brokers on the upper West Side say that one effect of the demand for private dwellings is manifested in the larger rentals which owners of this class of property are now able to secure. In referring to the subject, Alfred E. Toussaint, of 400 Columbus av, Manhattan, said that the increase was noticeable in the section west of Columbus av, between 70th and 86th sts, within which limits dwellings now rent for one-fifth more than they did two years ago.

Alfred V. Amy, of A. V. Amy & Co., 92 St. Nicholas av, Manhattan, says that high class avenue elevator apartments in the vicinity of his office bring from $12 to $14 per room, according to location, and that apartments of the same description on side streets rent from $10 to $12 per room.

Product and Appliance.

The New York Filing Cabinet Company has been incorporated in Manhattan to manufacture cabinets and office furniture with a capital of $40,000. The incorporators are: N. Boyer, New York city; W. T. Carpenter, and H. E. Robbins, of East Orange, N. J.

The Tuckahoe Lime and Lumber Company has been incorporated at Tuckahoe, N. Y., with a capital of $25,000, to conduct a general retail lumber and building material business. The incorporators are: W. H. Cooper, of New Rochelle; C. A. Cooper and C. J. Van Slyke, New York city.

American Chain Fire Ladder has recently been approved under Section 12 of the Tenement House Law as legal equipment for 3-sty tenement houses which are not occupied by more than four families. This ladder is manufactured by the American Fire Apparatus Co., 1 Madison av, and seems to be an excellent fire equipment for buildings of moderate height. It is used extensively in private residences, school and college dormitories, apartment houses and similar building construction. The ladder is constructed of steel chain side supports to which are attached at convenient intervals hollow steel rungs and the entire construction when not in use is enclosed within a metal case underneath the window inside the building. Each rung of the ladder is tested to 400 pounds and the entire construction will safely carry a load of 2,000 pounds.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. C. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

May 31, June 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

THIS has been another week of dulness and irregularity in the stock market, and the indications are that such conditions will prevail throughout the summer. The price movements were in narrow limits, and when a little activity developed prices at the end of a session were about where they were at the beginning. The Government's suit against the coal roads, talk about war with Japan, Treasury calls for many millions, and rumors of business firms in distress, had practically no effect on the market. Wall Street is sensitive, but of late years it is more and more difficult to foretell with any degree of certainty the effect bad news or good news will have on the market. Those with years of experience on the Street are frequently as much at sea as the mere neophyte in speculation. This condition of affairs arises because there are now three or more rival camps controlling great railroad, banking and industrial interests, and while bad or good times are reflected in prices of stocks, the mere surface indications in the way of fluctuations have no significance. Thus, the failure of a large corporation engaged in the manufacture of steel scarcely caused a ripple in quotations generally any more than did the favorable news of the veto by Governor Hughes of the two-cent fare bill applicable to steam railroads in this State. That there is not much fear of there being very poor crops—or as some would have it no crops at all—is shown by the violent break of wheat in Chicago. When holders wished to secure their paper profits, wheat declined three cents a bushel without a rally. The professionals are reported to be out of the market and are preparing for a new movement, but be this as it may, one thing is very evident. Unseasonable weather such as we are having this summer is not going to send the country into bankruptcy; uncertain conditions of the money market, gloomy outlook as to crops, and the feeling of unrest in industrial and commercial centres, to the contrary notwithstanding. Money rates have stiffened, as we predicted, and a rate higher than three per cent. may not be far off, but there should be no cause for anxiety on this account for real estate and building interests for the expected summer dulness still prevails.

AMONG the other events of the past week has been the failure of a builder, who had erected a good many houses in the Washington Heights district; but the news need not disturb anybody not immediately interested in Mr. Arnstein. The wonder is that there have not been more cases of distress among the builders who a year or more ago were erecting so many flats in that region. They ran into a situation which is about as bad as that which can face any group of builders. They were obliged, that is, to face a stringent money market, which prevented them from securing good permanent loans, a declining demand for apartments and a consequently increasing difficulty in selling out. But the consequent distress has not been anything like so great as it was during certain analogous periods of development on the West Side and in Harlem, because the title companies are much more powerful than they were ten years ago, and their influence has been exerted in favor of conservatism. It is not so easy as it used to be for a builder without any money at all to obtain enough credit to start a considerable building operation, and while many operations are started under such conditions they are fewer than they once were. The consequence is that when conditions are unfavorable, a smaller proportion of builders are closed out. Moreover, there is, under such circumstances, less general demoralization. A remunerative level of rents is more likely to be maintained, and the conservative builders are not pulled down with their more speculative neighbors. It is probable that next spring will disclose a much more favorable condition for building on Washington Heights than has recently been the case. During the past year the over-production of living accommodations, at least in Manhattan and the Bronx, has ceased, and in a short time vacancies will be much less numerous. It is improbable that even then building will obtain the proportions that it did in 1905, because it looks as if money would not be easily available for such purposes even by next spring. But there will be a gradual recovery. Every newly settled part of the city has to pass through these vicissitudes. They suffer more from unfavorable conditions than do the older sections, just as they benefit more from favorable conditions. Washington Heights will be lucky in case it does not at some future period in the course of its upbuilding encounter real estate and building conditions no worse than they are at present.

General Business Prospects and the Real Estate Market.

THE general business outlook for the coming year is manifestly clouded with a good deal of uncertainty. The great majority of manufacturers and merchants are still reaping the benefit of a large volume of trade; but they are scrutinizing the future much more carefully than they were a year ago, and they are much less willing to embark on any plans of business expansion that will seriously increase their responsibilities. They are unwilling to expand, not only because of the tightness of money, which will not be permanently loosened up for some time, but because they feel really uncertain in respect to the future market for their product. They are obliged to consider the possibility of a diminished rather than an increased demand, and they are obliged to ask themselves what their own condition would be in the event of such a diminished demand. This state of mind will undoubtedly have an important effect on the volume of business transactions during the coming year. It is not possible that business will increase during 1908 as it has during the past four years, and the important question is whether such a failure to expand will run over into a year of business depression. If so, it will undoubtedly have a serious effect upon the local real estate market, because at the present time the most important single cause of real estate activity in Manhattan is the prosperity of general business. The demand for real estate in the whole central part of that borough is profoundly stimulated by the constantly increasing need of more space by retail and wholesale business and by the manufacturing industries carried on in those vicinities.

So far, however, as existing indications go, it looks as if general business during the coming year would be characterized rather by a slower rate of increase than by the appearance of hard times. The business situation has assuredly stood the collapse of speculation in the stock market much better than it did during the summer and fall of 1903. During the past winter and spring the prices of securities diminished in much the same proportion as they did in 1903. Good railroad stocks are, on the whole, cheaper now than they were even in that year, and their cheapness has been brought about by analogous conditions. In both instances the business prosperity of the country and the demand for large supplies of money, resulting from this prosperity, interfered with a rise in the price of securities proportionate to their increase in actual value. A group of speculators who had bought large amounts of securities in anticipation of this rise in values were in both cases caught out, and were obliged to liquidate, with a result disastrous to themselves and harmful to a large number of timid investors. It should be added, however, that the collapse of prices in Wall Street has so far had a much smaller effect on general business than in 1903. In that year the industrial stocks suffered as severely as did the railroad stocks, if not more so, whereas during the current year the industrial stocks have come through with comparatively little damage. Business in the crucial case of the steel industries continues to be enormous and prices are firm. The American Car & Foundry Company has not been afraid recently to double the dividend on its common stock, which it would hardly have done, no matter how large its current earnings, in case its directors anticipated an early diminution in business. In short, the very industries, which depend directly on purchases by railways, are not apparently afraid of the future, and it does not look, consequently, as if there need to be much fear of a severe shrinkage in the general wholesale and mercantile business. Of course if the crops should be pursued by bad weather towards the end, the consumptive power of the country would be very much diminished, but up to date there is nothing very alarming about the promised shortage in wheat and cotton. The farmers will be reimbursed for a smaller yield by a higher price, and up to date there is no reason to suppose that the consumptive power of the country will be seriously impaired.

Assuming, then, that there is nothing like a complete crop failure, it looks very much as if business during 1908 would remain in comparatively large volume. Whatever diminution there is will take place chiefly in heavy and expensive constructional operation. It is wholly improbable that for a year or more money will really loosen up, and while the present stringency endures it will discourage people from embarking on new building enterprises. But this slackening of building will not have much reaction on general business, because a large amount of the heavier constructional work, already under way, will have to be completed. We doubt whether railroad earnings will decrease from the corresponding figures of the current season. Those figures have continued to be so high that further increases can hardly be expected, but it may well be that traffic will be as large, and with the help of improved facilities, will be more economically handled. Indeed, it is essential that the railroad managers should have a chance to arrange for the cheaper handling of the traffic which has been pouring in upon them. They have been losing, too, a large proportion of gross receipts in augmented operating expenses, and if traffic continues to expand its larger volume would be of little advantage to security holders. There does not seem to be any occasion consequently to apprehend a serious business set-back during the coming year. In spite of the large volume of general trade, there has been no inflation and no excessive speculation. Even the speculative boom in urban real estate, which a year ago looked dangerous, has not been pushed as far as the danger point, except in a few instances. General business, like the business of running railroads, will undoubtedly be placed in a more wholesome condition, by remaining for a year or two at its present level, because manufacturers and all employers of labor are suffering from the necessity of paying exorbitant wages for the sake of getting the necessary work done, though one cannot as yet detect any symptoms of a severe contraction in business. Such a contraction is necessarily the result of a sudden and complete loss of confidence, and a consequent contraction in credit, which falls heavily on men who have been borrowing more than they should. A failure, however, such as that of Milliken Bros. does not indicate a dangerous situation of this kind. It does show the effects on business of the money stringency. It does show the hazards of large constructional enterprises under existing conditions. It does show that a smaller volume of business might, in certain instances, be accompanied by a larger percentage of profit. But it does not indicate the existence of anything radically rotten in the business situation.

WITH reference to the price which Mr. Isman may have paid for the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street, one of the brokers in the transaction, Mr. Bryan L. Kennelly, says it was indeed close to $700,000, as the first reports had it. While it was not stated in these reports that the corner sold for $700,000, the price asked was that sum, and the price paid by Mr. Isman was, quoting Mr. Kennelly, "very close to this figure, and was over $260 per square foot." As the area of the lot is by the map 2,525 square feet (25.3x100), the price exceeded $656,500 at any rate. The exact sum will probably never be disclosed, but Mr. Kennelly's confirmation of the accuracy of the approximation in the first reports, and his further assurance to the Record and Guide exclusively, helps the public to a better understanding of what must be considered as the most remarkable sale of the year. All the parties in interest are to be congratulated upon the transaction. True, it was only a single lot, though a corner, but as an indication of the value of Manhattan property, and especially as a specific illustration of the rapid rise in that valuation within any period that may be selected, it is of the utmost significance. Ten years ago a similar house and corner, the Pell residence, one block north, together with an adjoining house, the whole plot measuring 49.5x100, was purchased for $375,000. Only about sixty years ago (1845) Mr. John Hunt purchased a lot at the corner of Thirty-sixth Street and Fifth Avenue, and because he paid $2,400 for it it was said that money was no object with him, he being a millionaire and surely insane besides; and because of this and other similar land purchases he was arraigned in court upon the motion of his "next friends" and made to demonstrate his competency to manage his own affairs. Twenty years afterwards the same lot was valued at $15,000. It was the judgment of that era among the best appraisers that there was no property in the whole country so cheap at that moment as land in New York City. This continued to be true for many years, and perhaps some will maintain that it is still true today. Only a few months ago the gentleman who has paid more than $260 a square foot for this Thirty-eighth Street corner, Mr. Isman, obtained the southeast corner of Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue for $211 per square foot, and the question therefore arises, inasmuch as for eighty years by the record, the value of Manhattan property has steadily increased, if we of the present are not as shortsighted as those who preceded us, and if the best and surest opportunities for making money to be found in all the world in any age are not here in old New York in this present hour?

A Suggestion for the West Side.

To the Editor of The Record and Guide:

I note with interest and pleasure the position you take for the acquirement of parcels by the city for various public utilities. I have suggested the following to the various public officials, but they, apparently, do not grasp the opportunity.

Please turn to Plates 24 and 25 of the Bromley Atlas. You will there perceive that from 60th to 72d streets the New York Central Railroad Company cuts off all the side streets from the river. The rising grade of West End avenue, or Eleventh avenue, varies from 23 to 66 feet above the railroad level.

My suggestion is that all these streets be eventually extended by viaducts to the river, giving access to piers, which can then be built on the river front. The intervening space between the streets and the avenues could be utilized by the city for the various public utilities, such as police stations, armories and hospitals. Riverside Drive Park can be extended, to give the proper setting to these buildings, and the railroad in this manner could be made a subway for this portion of the West Side.

Such plots as the city would care to dispose of would find ready purchasers. There are no engineering difficulties in the way of constructing buildings, and I think the cost of constructing the viaducts would not exceed the cost to the city of acquiring sites elsewhere. A number of public buildings now occupying valuable sites could be disposed of and that money applied to the cost of this improvement.

Riverside Drive's "Farmland."

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

It seems that the article published in the Mail and Express this week is the same article published in the Record and Guide under the pen name of "A Washington Heights Taxpayer." That the writer of these articles is a person interested in this matter leaves no doubt. The statements made in these articles are so absurd in some instances that he must think the readers of these papers must be considered rather gullible.

There is absolutely no need for the widening of the Drive north of 158th st, this proceeding being nothing but a scheme to land upon the city $5,000 lots at $32,000 a piece, a very paying enterprise for the property owners, if they can push this through. The writer of the article is right when he says the land is nothing but "farmland," but it is news to us that farmland is worth $32,000 a lot.

An intentionally misleading statement is the one that states that the most valuable part of the property is being taken, "the front." This is not so. After taking 40 ft. off, this property has a frontage just as before, with this difference, that it has a better frontage, as the city was to bring the property about 20 ft. nearer the Drive by raising the Drive that much, thus enhancing the value of the property not taken, as there will be so much less rock to take off. Why does the writer dwell upon the careful consideration the commissioners gave the valuations? These very commissioners, we understand, admit that the valuations placed on the lots are too high, and that they are willing to reconsider matters.

Our opinion is that no opportunity ought to be given any one to reconsider things. Take other men who know their business well enough not to have to reconsider anything, once they have concluded. The pressure of the public in this case forces matters to a crisis.

The remark in the paragraph preceding the last, that the property to be taken is all frontage, is so ridiculous that we must again say that in taking 40 ft. off the front, the front is simply moved back 40 ft., and a better front is given the property owners, as their new front is nearer the grade than the former front, and thus more desirable.

It matters little what means will be used to put this scheme through, it will not be allowed to go through, for, fortunately to the taxpayers, the eyes of some of the higher men who have to finally pass on this, have been opened, and they are also adverse to seeing the city and its citizens sandbagged in this way any longer. To us it is surprising that some of the men behind this scheme are not ere this proceeded against legally, for a more flagrant case than this has likely never been attempted before. Radical Building Change Proposed

TO Have All New Buildings Over Fifty Feet in Height Within the Fire Limits Provided with Floors, Columns and Partitions of Fireproof Construction.

OFTENTIMES builders and owners wish that the superintendents of the building bureaus had more discretion. This is when the law does not gear into the particular circumstances which momentarily embarrass them. But ordinarily builders seem to feel that, given sane and well-timed regulations, the discretionary power of the superintendents, or of the Board of Examiners, should be limited to such cases as are not clearly described by the code, and that all special rulings modifying any part of the code should be prohibited. Then, should a conflict over the interpretation of an ordinance arise, the Board of Examiners would decide, and this ruling would be incorporated in the code. But first there must be the code.

Since the first public hearing the Building Trades Employers' Association has sent out a notice to all the interests allied therein asking for their suggestions, which are to be co-ordinated in one memorial from the association to the Building Code Revision Commission, and is expected to constitute a compact as well as a comprehensive presentation.

One of the fundamental recommendations that will be brought before the commissioners relates to the bearing pressure on the site. The present code (section 23) does not definitely provide for an examination of the different strata of earth below the bottom of the foundations, except when a doubt arises as to the safe sustaining power of the earth. Consequently, it is possible that should good, firm gravel be found at the surface of the excavation the foundation would be proportioned for a high sustaining power; whereas a few feet below the surface a different strata might be found, the resistance of which would be considerably less than that for which the foundation was designed. Borings might disclose quicksand, springs, water-veins, or some other dangerous element, and for this reason it is advised that there be a requirement for test borings in all cases except where the computed loading of the soil is nominal.

Another fundamental recommendation is that when the foundations of the walls or columns of a structure rest on yielding soil they should be designed so that settlement will be as uniform as possible over the whole plot. Hence, a method of calculation has been proposed to equalize the maximum variation of pressure for the two extreme conditions of loadings. That is, (a) when the building is fully loaded with its assumed proportion of live loads, and (b) when it holds no live load at all. It also provides for a pressure under the interior columns slightly in excess of that under the outside walls and exterior columns, so that if any perceptible settlement takes place it will be in the interior of the building, rather than on its perimeter, where it could not readily be corrected, and in addition the interior footings are not so liable to be distributed when excavating for adjoining buildings. In considering the loads from self-supporting walls as concentrated at the columns, and then distributed over the same foundation bed with the column loads, another step toward equal settlement of walls and floors has been taken. The algebraic formula suggested is this:

$$A = \frac{2D + L}{S + Id}$$

A = Area of footing required. D = dead load only on the column. L = Live load only on the column. S = Safe working pressure on the soil. Id = Pressure produced on the soil by the dead load only of the selected column having the largest ratio of live to dead weight.

WIND STRESSES.

Section 140 of the present code provides for a uniform wind pressure over the whole surface of buildings exposed to the wind. In many cases the term "exposed surface" is taken to mean the actual surface exposed above adjoining buildings, but, as these protecting buildings may be sometimes removed, some engineers hold that this limitation should not be permitted. As tall buildings should have increased stiffness over low buildings, there should be in the code a graduated scale, starting with a nominal unit per square foot for low buildings and increasing with the height. Section 140 permits the use of partitions, floor constructions, etc., to help resist the moments of distortion due to wind, but it is asserted that too much reliance is placed upon these, as many buildings are designed with practically no regard to the wind at all.

In a series of recommendations formulated by John W. Hamilton, of the firm of Milliken Brothers, iron erectors, and forwarded to the Commissioners, a method is suggested to ensure the wind stresses being treated and provided for in a scientific manner:

Every building should be figured to withstand a horizontal wind pressure on its entire surface, considering the pressure per square foot as zero at the ground line, and uniformly graded to twice the square root of the height of the building in feet at the top. All buildings other than wall-bearing, that is, having a skeleton frame and the walls lightened thereby, whether the walls are carried on the frame or are self-supporting, should have the wind stresses resisted entirely by the skeleton frame, except that one-half the dead weight of permanent construction could be considered to help resist the overturning. In proportioning the different parts the working stresses as set forth in Sections 138 and 139 of the present code should be used.

STRUCTURAL STEEL.

Mr. Hamilton has embodied in his communication an extended series of recommendations pertaining to steel-frame buildings. Under the head of structural steel he notes:

The present Code, Section 21, requires that structural steel shall have an ultimate strength of from 54,000 to 64,000 lbs. per sq. in. This is not the present recognized standard for medium structural steel as is used in the majority of buildings, and the Code should be corrected to conform with the best modern practice of 60,000 to 70,000 lbs. per sq. inch, the unit stresses, however, as given in Sections 138 and 139 for steel should not be altered. The Code does not in any section place a classification on the different qualities of steel, such as open hearth, Bessemer or cast steel.

Bessemer steel, which is most unreliable and inferior to open hearth steel, should be used at a higher factor of safety than for open hearth steel. Cast steel being a cast product which is always more unreliable than a rolled product should be used at a still higher factor.

With a view to revising the code to conform with the best modern practice and to properly grade the working stresses so that the same margin of safety will be obtained for all grades of steel Mr. Hamilton has written a number of amendments.

STAIR AND ELEVATOR HALLS.

Many buildings have open stairways and open elevator shafts extending through all stories. In case of a serious fire on one of the lower floors it is believed that the occupants of the upper stories, although they may not be actually exposed to fire, would be in serious danger of suffocation, as these openings would act as smoke flues and the means of egress would be entirely cut off.

In order to provide a fire and smoke proof exit to the street from all parts of the building, and to prevent fire and smoke from being transmitted from floor to floor, Mr. Hamilton recommends the following:

All stairways and elevators should be in a hall separated from the rest of the building by fireproof partitions and self-closing fire-doors. Both stairs and elevators could be in the same hall, but should be separated from each other by fireproof partitions. All stair and elevator halls should have a fireproof passage to the street.

Fire-escapes could be omitted if extra stairs are provided and enclosed with fireproof partitions and located so that there are windows in the shaft in each story opening out into the street, such shaft being so located as to be accessible from all parts of the building.

FIREPROOF BUILDINGS.

Non-fireproof apartment and tenement houses are now permitted by the code, section 53, to be constructed up to seven stories in height, within the fire limits. As the city is becoming more congested in these districts and the danger of fire is increased, the following recommendation is made to prohibit the construction of this class of buildings and provide for only modern, thoroughly fireproof buildings, which would at least allow the tenants to escape in case of fire, instead of these non-fireproof structures, which would be very rapidly destroyed and perhaps cause serious loss of life.

All buildings hereafter erected of any height or class whatsoever in certain specified congested areas, and all buildings over 3 stories or 50 feet in height within the fire limits, should have all walls, floors, columns and partitions of fireproof construction. All material entering into the construction and upon which the strength or stability of the building depends should be protected by at least 1½ inches of fireproof material on all surfaces.

The bounds of the congested territory are not specified, but are left to the discretion of the Commissioners.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

A Lower Fifth Avenue Improvement.

(With illustration.)

The 15-sty mercantile structure situated at 5th av, the northwest corner, and 15th st, was recently completed for Jacob Rothschild, of the Hotel Majestic, from plans by Architect Albert S. Gottlieb, 156 5th av. Rapid building along 5th av, south of 23d st, with high mercantile buildings during the past two years has attracted marked attention, and well-informed operators state that it will only be a short period of time before this residence centre, from Washington sq to 23d st, will be entirely rebuilt with tall business structures. The new building, known as the "Stuyvesant," is similar in design, construction and character to the "Knickerbocker," at 5th av and 16th st, also erected by Mr. Rothschild from plans by the same architect. There is a basement with sub-basement for boilers and pumps, Chicago Will Have Biggest Hotel.

CHICAGO.—A 22-sty hotel, to cost $6,000,000, and to be called the "La Salle," will be erected by a syndicate of New York and Brooklyn capitalists, who are keeping their identity secret. The plans have been prepared under the direction of George H. Gazley, who opened the St. Regis Hotel in New York City and who for seven years was manager of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. It will contain 1,150 rooms, will cover 29,100 square feet of ground, and will be the largest hotel in the West. The hotel will be absolutely fireproof, and will go far beyond the requirements of the city ordinances, practically the only wood to be used in its construction being that of the mahogany doors and trimmings. The exterior will be of granite and stone from the ground floor to the fifth story, above which will extend an attractive front of brick and terra cotta, to the beautifully designed mansard roof. This roof, it is said, will be the most beautiful in Chicago. Architecturally and artistically considered, the facade of the new building will be the finest in the West. The main entrance, distinguished by two handsome bronze doors and an elaborate bronze and glass marquee extending over the sidewalk, will open on La Salle st. The building will have a frontage of 178 ft. on La Salle st and 160 on Madison. Holabird & Roche are the architects. No building contracts yet awarded.

Contract Awarded for Chinese Arcade.

Maximilian Zipkes, 147 4th av, has let for Commissioner Jastraw Alexander to M. C. Rosenbaum Co. the contract for the erection of a 3-sty Chinese arcade at Nos. 11 to 13 Doyer st, and to extend through to 20 Mott st. This building is the first of its kind to be erected in the Chinese quarters. The street floor will be arranged as an arcade with stores and booths on both sides. The ceilings and entrances will be highly ornamental with fancy metal work and a large distribution of electric lights and electrical effects. Stairways will extend from the arcade to the upper stories, which will be occupied as an amusement place and museum. The building is calculated to be ready for occupancy by Oct. 1. Mr. Alexander is State Inspector of Gas Meters for the State of New York. (See also issue March 2, 1907.)

Points on the Material Market.

Builders of heavy engines and eomplete power plants note a better demand.

In the metropolitan district Portland cement is in fair demand and prices are generally well sustained.

Second-hand machinery dealers report active conditions, the best demand being for the heavier and better grades of tools.

The iron and steel casting plants continue busy. As a rule, almost as much business is offered as can be handled satisfactorily.

Black and galvanized sheets continue exceptionally firm, with important manufacturers still far behind their orders. As a result, prices on sheet metal products are steady in spite of a slight reduction in the volume of new business.

An advance has recently been made in the price of standard vitrified sewer pipe and fittings, 3 to 24 ins., by the American Sewer Pipe Company, Pittsburgh, Pa. It is understood that other manufacturers are adhering to the advance.

Demand for structural steel for building material in the local market continues of good proportions. It is reported that there is more work pending than there has been at any time during the present year, both locally and in other sections of the country.

An excellent demand for roofing and building papers obtains, and tarred felt is scarce. The market is now represented by the following figures in less than carload lots for New York City and vicinity, viz.: One ply tarred felt, $38 per ton; slaters' felt, $38 per ton; a medium grade of tarred roofing at 65 and 88 cents per roll for two and three ply, respectively, and a better grade of two ply at 75 cents and three ply 98 cents per roll.

BUILDING NOTES

After all, a good building year. Nineteen-seven is better than it promised.

The clouds are breaking away and letting in the sunshine of prosperity again.

William D. Marks, M. Am. Inst. E. E., consulting engineer for railway and lighting plants, of Philadelphia, Pa., has opened offices at No. 13-21 Park row.

Robert Arnstein, a Washington Heights builder of store and flat buildings, No. 117 West 114th st, filed a petition in bankruptcy this week, with liabilities $1,014,542 and assets of $426,-344. A large percentage of the liabilities are secured by mortgages, for which he is bound by bond.

Among large contract work to come, in which electrical engineers are interested, as well as supply firms and builders, are a new power house for the Edison Company, a power house on the New Jersey side of the North River for the Pennsylvania Railroad's electrically operated terminal and suburban lines and a West Shore power house at Weehawken.

Said a new advertiser in the Record and Guide: "I find that being asked by my 'friends' to bid on a lot of cheap jobs with no money in them is getting one kind of business—but being called up and given good work by interests I had never got in touch with before, and which had heard of me only through the Record and Guide, is a very much better proposition for me."

Money is reported to have become fairly available in Brooklyn for sound building propositions, and consequently a large amount of work is being proceeded with in that borough. The Superintendent of Buildings David F. Moore writes: "The territory in which building operations has shown the greatest activity is that of the 29th, 30th, 31st and 32d wards. The class of buildings predominating over all others during this season's building activity is that of 1 and 2-family houses, both brick and frame. A class second to this class is that of tenement houses." Brick building as compared with frame building is increasing in Brooklyn. A comparative statement shows that in the year ending May 1, 1907, 505 permits to build valued at $5,681,350, were granted, while in the past year 713 permits, valued at $5,869,995 were let. These houses were all of brick. In the year 1906 permits for 295 frame houses, valued at $1,129,150, were granted, as against 209 permits, valued at $556,695, made out in the building year just passed.

An Estimate of Approximate Cost of Brick and Frame vs. Fireproof Residence Construction.

The prospective home-builder in his consideration of the various types of construction and materials available must ultimately base his decision on the bedrock of economy—namely, the most to be obtained in durability, beauty and comfort from a given expenditure. In choice of plans for the proposed structure individual taste in choice of design in both exterior and interior arrangement may enter to an almost unlimited extent without serious impairment of the finished structure.

Before this point is reached, however, comes the question of fireproof vs. old-style construction. Here the builder is confronted by the necessity for a radical decision. Since fireproofing methods effectively and economically applied to residence construction are a rather recent development of the building industry, the ignorance of methods and comparative costs which obtains on the part of the laity should not be occasion for wonder. Therefore, in this connection a word of comparison between old and new methods of construction may not be amiss. The figures as given below were compiled by the New Century Contracting Co., 1 Madison av, Manhattan, from plans actually executed and while of necessity but approximate furnish authentic data of unusual value.

The New Century type of construction calls for terra cotta tiles laid in Portland cement, sustained by reinforced concrete girders and beams. Since the nearest analogy to this type of construction is found in the familiar brick and frame dwelling, a comparative statement of approximate costs of the two is illuminating.

First, as to floors, on a square foot basis: in the brick and frame structure the floor estimate must include items of timber, finished floor, under floor, plastering (3 coats), lathing, cross furring (ceiling), bridging and paper. These items distributed in approximate proportion give an average estimate of $0.39½ per square foot. In the opposed fireproof structure, floor estimates include concrete and tiles, finished floor, plastering ceiling (2 coats), and sleepers—totaling $0.32¾. As to walls, the former, including brick veneer, timber, sheathing, plastering, furring, bridging and tie, lathing and paper, totals $0.47 per square foot, while the latter method, estimating on tile block, brick veneer and inside plastering gives $0.46. Therefore, the brick and frame structure presents a total cost per square foot of $0.86¼, while the fireproof structure shows only $0.78¾ per square foot. To the total saving to the builder of 11½ cents + approximately 10% — of the latter method must be added the credit of absolutely fireproof qualities, together with the fact that it is air-tight and that hollow tile, being a perfect non-conductor, retains cool air in summer and warm air in winter. This obviously gives in the one season added comfort to the occupant and in the other the advantage of economy in fuel consumption.

It is worthy of note that, with specifications as above, both the exterior and the interior appearance of the two structures is identical.

Fifth Avenue Hotel Sold.

REPORT NOT YET CONFIRMED, BUT PROBABLE—NAMES OF BUYERS NOT YET DISCLOSED.

At the close of business last evening a rumor was in circulation that the Fifth Avenue Hotel had been put under contract of sale. A similar report about the property several months ago proved to be untrue, but the present one is attended by certain corroborating circumstances which incline us to the belief that it will be confirmed.

A search of the title is being made. The price mentioned in connection with the sale is $7,000,000, but the names of the purchasers are not disclosed. The only intimation given in regard to the buyers is that they constitute a syndicate organized in another city.

Messrs. Henry C. and Henry L. Eno are the owners of record. On December 1, 1902, they bought the property from the "Fifth Avenue Hotel Land Company," to which corporation it had been conveyed on May 28, 1900, by Amos R. Eno, Sr., for the sum of $4,225,000. The elder Eno owned the property for many years.

The property has a frontage of 139 ft. on Broadway, 63.5 on 5th av and 217.9 on 23d st, and is covered by a 6-sty stone building.

Seven Years' Fire Losses.

The fire record of the largest cities in the United States for seven years indicates that the country is approaching a condition that justifies the fears of underwriters, and warrants large property owners giving more serious consideration to fire dangers. The necessity is for provision against the dangers due to the vast number of buildings that are liable to be swept away by a single fire in many of the larger cities, notably New York City's wholesale dry goods district. If adequate measures are adopted for dealing with the present, the future will take care of itself.

Approved by the Tenement House Department.

American Chain Fire Ladder has recently been approved under Section 12 of the Tenement House Law as legal equipment for 3-sty tenement houses which are not occupied by more than four families. This ladder is manufactured by the American Fire Apparatus Co., 1 Madison av, and seems to be an excellent fire equipment for buildings of moderate height. It is used extensively in private residences, school and college dormitories, apartment houses and similar building construction. The ladder is constructed of steel chain side supports to which are attached at convenient intervals hollow steel rungs, and the entire construction when not in use is enclosed within a metal case underneath the window inside the building. Each rung of the ladder is tested to 400 pounds and the entire construction will safely carry a load of 2,000 pounds.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

The brokerage branch of the realty market was featured during the week by several sales of lower West Side business parcels, which emphasizes the drift of interest in real property adjacent to the downtown McAdoo terminal. Among the properties of note was 207 Fulton st, diagonally opposite the new Church st station, and the abutting building, No. 47 Vesey st. In the central section of the island trading was somewhat scattered, the most important deal being for the southwest corner of Madison av and 41st st. On the middle West Side the purchase of a 4-sty dwelling at 114 West 72d st by a florist, for business occupancy, is likely to result in a renewed protest against the invasion of business on that block. The transaction referred to is distinctive in that it marks the first sale on that thoroughfare where the property has been sold for immediate alteration. Up on Washington Heights several apartment houses changed hands, and a large plot at the northwest corner of Amsterdam av and 156th st was purchased for improvement. The usual dealing in small Bronx lots was supplemented by several large purchases of vacant land, including the sale of an entire block on Teller and Findlay avs, which will be improved at once. The total number of private sales reported is 109, of which 33 were below 59th st, 49 north, and 27 in the Bronx.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

BROOME ST.—Alfred B. Jaworower, at attorney, bought through Jollette & Rappaport, from a client of A. S. Welfish, 270 and 272 Broome st, two 5-sty tenements, 42x75. Brooklyn property was given in part payment.

Resale in Chatham Square.

CHATHAM SQ.—Golde & Cohen sold to Augustus Sharboro 17 Chatham sq, running through to 6 Catharine st, a 5-sty building, occupied by White, Van Glahn & Co. The broker in the deal was Henry Wise.

DIVISION ST.—E. Klein sold for a client 242 Division st, a 5-sty tenement, 28x88.9x irregular. Alter Gottlieb holds title.

EAST BROADWAY.—Herman Warshauer resold for a client to A. Epstein & Brothers the 5-sty double flat 96 East Broadway.

FULTON ST.—Following the recent sale of Nos 172 and 174 Fulton st comes the announcement of the purchase by L. & M. Goldsticker, the glassware people of 207, on the north side of that thoroughfare between Church st and West Broadway. The property in question is a 5-sty stone business building, 25x82.2, formerly occupied by John Boyle & Co., the awning and tent manufacturers. Besides adjoining Trinity Mission the building is diagonally opposite the McAdoo terminal on Church st, extending from Cortlandt to Fulton, and is particularly attractive from a speculative standpoint. That the building was purchased with this object in view seems reasonable, as the new owners have announced their intention of placing it in the market for rent. Students of realty in that locality predict that Fulton st is on the eve of a notable change in its structural character.

GOERCK ST.—Abe Kassel resold the southwest cor of Goerck and 3d sts, a 4-sty factory, 79x100x90x irregular.

HOUSTON ST, WEST.—G. Tuoti & Co. sold for Rocco M. Marasco to Nazareno Gazzale 109 to 117 West Houston st, southwest cor of Thompson st, five 5-sty tenements, 70x100.

LAIGHT ST.—Horace S. Ely & Co. sold for Marcus T. Hun, as executor of the estate of Julia J. McCartee, 3 Laight st, 3-sty building, 21.9x101x irregular, to Wm. H. Browning. With this purchase Mr. Browning squares out his holdings at this point and now owns 1 to 7 Laight st, 396 Canal st and 1 to 7 York st, including the block front on the east side of St. John's lane, between York and Laight sts.

MONROE ST.—H. Sokolski & Son sold 286 Monroe st, a 6-sty tenement, with stores, 25x97, to K. Oshinsky.

READE ST.—Charles Laue bought from the Ferguson estate, 74 Reade st, a 5-sty building, 25x61.4x irregular.

In the Coming Section.

VESEY ST.—S. B. Rogers bought for a client from John Leffler 47 Vesey st, a 5-sty building, 25x82. The parcel abuts 207 Fulton st, a similar building, sold during the week to an investor. The purchaser of the Vesey st property also controls No. 45, making a plot 50x82. In no section of Manhattan is the tendency to enlarge plots more in evidence than in the streets south of Chambers and west of Broadway. The effect of this lessens the probability of the erection of narrow business buildings which are more or less of a drug on the market.

First Sale in 53 Years.

VARICK ST.—Edward McVickar sold for the estate of Mary B. Young the 4-sty building 65 Varick st, 22x68. This is the first time that this property has been transferred since 1854.

WEST BROADWAY.—Marcus Kohner and H. J. Kantrowitz sold for the Mutual Life Insurance Co. to Sundel Hyman 3 loft buildings, 75x100, at the southeast cor of West Broadway and Prince st. The property has been offered for sale at $165,000.

WATER ST.—Samuel Kutler and Samuel Kotler bought from Golde & Cohen 441 and 443 Water st, running through to 224½ and 225 South st, 3-sty buildings, 40x160.

3D ST.—Samuel Chochlow, sold for the Ebel estate to Benjamin Menschel 82 East 3d st, a 6-sty double tenement, with stores, 25x 100.7. The property has been in the Ebel family since 1868.

10TH ST.—L. D. Weisberg bought from Miller & Podolsky, 267 East 10th st, a 5-sty tenement, 25x95.

14TH ST.—George A. Hearn bought from the estate of William Moser 18 West 14th st, running through to and including Nos. 15 and 17 West 13th st, a plot fronting 25 feet on 14th st and 50 feet on 13th st. It is covered by buildings owned by Mr. Hearn, to whom the land was under lease. The parcel was to have been sold at auction next Tuesday by Bryan L. Kennelly.

22D ST.—George C. Ponter sold for Jefferson M. Levy to A. L. Goldsmith 121 West 22d st, a 3-sty dwelling, 23.6x98.9.

24TH ST.—N. V. La Cava sold for Mrs. Betsie Wolt 236 East 24th st, a 5-sty tenement, 25x100.

36TH ST.—J. Arthur Fischer and Wilmerding & Field sold for Alfred Rigny to United Bond & Mortgage Company the 4-sty building 138 West 36th st, 25x92.

38TH ST.—J. Arthur Fischer sold for Robert Bicket to a client the 4-sty brownstone dwelling 221 West 38th st, 20.7x98.9.

39TH ST.—Ames & Co. sold for Emerence K. Ager the 3-sty brick dwelling 20.6x98.9 at 260 West 39th st to a client for investment.

41ST ST.—The estate of William Moser sold 44 East 41st st, a 3-sty stable, south side, 125 feet east of Madison av. This is another property which was to have been offered at auction next week.

Purchaser for 49th St. Dwelling.

49TH ST.—Henry D. Winans & May sold for the Gurnee estate the 4-sty dwelling, with extension, 38 West 49th st, on lot 17.4x 100.5, Columbia College leasehold.

52D ST.—Edward Holbrook, President of the Gorham Mfg. Co., sold the 5-sty American basement dwelling, 4 East 52d st, on plot 30x100.5, adjoining the Morton F. Plant residence, at the southeast cor of 5th av and 52d st.

54TH ST.—J. B. English sold for J. L. Doyle to a client 146 West 54th st, a 3-sty dwelling, 18.9x100.

56TH ST.—The Norman Realty Company, in conjunction with John N. Golding, sold to Philip Lehman 157 East 54th st, a 2-sty brick stable, 25x100; also, to James P. Nevin 247 East 56th st, a 4-sty brick building, 25x100.

BROADWAY.—Henry M. T. Beekman sold for the estate of William Moser 708 Broadway, a 10-sty business building, lot 25x137.6, east side, 123.4 feet north of 4th st. This property was to have been sold at auction next week.

MADISON AV.—Henry D. Winans & May sold for Carrere & Hastings the 3-sty buildings, occupied until recently by that firm at the southwest cor of Madison av and 41st st, 48x64.7. The property, which is known as 28 East 41st st, will continue to be used for business purposes. This site is said to be especially adapted for a commercial building.

AV B.—The Columbian Board of Brokers sold for Harris Tow and Abram G. Abramson 272 and 274 Av B and 553 East 16th st, being the northwest cor, two 4-sty tenements and stores, 43x70, to Jacob Bluestein, who gives in part payment the plot, 75x80, on the west side of Crimmins av, 312 ft. north of 141st st.

1ST AV.—M. Kahn & Co. resold for Max Dorf 93 1st av ,a 6-sty tenement, with store, 25x100, to a client of Samuel Kraft.

In the Pennsylvania Section.

8TH AV.—Warren estate sold to an investor 415 to 419 8th av and 304 and 306 West 31st st, five 4-sty buildings, 49.4x100, at the southwest cor of the two streets. The parcel is close to the Pennsylvania Railroad station, now in course of construction, and is immediately opposite the site of the new post office, which will extend from 31st st to 33d sts, for which the government paid $1,660,085.00.

—Real estate men should not commit the blunder of exaggeration in their advertising. The abuse of the superlative in this discerning age is folly. True or false the superlative statement is bad because of its effect upon the mind is not what the writer seeks. As Hamlet said, "I pray you, avoid it."

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

62D ST.—Alfred Busselle sold 106 East 62d st, a 3-sty dwelling, 16x80.5, to a Dr. Johnson, for occupany.

Purchase for Improvement.

65TH ST.—Henry D. Winans & May report the sale of 41 East 65th st for F. C. Reed. The buyer will improve with a modern American basement house. Also the adjoining property, 43 East 65th st, which will likewise be improved with a strictly high-grade residence for occupancy.

66TH ST.—H. C. Senior & Co. sold for E. Clarence Jones the 3-sty private stable 36 West 66th st, 25x100.5, to a Mr. Thomas.

Resistance in Vain.

72D ST.—Pease & Elliman through their West Side office sold for Mrs. Ellen A. Slaven No. 114 West 72d st, a 4-sty and basement dwelling, 25x102.2, the first house west of Columbus av. The buyer is "Dards" the florist, who will use the premises for his business after extensive alterations. This announcement will doubtless prove a disappointment to the residents in the immediate locality who have for so long a period successfully resisted the invasion of business in that stronghold. On reliable authority it is stated that other sales for a similar purpose will shortly follow.

75TH ST.—John J. Kavanaugh sold for Edmund C. Stout to a client, for occupancy, 172 East 75th st, a 4-sty garage, 18x102.2.

77TH ST.—Pease & Elliman sold for Mrs. Henry B. B. Staples 301 West 77th st, a 5-sty American basement dwelling, 30x60x irregular.

To Erect Costly Plant.

120TH ST.—Long Acre Electric Light and Power Co. bought from James T. Blandford the old Harlem Hospital site; a plot fronting about 400 feet on the north side of 120th st and 100 feet on the East River, for about $400,000. The company will erect a plant on the property to cost about $6,000,000.

121ST ST.—Matthew F. Mulvihill bought from the Sandford Realty Company the 5-sty single flat 149 East 121st st, 20x81, 42 ft. east of Lexington av. Mr. Mulvihill will put in a store on the parlor floor which he will use for his office.

121ST ST.—Meyer Lefkowitz has bought, through Bash & Freed, 321 and 323 East 121st st, a 6-sty tenement, with stores, 50x100.11.

Triple Flats in 125th St. Change Hands.

125TH ST.—Harlan P. Young sold for Milton C. Smith to John S. and Louis Haase 446 to 452 West 125th st, four 5-sty triple flats, with stores, 100x100.11. Prior to the opening of the Broadway subway there was little demand for flats in this part of 125th st, but this condition is fast being overcome and brokers are experiencing little difficulty in effecting sales where rental returns are attractive.

127TH ST.—Barnett & Co. sold for Patrick McNally the 3-sty stone front dwelling 33 W. 127th st, 18.9x55x99.11. The vendor purchased the above parcel about eight months ago.

131ST ST.—Shaw & Co. sold for Wm. S. Young to Edward J. Welling 240 West 131st, a 3-sty and basement dwelling, 18.9x50x99.11.

132D ST.—C. F. W. Johanning sold for George Amend to a client for investment 35 West 132d st, a 5-sty double flat, 26.11x99.11.

132D ST.—Jacob J. Tabolt sold for William H. Fairchild to William T. and Ellen Hallinan the 3-sty dwelling 272 West 132d st, 16.8x99.11.

135TH ST.—Simon Nachtigall sold 205 West 135th st, a 5-sty flat, 25x99.11, to Mrs. Meta Witte.

135TH ST.—Charles Edelson sold for J. & W. Wolf the West End garage and stores at 266 to 272 West 135th st, on plot 100x99.11, adjoining the southeast cor of 8th av.

142D ST.—Max Gomprecht sold for a client to L. Kahn 143 West 142d st, a 5-sty double flat, 27x99.11.

BROADWAY.—Gustavus L. Lawrence sold 2182 to 2186 Broadway and 223 to 231 West 77th st, an "L"-shaped parcel surrounding the northeast cor of Broadway and 77th st, 77.4x130.5x102.2x50x25.8x 67.5. The corner is owned by Peter Doelger. The purchaser secured the parcel at the "Al" Adams auction sale several years ago for $175,000. Mr. Lawrence has since erected the 2-sty buildings now on the plot.

Purchase on Upper Broadway for Improvement.

BROADWAY.—Horace S. Ely & Co., in conjunction with F. B. Robert, sold for Harry M. Austin to Bing & Bing the block front on the west side of Broadway, between 127th and Manhattan sts, a plot of about 14 lots with a Broadway frontage of 175.2 and an average depth of 175 ft. The station of the Broadway subway at Manhattan st is immediately opposite the parcel. The buyers intend to erect on the site a 2-sty building, but have not decided particularly. The block below was recently improved by the erection of a row of 5-sty flats with stores, but the district being as yet new and somewhat overbuilt, some difficulty has been experienced in securing permanent tenants without granting concessions. In view of these facts it is believed that the purchasers of the frontage have exercised good judgment in confining the improvement projected to such a building as proposed.

EAST END AV.—M. Kite sold the 5-sty tenement 69 East End av, 25.6x98, to Oscar Hilfman.

LENOX AV.—H. Rawak sold for King Brothers the southwest cor Lenox av and 136th st, a 5-sty flat, with stores, 25x75.

MADISON AV.—Arnold & Byrne sold for S. Simon to Louis Bernstein 1785 Madison av, a 5-sty apartment house, 33x108. The new owner will put stores in the building, thereby materially increasing the rental returns. The marked disposition lately evinced by owners of property in that section to conform to the demands of business, is resulting in a stronger market for property of this description.

ST. NICHOLAS AV.—A. V. Amy & Co. sold to Leo Vogel 765 St. Nicholas av, a 4-sty dwelling, 20x100.

"West End Hall" Changes Hands.

WEST END AV.—Charles S. Kohler sold for the Mulhern Heating Company to a client for investment the 6-sty elevator apartment known as West End Hall at the northeast cor of West End av and 101st st, 100x100.11. The proporty has been held at $400,000.

WEST END AV.—William H. Vredenburgh sold 868 West End av, 4-sty and basement dwelling, 20x92, between 102d and 103d sts.

2D AV.—H. Sokolski & Son sold the northeast cor of 2d av and 85th st, a 6-sty tenement with stores, 46x72, to a Mr. Levinson.

2D AV.—The Ernst-Cahn Realty Company sold for Jacob Marx to Moritz Sondberg 1921 2d av, a 5-sty double flat, 25x79.

7TH AV.—Acropolis Realty Co. sold 2330 7th av, a 5-sty double flat with stores, 27x100, for Isaac Wolf, to a client who purchases for investment.

8TH AV.—The Northwestern Realty Company sold to the Elko Realty Company 2710 and 2712 8th av, a 6-sty brick tenement, 40 x100.

8TH AV.—A. B. Mosher & Co. sold for Henrietta M. Brown to a client for investment the 5-sty triple flat, 2239 8th av.

Geo. C. Ponter, real estate broker, formerly of 156 Broadway, has entered into partnership with Edward J. Crawford and opened offices at 43 West 27th st.

J. Clarence Davies says that much of the dealing now going on in the Bronx is in the nature of exchanges. This condition, he argues, is due to the tightness in the money market.

Good people in large number are buying at "Harmon," the forerunner of a Hudson River boom that is going to bring everything within an hour's train run within the metropolitan real estate field.

Moore Bros., the old-established firm of real estate brokers of the West Side, have moved their offices from 1904 Broadway to 57 West 35th st. Mr. Joseph T. Mulligan, associated with them for many years, continues as manager.

The amended plans which the New York Central through President Newman has submitted to the Board of Estimate provide only for minor changes and do not affect street lines and grades or the general use of the streets by the public.

It was Herman De Selding who recently said that property in the section south of Chambers st and west of Broadway is cheap at prevailing prices, and it looks as though the wise people were taking the cue, if the week's sales in Fulton and Vesey sts are any criterion.

Thomas J. Reilly, formerly with the New York Life Insurance Company, Theodore Vietor and John J. O'Brien, formerly with James O'Brien, plumber and builder, have formed a partnership and opened offices at 43 Wall st for the transaction of a general real estate business.

We will pay 10c. for the following copies of the Record and Guide delivered in good condition to this office before Wednesday: (1947), 49, 50, 57, 58, 70, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 85, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99 (2,000) 2001, 02, 03, 18, 20, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29.

Real estate agents on Broadway, in vicinity of Manhattan st, report the rentals of stores along that thoroughfare at from $50 to $75 per month, according to size. Apartments of 4 rooms bring $12, and those containing 6 rooms as much as $35 per month in an active market. While a number of apartments in the newer buildings are occupied, a close observer will detect many vacancies.

The announcement of all voluntary and legal auction sales for the coming week, together with a report of the prices paid for each parcel at all the auction sales of the week just past, constitutes a valuable service for the great body of business people who read the Record and Guide. And it is a service to be found in complete form, and regularly, nowhere else. Men who know and want the real thing instead of a pretension find it here.

Mrs. M. E. Alexander, of 10 West 40th st, states that she was also associated in the sale of the southeast corner of 58th st and 7th av, in addition to the three brokers named last week. Walter Russell, who purchased the property for his company, the "Stuyvesant Co-operative Buildings (Inc.)," was her client. Mrs. Alexander adds: "The price was close to the half million mark. Mr. Robert A. White was also associated in the sale."

The Auction Market.

The auction offerings for the week were about equally divided between legal sales and those of a voluntary nature. Among the latter were those of the Thole estate, consisting of about 17 parcels situated on the lower West Side, conducted by Joseph P. Day, and the offering of 131 lots in the Mt. Hope section, fronting on Claremont Park, Grand Concourse, Morris av and 174th st, being the balance of the estate of Thomas O. Woolf, conducted by Auctioneer Jas. L. Wells. The attendance at both was large, and the results in both instances were satisfactory.

On Thursday Joseph P. Day sold in foreclosure 328 to 336 East 95th st, three 6-sty brk tenements with stores, to operators Löwenfeld & Prager for the sum of $112,223, and to Chas. J. Feis the southeast cor of Park av and 166th st, 255x192x238, vacant, for $51,000. Friday's sale of Nos. 1531 to 1537 Broadway, also conducted by Mr. Day, resulted in the parcel being knocked down to the plaintiff, as was also No. 2130 Hughes av, a 2-sty frame building.

The principal auction sale for Friday was the Astor Theatre, at Broadway and 45th st, which was offered in foreclosure to collect a judgment of about $58,000. There being no competition, the parcel was struck off to the plaintiff on a single bid.

On Monday, at the stand of Mr. Day, the house 242 and 244 West 144th st, a 6-sty tenement, with stores, brought $50,000 in a foreclosure sale. On the following day a satisfactory test of the market for old style dwellings and flats on the lower West Side resulted in a total yield of $435,250 for 17 parcels representing the Thole estate. Considering that the terms of this sale required all cash payments, making it necessary for the purchasers to negotiate their own mortgages in a somewhat stringent money market, the success of the auction is worthy of mention. Among the parcels sold were 65 Spring st, immediately opposite the subway entrance, a 5-sty brick and stone tenement, with stores, which brought $40,400, considered a fair market price for a tenement in that locality, and No. 97 West Houston st, a 5-sty brick tenement, also with stores, 25x73.2, which brought $28,200, comparing well with prices obtained for property of a similar type in that section. Included in the list of old dwellings sold is 15 Charles st, a 4-sty and basement brick building, which brought $15,800, and Nos. 291, 293, 295 West 4th st, three 3-sty and basement brick buildings on lots averaging 18.2x65, which were knocked down at figures ranging from $8,300 to $8,850. An old weather-beaten 3-sty and basement brick building, 21.9½x64, at 176 Spring, elicited a successful bid of $12,950 from operators Lowenfeld & Prager.

At the Woolf estate sale, conducted by James L. Wells, on Wednesday, not only was the attendance large, but the audience was made up principally of residents of the Bronx who proclaimed their confidence in realty in that zone by paying in several instances high prices for some rather low lots. The first two lots knocked down were on the easterly side of Eastburn av, 226 ft. south of the Concourse, 25x95 each, above grade, and brought $2,250 apiece. Further south and on the same thoroughfare several low lots of like dimensions brought as much as $2,100 each. The southeast corner of 174th st and Eastburn av, 25x100, brought $2,700 each, and an opposite corner, 38.10x95, fetched $3,550. On the Concourse a lot 126 ft. deep at the southwest corner of Eastburn av was purchased by Geo. Buckbee for $5,100. Ex-Police Capt. Jas. K. Price was among the largest individual buyers. In addition to a purchase of six lots on Eastburn av and 174th st, he paid $18,625 for a plot of equal size at the northeast corner of Claremont Parkway and that thoroughfare. In all 131 lots were disposed of for a total of $259,445.

Another sale in the week's budget was that of the Layton farm in the Throggs Neck section, better known as "Lohbauer's Park." The parcel consists of 56½ acres with large frontages on the Eastern Boulevard and Town Dock road. The property was knocked down by Auctioneer Joseph P. Day to a syndicate in which Chas. V. Halley and J. Clarence Davies are interested for $251,000. It is thought likely that the purchasers will sub-divide the park and place it on the market for sale. Among other properties sold by Auctioneer Day was 340 and 342 West 42d st, 50x98.9, two 4-sty brick tenements, with stores, purchased by Henry L. Ketchum for $72,000. This figure compares favorably with the sale of one of the Doherty estate parcels on the southerly side of the street, which took place several weeks ago.

Lot Values Enhancing in Thirty-third Street.

With the exception of 34th st, there is perhaps no cross thoroughfare near the central section of Manhattan giving more evidence of activity than 33d st, particularly the block between Broadway and 5th av, which is now in a state of transition so far as property values and structural conditions are affected. While the primary cause of this quickening has been held to be due to the proximity of the Pennsylvania and McAdoo tunnel stations, it is now maintained that the growing demand for new buildings on the block in question is more directly traceable to the recent business occupation of 5th av as well as 34th st.

Among the new structures in course of erection may be mentioned the 12-sty Manger Building, at 30 to 34 West 33d st, running through to Nos. 29 to 35 West 32d st, covering an area of about 15,000 square feet, the cost of which will be about $900,000. Three years ago the property was sold in foreclosure for $535,000, and as the price paid in the last transaction was about $750,000, the total operation involves the expenditure of $1,650,000.

Diagonally across the street, at No. 41, and running through to 34th st, another building for Child's restaurant is approaching completion. Included in the list of new buildings projected is an improvement that will affect Nos. 35 to 39, the ownership of which was recently acquired by interests represented by Julian Benedict. The parcel is 67.10x98.9, and upon the site it is planned to erect a 12-sty commercial building. The present occupants of the property have received 30 days' notice to move.

Another operation of some magnitude will be the improvement of Nos. 60 and 62 West 33d st and 1270 to 1280 Broadway, the southeast corner of 33d st, by the Isman interests of Philadelphia. It is true that a few tenants have vacated buildings in 33d st on account of rumors of tunnel building in that street by the cut-and-cover method, but these vacancies have been filled with stronger business concerns, and the occurrence may be said to have been more beneficial in its effect than otherwise.

The dwellings on the block that have been remodeled into business buildings are largely occupied by stock brokers, tailors, millinery establishments, art and curio dealers, but a broker says that as the old five and ten-year leases expire the parcels find ready buyers. This condition has more or less communicated itself to the block east of 5th av, which has evinced signs of unusual activity during the past six months.

On the block east of Broadway rental rates this year for stores have varied from $4,500 to $5,000 per annum, and studios and offices bring all the way from $1,500 to $2,500 each. One of the largest owners of realty on this block is the estate of John Jacob Astor, which owns the fees of Nos. 2 to 28 West 33d st, upon which it was rumored last week that a modern business building would be erected. Nearly all the leases affecting this property practically expire within the next five years. The effect of the above changes is manifesting itself in the gradual increase in lot values in 33d st, which has been the subject of much discussion during the spring.

More Improvements in 42d Street.

With the completion of the new Murray restaurant in 42d st, between 7th and 8th avs, as well as the alterations planned by Frank J. Cassidy for Nos. 229 and 231, immediately opposite, which latter place will be reconstructed into a modern office building, with stores on the first and second stories, and the 7-sty fireproof business building which Robert Miller's Sons, of 643 8th av, will erect on the 50-ft. plot at Nos. 244-246 for their own occupancy, the block in question will have undergone a considerable improvement over its present ragged appearance.

Reconstruction of the Brooklyn Bridge Terminal.

The Bridge Commissioner has been authorized to begin proceedings to acquire title in fee simple absolute to real estate and rights necessary for the reconstruction of the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn bridge, including unexpired terms of leases, so far as these are not now owned by the city, through condemnation proceedings. Much of the property is already owned by the city but is leased to various parties for business purposes. It includes all the arches from No. 5 to No. 29, between Pearl and William sts, and all the vaults between William and Park row, except "South Vault," the building known as 73 Park row and 19 and 21 Park row. The general specifications for the reconstruction are as follows:

The reconstruction of the present terminal is for the purpose of connecting the bridge railway traffic with a subway station in Center st to the north of the present bridge terminal, and to afford better facilities for trolley railway and elevated railway traffic at the bridge.

There will be a depressed approach through the present bridge terminal, to include changes in direction and grade of the elevated railway tracks and alterations in the steel and masonry construction to permit carrying elevated railway or subway trains under the station on a descending grade to Park row and Center st.

The ground floor of the terminal will provide a clear passageway for pedestrians without the necessity of crossing railway tracks. There will be numerous stairways from this floor to the trolley railway terminal on the floor above. On the first floor above the ground floor will be constructed an eight-loop trolley terminal, involving changes in the direction and grade of the present trolley railway tracks in the terminal, and changes in the present structure.

Crossing Center st and Park row will be a foot bridge, permitting entrance to the station from the westerly side of Center st and City Hall Park. Stairways will be constructed, leading from this foot bridge to the bridge elevated railway terminal above, and means of access will also be provided to the City Hall station of the 3d av elevated railway line.

On the floor above the trolley terminal will be constructed a four-pocket stub-end terminal, for the use of elevated railway traffic originating at the bridge. This terminal will accommodate trains of six-car lengths and will involve changes in the construction of tracks, switches and signals. This, with the subway connection, will provide for the maximum traffic capacity of the bridge.

An ornamental facade will be constructed on the Park row face of the station structure.

Uses of Hydrated Lime.

Hydrated lime is an article that is coming into the market rapidly, although in this country its use is in its infancy. This is not the case in foreign countries, for it has been used for centuries in Russia, England, Germany and many other foreign countries. The buildings erected by the use of this product are very fine and are much better than those of countries where lime is slaked and immediately used. Hence, architects need have no fear of advocating its extensive use.

Some of the special and particular properties of this new material are enumerated in a paper prepared by Peter Martin, president of the National Lime Manufacturers' Association, and read at the Ohio Builders' Supply Convention at Columbus. For example:

Hydrated lime can also be used to a great advantage in various kinds of cement work. An objection has been made by brick layers to the laying of brick in cement mortar because of a difficulty of handling it with the trowel. This difficulty has been overcome without any detriment whatever to the work by the use of a small proportion of hydrated lime. It makes the mortar work smoothly under the trowel and thus increases the number of bricks that can be laid per man, and it makes a more durable job and one that resists moisture. The trouble heretofore experienced in making waterproof walls of concrete is almost entirely overcome by the use of hydrated lime. In the past we have had to resort to the covering of concrete cellar and curbed walls with tars and asphalts in order to make them waterproof. From recent experiments, it has been found that when perfectly dry hydrated lime and cement are mixed and then the aggregates applied an almost perfect waterproof wall is produced. Recently a gas manufacturer erected a tank built of cement and sand alone. He filled the tank for a month and the water all leaked out. Then he went to work and put a new lining inside about 8 inches thick all around, including the bottom, using one part lime, two parts cement and three parts sand, and in this way his tank was a success.

Cuba Confident.

The present issue of Dun's International Review, in both its English and Spanish editions, is devoted very largely to setting forth the conditions that exist to-day in the island of Cuba. The keynote of the numerous articles, written expressely for this number by leading business men in every part of the island, is one of buoyant optimism. In spite of the fact that Cuba looks back upon 1906 as one of its bad years—marked by insurrection, drought, floods and serious shortages in its two great crops, sugar and tobacco—the contributors without exception anticipate a brilliant future for its industries and commerce.

Even now there is a chance in Cuba for American cement and a few other American building materials, and when the island population shall have "got the habit" of pushing ahead, there will be moderate opportunities there for various other kinds of American material, and even for builders.

The Sandusky Portland Cement Co., of Sandusky, O., has just made a shipment of a carload of their Medusa waterproof compound to the water works department of the municipality of Bombay, India, and we are advised that the material will be used in a cement mortar coat to be applied to the interior walls and floor of the Malabar Hill reservoir at that place. This is probably the largest reservoir on the continent and the adoption of this waterproof compound by the engineer in charge is a high compliment to the product.

A New Hudson River Town.

Wood, Harmon & Co. have scored a success with their new Hudson River property, situated near the village of Croton-on-the-Hudson. This property was purchased before the New York Central had decided to put the electric terminal of the Hudson Division at Croton, and was obtained at a comparatively low price. The old Van Cortlandt estate, one of the most picturesque in Westchester County, which has been in the Van Cortlandt family for over 200 years, is the site of this operation.

Out of a total of 1,407 lots in the first section, amounting in all to $700,000, only 50 lots remain. These were sold in three weeks' time. The size of residence lots is 25x125, and the original price of these varied from $190 to $480, according to location. Irregular plots laid out along the Croton and on the hills toward the Croton dam, containing approximately from one-fourth to two acres, were sold as villa sites. These brought from $1,400 to $2,000, according to the view and amount of land in each plot. Another section is laid out in bungalow sites. These are situated around a natural lake on the property, and were priced from $140 up. Business buildings will be restricted to that portion of the new town lying along the Albany post road and west to the Hudson River. Lots in this section sold from $540 up.

Plans have been drawn for five houses costing on an average $5,000 each, and we are informed that a large number of other purchasers have signified their intention of building at once. For their convenience the company's architect will draw up plans and give any necessary assistance. A Japanese tea house, built almost entirely of rough stone, among the pines on the Croton, will be finished within two weeks.

There is every indication that Harmon will be a distinctly home town, as the amount of property purchased by speculators was exceedingly small. Every lot commands a view of the Hudson River, and those visiting Harmon immediately became enthusiastic. This fact can be appreciated when it is known that over 30 per cent. of the visitors were purchasers.

Mr. Clifford B. Harmon is giving this property his special attention, and high-class improvements will be provided at the expense of the company. Over 20,000 square feet of cement sidewalks have already been laid, and gutters are in on the main boulevard. Work on the balance is rapidly progressing, and before fall almost all that has been promised will have been completed.

Engineers will soon begin surveying and laying out Mme. Nordica's Temple of Music, which is to be located on a high hill overlooking the Croton dam, the Hudson River and the surrounding country. This site contains twenty acres, and the famous singer proposes to found here a musical institution similar to Bayreuth, where the Wagner Opera House is situated.

As "Harmon" is at the terminal of the New York Central's electric line, every train on the road will be obliged to stop here.

Cessation in Seventh Avenue Realty Trading.

The cessation of active trading in Seventh avenue property between 33d and 42d sts, but more particularly in the immediate vicinity of the Pennsylvania terminal, is said by real estate brokers to be attributable to the uncertainty on the part of speculators as to the ultimate effect which that mammoth undertaking is likely to exert on values along the thoroughfare in question. It is not thought that a resumption of the noticeable buying which occurred on the avenue last fall will take place until operators are reasonably convinced that the future income from rentals in that vicinity will warrant further advances in land values.

Brokers who make a specialty of property in the district mentioned affirm that many of the parcels which figured in recent speculative purchases barely earn enough to pay present carrying charges. This being the case, it is reasoned by operators that investments in Seventh av property at prevailing prices offer little inducement, and that until something of a definite nature occurs it is best to play a "waiting game."

Among the recent purchases on the avenue is that of the northeast corner of 33d st, a plot of about 3,900 sq. ft., which brought about $435,000, and the sale of Nos. 433 to 437, including 162 West 34th st, the three parcels containing a total of about 5,629 sq. ft., for which it was reported the buyers paid a sum approaching $338,000. The latest quotation for lots on the west side of the avenue between 34th and 35th sts is $4,000 per front foot, and between 35th and 41st sts $3,000 per front foot. During 1905 Judson T. Francis paid $230,000 at auction for the northeast corner of 36th st, 96.9x75, which parcel was sold later to D. O. Mills for $252,000.

Stores on the avenue between 34th and 41st sts bring from $50 to $125 monthly, on short leases, nearly all containing what is known as a "breaking" clause. Up to the present time the improvements made on Seventh av between 34th and 42d streets have all been in the nature of hotels. At the northwest corner of 36th st is the Hotel York, and immediately opposite, on the northeast corner, is the unfinished Mills Hotel. At the southwest corner of 38th st is situated the imposing Hotel Navarre, and on the same side of the way, adjoining the southwest corner of 42d st, is located the 12-sty "Hermitage," which was recently completed.

So far as can be judged from present indications, everything points to the erection of more hotels on Seventh av north of the Pennsylvania terminal, with perhaps a few mercantile buildings when the improvement of the surrounding section has sufficiently progressed. One fact upon which both brokers and operators agree is that nothing but high-class structures will be erected on the sites now covered by the old brick and stone buildings.

Possibilities of Danger.

SHOULD THE UTILITIES LAW HAVE THE EFFECT OF INTIMIDATING CAPITAL, MR. PYLE THINKS ITS EFFECT IN BROOKLYN ESPECIALLY WOULD BE SEVERE.

Mr. Howard C. Pyle, of the firm of Howard C. Pyle & Co., 199 Montague street, Brooklyn, states that the general condition and outlook for Brooklyn real estate never was better. There has no doubt been some cessation during the past six months in the unusual activity that has prevailed in Brooklyn real estate for the past three years, but Mr. Pyle considers that it is due largely to the less favorable monetary situation.

One thing is sure, in Mr. Pyle's judgment—that the pace was too rapid to be healthy, and while the brokers for the past few months may not have been making quite so many commissions as they were in the two years prior, they will, in the long run, reap better results than if the activity had kept up, for there was bound to be an end to it sooner or later, and the sooner the better. Mr. Pyle considers that Brooklyn values today are on a more firm and solid basis than they ever have been.

One of the best proofs of this is from the fact that there is persistent and steady demand for Brooklyn realty of all classes at better prices than could be obtained six months or a year ago, and yet there is no supply at all at these prices. In spite of the slight quietude that has overcome the realty market, there has been a most consistent and steady increase in values all along the line, and I look for a continuance of this stiffening in values for many years to come.

The buyers of real estate naturally hate to pay higher prices than they could have obtained the same properties for a few months ago, and it will take a little time for them to wake up to the fact that the value in Brooklyn realty actually exists. When one thinks for a moment how wonderfully Brooklyn has grown under the most adverse conditions, such as no other city in the entire United States has been compelled to put up with, in the modes of ingress and egress, it is incalculable what the results will be when we get normal conditions on these lines, which it seems that after a long and tedious wait we are about to acquire; and I have more faith to-day in Brooklyn realty values than I ever had before, and I am very glad that the emotional boom has somewhat subsided.

In Brooklyn the building outlook is regarded as very good. In Mr. Pyle's view there is no difficulty for substantial and legitimate builders in getting all the money they require for building operations. There is considerable talk about the holding back of the subway from the Battery, but Brooklyn has been so patient and long suffering that he thinks a delay of a few months will not affect the situation as to values in any degree.

The Utilities bill, in his judgment, will not have any effect on realty values unless it should be grossly mismanaged and abused, which he does not fear under the present administration.

But it is a measure that I do believe can be made very dangerous for the community at large. It is a pretty serious proposition to consider how a lawyer, statesman, banker or politician who is not familiar with all the ramifications of running a railroad can dictate to those of experience as to what should be done in operating it. Provided that honest, capable and public-spirited men can be induced to accept the commissionerships, the utilities measure might work out to be a benefit to the public, but in my judgment, it is a pretty ticklish situation, and should it have the effect of intimidating capital from investing in public corporations, which I am very fearful of, the results to the community in general, including real estate, will be most disastrous and suicidal, and a little time only will work out the problem.

Regarding the list plan of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange, as to weeding out the fake land boomers, Mr. Pyle thinks it is an excellent idea. He agrees that there are a great many legitimate and clean land developments in Queens and Nassau counties, but there are intermingled with these, unfortunately, a great number that it would pay the public to carefully investigate before investing their hard-earned cash; and he believes that the Long Island Real Estate Exchange can effect excellent results if they pursue the method as outlined, namely, in blacklisting the concerns that will not pass muster in their business methods.

Architects at Dinner—Draughtsmen Forming a Club.

At the first annual dinner of the Architectural Bowling League, held at "The St. Denis," about 100 representatives of the nine firms forming the league were present. Mr. M. L. J. Scheffer, the president of the league, presented the trophies won during the past season. The first prize, a bronze reproduction of the famous Warwick vase, was won by the team representing the office of Carrere & Hastings. Prizes for high team score, high individual average and three-men team were also awarded.

After the presentation of prizes, Mr. Aldrich, of McKim, Mead & White, broached the subject of organizing a draughtsmen's club for social and professional purposes, similar to clubs now existing in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis. Mr. Cass Gilbert, Mr. Fenner, of McKim, Mead & White, and Mr. Brainard, of Carrere & Hastings, spoke, expressing their approval of the project, and offered any support in their power which might be needed.

A call has been issued to the principal architectural offices in New York that each send a representative to a meeting to discuss ways and means looking to the formation of the Draughtsmen's Club.

A Little Dull in Manhattanville.

Walter B. Simpson, manager of the uptown office of Pease & Elliman, at 3140 Broadway, says that owners of flat property on Broadway in the vicinity of 125th st, are making strenuous efforts to dispose of their holdings, which seems to be due to the unsatisfactory rentals obtained. So dull has the sales market been in this section some property owners have entertained propositions to exchange. In this connection it may be said that the consensus of opinion as to the real cause of the temporary stagnation lies in the overbuilding of the cheaper grade of apartments.

A 14th Street Improvement.

The facing of Indiana limestone and brick being used in the construction of the 12-sty store and loft building at 116 and 118 West 14th st is completed up to and including the 9th floor. Samuel Weil, of 196 Franklin st, is the owner, who, it will be remembered, recently erected the large warehouse at northwest cor of Beach and Greenwich sts. Louis Korn, of 5th av and 34th st, was the architect in both undertakings.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

DULLNESS has prevailed during the week in the Stock Market and there have been few new or important developments. But 240,000 shares were dealt in on Wednesday and at times the ticker moved at long and uncertain intervals. Some significance, however, may be attached to the large engagements of gold for export. Some say that the movement may reach $50,000,000 before the first of October. This would include the amount that Berlin is said to need. Europe has been selling us back many millions of our securities largely on account of its view of Union Pacific financing and the controversy between that railroad's interests and the Federal government. The general soundness of business throughout the country reduces any anxiety that may be felt at the specie shipments from this side to a minimum. Time was when a few millions of gold sent abroad would cause an immediate slump in stocks, but now the market is not affected. Some surprise and disappointment were expressed at the Reading directors, who adjourned without action on the dividend. The fact that there was no quorum was looked upon by some traders as based on the pending litigation in the Federal courts in connection with the combination of the coal roads, but other authorities said that there was no intention of increasing the dividend. All declarations of dividends, however, sink into insignificance compared with the action of the Adams Express Company in announcing a distribution to their stockholders of $24,000,000 forty-year 4 per cent. bonds, which is equivalent to a dividend of 200 per cent. on the capital stock. To do this the Adams Express Company has to amend the articles of its association. The express company's action is forced by the new law which declares express companies to be common carriers, which are now obliged to make to the Interstate Commerce Commission a full statement, including capital stock and surplus. Such a prodigious amount of surplus for distribution among stockholders in a single company is unprecedented in the history of the financial world. Money rates have hardened and they are not likely to recede. Call money touched 3½, though some loans have been effected at 2¾. Time money rates have also advanced, which will not be good news to real estate and building interests, but changes may come suddenly and unexpectedly.

THE owners of the coöperative apartment house in West Sixty-seventh Street, who are in difficulties concerning the tenement house law, are only getting their deserts. Any lawyer could have told them that a ten-story apartment house erected on a narrow street such as Sixty-seventh Street was a violation of the law, and the fact that the owners of the earlier buildings erected on the same street escaped the consequences of their temerity in conniving at the violation of the law, was no excuse for a continuation of the process. The whole incident is a curious one, inasmuch as large and responsible financial institutions have been induced to lend hundreds of thousands of dollars on what were substantially illegal buildings. The plans of the coöperative apartment houses erected in West Sixty-seventh Street were all filed as hotels, instead of tenements, and their occupation by their tenants was subsequently permitted on the ground that being hotels, they did not need to conform to the tenement house law. As a matter of fact, however, they were always, in the legal meaning of the term, tenement houses, because there were fourteen apartments in each building provided with kitchens. At the previous session of the Legislature a bill was passed which legalized the first three of these buildings, but the fourth building has been left out in the cold, and its tenants will be obliged to obtain their meals from a common kitchen. All the coöperative apartment houses subsequently erected on the East Side and elsewhere have conformed to the law in this respect; but it is certainly extraordinary that so many people could be found in New York who would invest money in an illegal building. Hereafter the coöperate apartment house will be built under the provisions of the tenement house law, and the perils of the people who invest in them will be derived from other sources. In the opinion of the Record and Guide the planning of these buildings is certainly being overdone, and the public should be warned from going into these enterprises without examining very closely into the details of the financial arrangements. In almost every case the enterprise is promoted by some speculator who furnishes the preliminary expenses and who expects his remuneration from the resulting profits. It is right, of course, that the man who does all the preliminary work and takes the risks involved should be compensated, but the tendency is for the promoter to take an even larger share of the profits. A possible result is that the stockholders get a constantly smaller share, and the financial standing of the whole enterprise and its ability to weather a period of poor renting become more precarious.

THE most important question before the Building Code Revision Commission has been raised by the following amendment, which has been suggested by Mr. John W. Hamilton, and which was published last week in the Record and Guide among other amendments proposed by Mr. Hamilton. This clause reads as follows: "All buildings hereafter erected of any height or class whatsoever in certain specified congested areas, and all buildings over three stories or 50 feet in height within the fire limits, should have all walls, floors, columns and partitions of fireproof construction. All material entering into the construction and upon which the strength or stability of the building depends, should be protected by at least 1½ inches of fireproof material on all surfaces." The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is obvious. It would forbid the erection of non-fireproof tenements or business buildings within the fire limits. In certain residential areas private dwellings three stories in height could be built, which need not be fireproof; but with this exception there would be no combustible buildings, barring an occasional taxpayer, within the fire limits. If this amendment can be incorporated in the new code, it will mean that New York will, in the course of the next generation, became an uninflammable city, that the insurance rates will be substantially reduced, that life and property will become much more secure, and that the American metropolis will finally have reached the European standard of building construction. The benefits, that is, would be enormous, and really the only question to be considered is whether they would be obtained at too high a price. The economic effects of such a higher and more expensive standard of construction would undoubtedly be very serious. It would mean an increase of at least 20 per cent. in the cost of the ordinary tenement and a corresponding increase in rentals, and this would mean, of course, either more congestion in Manhattan or a further shifting of population to residences outside the fire limits. Before consequently any such provision is introduced into the new code a careful inquiry should be made as to its probable influence on rents and population.

IN obtaining permission from the Legislature to erect an office building over the new terminal for the Brooklyn Bridge adjoining City Hall Park, the city government has adopted what is substantially a wise measure of economy. The city is acquiring title to these three little blocks at a very heavy expense for terminal purposes, and the erection of an office building over the terminal will enable the city to obtain a large amount of office space at what will be comparatively a small expense. The many city departments which now inhabit the Stewart and the Park Row buildings could be concentrated in the new building with the result of an actual saving to the city in its expenditure for rent, and with the result also of making the transaction of the city's business easier both for its officials and for the public. It is to be hoped, however, that the benefit of this saving will not either wholly or in part be thrown away by an extravagance in the cost of construction similar to that which was permitted in the case of the Hall of Records. The new building should be designed with the same economical considerations in mind as those which a private investor would show in erecting an office building upon an analogous site. There is no need of architectural display in the ordinary meaning of the phrase. Indeed the use of the lower part of the building as a railway terminal makes either very expensive materials or many ornamental architectural features inappropriate and unnecessary, and in truth genuine propriety of architectural effect will be promoted by a simple method of design. In order to obtain anywhere near as much space as it needs, the city must erect a skyscraper on the plot, and it will have to be as much of a skyscraper as possible. Ordinary architectural ornament or very expensive materials are really out of place on a building twenty-five or more stories high. Such a building is substantially a tower, and it should be designed as a tower. A towering structure, rising sheer on the margin of the City Hall Park, and built on every side to the line of the street, would be architecturally very impressive, even if constructed as it should be, of brick and terra cotta. During ex-Mayor Low's administration, Mr. Hornbostel, of Palmer & Hornbostel, drew the design of a very effective tower for this very site, and the Board of Estimate could not do better than to accept these sketches. Any skyscraper which the city erects would have to resemble the building which Mr. Hornbostel designed, and it would only be fair to that skilful architect to allow him the privilege of carrying out his original conception.

THE CITY administration should certainly consider carefully the advisability of allowing another telephone company to do business in Manhattan. The Record and Guide is unable to understand in what way the public interest would be benefited by competition in the telephone business. The plain fact is that if the new company is granted a franchise, it will invest many million dollars in building up another plant and another service, and in the end the expense of this additional construction will have to be borne by the people who use the telephones. The fact is that a new service will become a public nuisance and expense, just in proportion as it is successful. So far as it succeeds in getting subscribers, it will force every business firm to install two telephone systems, and even if each of these telephones should individually be less expensive, their joint cost would assuredly be greater. Moreover, the installation of two telephone systems in the big modern office would be an unmitigated nuisance. It would mean the expense of two operators and two instruments on every important desk, and all this duplication would result only in confusion and in delay. There is absolutely nothing to be gained by competition of this character. If there is any municipal service which is essentially a natural monopoly, that description applies to the telephone service. After a few years of the confusion incident to the establishment of a new system, public opinion would assuredly demand the abolition of such useless competition and a return to existing conditions; but in that case the subscribers would have to pay for the new wires, the new conduits, the new central stations, and the new organization. It is obvious, consequently, that before the new franchise is granted, the Board of Estimate should cause a very careful calculation to be made. It should obtain an estimate of the cost of installing a new system as comprehensive and as efficient as the existing system, and then it should figure out who will pay the cost of this service. For a while part of the additional expense might be borne by the existing company, because that company would have to reduce its rates somewhat; but in the end the public would have to pay. If the city has any grievance against the existing company, apart from the fact that it enjoys a monopoly, that grievance should be stated and if possible appeased; but should the fact of the monopoly be the only grievance, it is impossible to justify the granting of a new system, because the telephone business is one in which a properly regulated monopoly actually conduces to the public interest.

—The Municipal Civil Service Commission will hold an examination June 27 to fill the position of Inspector of Sewer Construction, at a salary of $4 a day. Age limit, 21 years. Frank A. Spencer is secretary.

"Out-of-Town Capital Coming to Brooklyn."

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I have read the opinions of some of our most eminent real estate brokers in your columns, and respect the opinions of some of them highly in regard to the future of real estate in Kings County. Some time ago I inserted an advertisement in one of our leading papers—"Wake Up, B'klynite, Wake Up, now is the time to Buy Real Estate." It was a difficult proposition to get Brooklyn people interested. I finally put my proposition to out-of-town people, especially from Pittsburgh, who purchased large tracts of real estate, and after a short time I was able to sell the same property to the Brooklyn people at a handsome profit.

After investigating our property, the outsider could see that we were giving away gold dollars for thirty cents. Then the Brooklyn people began to wake up. We are living in a different age than years ago. We have at the head of our city departments, representing Kings County, men who are progressive; men who do more than keep on talking about doing things, but act and perform for the interest of our borough; men who are sincere, which has been demonstrated recently as to rapid transit.

Of course, it takes time. I can show you an article written about 30 years ago by a prominent banker who mentioned the future of our city, bridges, tunnels, which all will be in operation in less than two years. Any man who has lived in Brooklyn cannot help but admire our borough, especially in the manner in which it has progressed the past few years. I want to say there is no section of the Union where an investment in real estate presents such possibilities as in the Borough of Brooklyn at the present time.

There is a chance for all, from the man of small means who may procure his little home or a cheap plot as the nucleus for one, to the large operator who can purchase the undeveloped and develop to any extent, and for the investor in districts where he may secure a large return on his investment and where the ever-increasing population will further increase that income and enhance the value of property.

The real estate business may in the near future be not so active, but, however, it is only a matter of a short period when all the undeveloped section will be improved in certain sections where lots are selling from $500 up within 30 minutes' ride to Manhattan. It seems at present prices that it is only a question of profitable return.

Is "Original" Property the Cheapest?

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I am surprised at the number of shrewd operators who ask me, when I offer them a parcel, "Has it been transferred recently?" If I answer in the affirmative, many of them will not even consider the property, or look into the merits of the same, but will say, "Bring me original stuff." If I would follow their advice the chances are that the so-called "original" stuff would be the highest priced. If Father Adam's family still held lots in the Garden of Eden I feel sure that they would be the most expensive in the vicinity. ""We've held it so long," they would say, "and have had so much trouble with it, we might as well hold it a little longer, or get our price."

That holds good to-day. The average property owner knows what it is worth, and the old-timer feels that it is worth more to him than to an operator and he charges accordingly. Don't forget that he is as independent as a wood-sawyer, too, in most cases. On the other hand, look at the operator's property. Unlike the old-timer, he is not buying for investment. Like a sea gull hovering over the ocean waves, he is scanning the hundreds of juicy, big, fat fish, allowing them to go their way in peace, until he sees just the one he wants. The energy of dozen of brokers is spent ransacking all over New York in order that he can get a bargain. Is it a wonder that he generally does so?

When the operator has made his purchase, he wants to sell, and sell quickly. That is his business, and he can afford to sell for a reasonable profit, the same as any other merchant. Isn't it logical that you can buy his property for as little, at least, as that which has not changed hands for a number of years?

Brokers want a "fair deal." If I submit a proposition I want the buyer to look at the value of it, and if it is a bargain, I want his business. I don't want him to discard it because some one else got there first. Remember, ten transfers a year, with an average of $500 profit on each, may not mean as much profit as one transfer in ten years.

Development of Structural Iron in Recent Building Construction

FACTS RECALLED BY THE DEATH OF W. L. B. JENNEY

AFTER a long illness, William Le Baron Jenney, of Chicago, died of paralysis on June 14, at Los Angeles, Cal., aged 74. Mr. Jenney retired from practice three years ago, in Chicago, following a severe illness, and went to California to reside. In the long period of his activity he was highly preferred as an architect, and was one of the leaders in the architectural revolution from which arose the modern steel-skeleton building. In the reconstruction of Chicago after the fire it fell to him to carry on great works, and his name became linked with the genesis of skyscrapers, but he was not their inventor.

Minneapolis and not Chicago—nor New York—was the birthplace of the skyscraper. Hence the Chicago dispatches of last Saturday containing statements such as the following from the Times are instances of a boastful city taking more credit to itself than is lawful:

The Home Insurance Building designed by Mr. Jenney was not only the first of the steel construction buildings of the world, but it opened the way for a long list of requirements in fine office buildings, such as wind bracing, thorough fireproofing, rapid, safe elevators, light and well ventilated rooms, modern plumbing and tile vaults.

Reference is made in the foregoing to the Home Insurance Company's building at Adams and La Salle sts, Chicago, which was constructed during the years 1884-5. But the Home Building is not of the type of modern braced skeleton construction, nor was it the first of the type to which it belongs. It has simply iron columns built into walls and piers for the support of walls and floors above. It has party walls of solid brick, but no braced skeleton and no veneer on shelves. At the base the piers are six feet thick.

It is, in a word, of similar construction to the West Hotel at Minneapolis, which Mr. L. R. Buffington, of Minneapolis, finished the year before the Home Building was started, and is also similar to the once famed Boston Block at Minneapolis, which appeared in 1880-1 from Buffington's plans. All three have practically the same form of construction.

The Tower Building at 50 Broadway, Manhattan, which was completed in 1888-9, alleges itself to be "the earliest example of the skeleton construction" though the entire front was constructed independently of brick, and otherwise it has iron columns let into and secured to old party walls for six stories, and atop of these is erected a 5-sty brick building in the ordinary way. (See Record and Guide, Feb. 23, 1907.)

What is understood as "skeleton construction" is a framework of iron or steel columns which carry the weight of the outer enclosing brick walls together with the floors down to the foundations at initial points. In contradistinction, the "cage" construction is a framework of iron and steel columns which carry the floors only. With a problem of going higher than eight or ten stories the cage construction was a natural one to adopt, particularly in Chicago, where the compressible bottom will not sustain lofty masonry walls. The World Building, in New York, erected in the year 1890, is a prominent example of the cage construction, and it is stretching matters too far to assert that either the West Hotel at Minneapolis or the Home Building in Chicago belongs to the same type as the World Building.

Time and again the ends of girders carrying floors had been supported on iron columns, so as to relieve too thin walls of the concentrated weight. Sometimes these columns had been placed directly against the brick wall, sometimes let into it for their depth and sometimes wholly concealed within the brickwork. For what is now known as the modern "steel-skeleton" type of construction, consisting of the continuous braced skeleton of metal, the tapering post, the laminated column, the fireproofing material protecting the metal, the shelves secured to the framing at each story, the veneer walls, the braces, the girders, beams and angle plates, a patent was granted by the U. S. Government to Leroy S. Buffington, of Chicago, in 1888.

About the time that the Tower Building was completed in New York, or to be exact, on September 11, 1889, plans were filed in New York by Messrs. J. C. Cady & Co., architects, for a 10-sty building in which steel Z-bar columns were used. This building was erected at 25 Pine st, on a lot 24.2x74.4, for the Lancashire Insurance Company, being finished in May, 1890. The Columbia Building, at 29 Broadway, northwest corner of Morris st, was up to the time of its completion the most prominent and successful steel-framed building that had been erected in New York. It is twelve stories in height and has a frontage of 29.9 on Broadway. The columns are of steel and the curtain walls are twelve inches thick. The drawings for the steel frame were prepared by Mr. P. Minturn Smith, president of the Union Iron Works, and it was chiefly through his instrumentality in showing the safety together with the economy of floor space in this form of construction that the owner of the Columbia lot was induced to adopt the skeleton construction.

"The stamp of American genius is on all three of the principal elements of lofty building construction," wrote the late William J. Fryer in "A Review of the Development of Structural Iron." These are: (1) The modern passenger elevator, (2) the flat-arch system of fireproof floors, (3) steel-skeleton construction. It was in the U. S. Post Office Building in New York, 1872-3, that for the first time in this or any other country hollow tile flat arches between iron floor beams were used. This was the invention of Balthaser Kreischer, a manufacturer of firebrick and well known in New York. He was not the inventor of the flat arch in itself, but of a flat arch whose end sections abut against rolled iron floor beams, thus forming a level ceiling underneath and a walking surface above.

The practice of engineers in bridge construction helped to clear the path which architects followed in overcoming difficulties incidental to constructing great buildings. Particularly is this true in the matter of foundations. First came footings of stone and concrete laid upon the earth, latterly the use of steel rails and beams in the form of grillage, and at length the crowning feat of carrying piers down through wet and soft earth of great depth to hardpan or bedrock by the pneumatic caisson process. The pneumatic caisson sinking for buildings was first used for the foundations of the Manhattan Life Insurance Building, New York, Messrs. Kimball & Thompson architects, in 1893.

But in general it may be said that the East learned the first principles, or caught the first idea of skyscraper building, from the West, though the East has added material improvements.

Mr. Jenney was an eminent architect, he was in the forefront of a great revolutionizing movement in the construction of buildings, but there were some of his contemporaries who were on an equal footing at least, and at least one preceded him in invention. Note what a tremendous stride in building construction has been taken in twenty years.

The Water Meter Troubles.

The Realty League of the City of New York is inviting the co-operation of real estate owners and agents in proceedings about to be taken to test the validity of the action of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity in installing water meters. The law gives the Commissioner power to install meters in stores and other property of a business nature. It was intended to apply to laundries, barber shops and similar places which use a great deal of water. In the past year or so, however, property owners have been driven to install these patented devices in stores of all sorts, and in dwellings, and even in places that use almost no water. A store for the sale of shoes or hardware or fancy articles or coal uses much less water than a flat with a toilet, sink and tubs, and it is absurd to meter the one and not the other.

It has been asserted at the Department that the law requires meters in all business property; this is not correct. The Commissioner has full discretion in the matter, and until within a year this discretion has always been exercised to order meters where they are really needed. Never until recently have they been required in places where the consumption is normal.

In addition, the circumstances connected with the installation of water meters are most surprising. A copy of the order from the Department is left at the premises, and generally with no explanation as to its importance. In some cases they have been left with illiterate janitors, and consequently have never reached the owners, regardless of the fact that the owner's or agent's name in some instance have been posted on the building. If the owner fails within thirty days to install the meter a permit is issued to a "city plumber." This functionary is not a responsible official, but a private employee of the Water Commissioner. Should this "city plumber" do the work of installing the meter as cheaply as a private plumber there would be no occasion for the effort the Realty League is making to secure the rights of property owners. Instead, however, his charges are in every case most exorbitant. He has his assistant to supervise the work of the journeyman; time is charged for at the highest rate while the workman is in the shop and on his way to and from the place in which the meter is to be installed, and they even charge for the average job sixty to eighty cents for candles.

Real estate owners and agents would do well to place in the hands of the Realty League the details of all cases where there have been excessive charges, in order that the matter may be brought to the attention of the courts. A test case is being prepared now, and the more cases the League knows about the better chance they will have of winning out.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

American Builders "Invade" England.

Manchester, England, June 15.—In no branch of activity is the so-called "American invasion" of Europe more significant than in the construction of big buildings. One of the latest coups of Yankee enterprise is the securing of the contract for putting in the floors of the mammoth infirmary at Manchester. This much-coveted contract, though sought by many British bidders, was awarded to an American concern, the National Fireproofing Company.

To get an adequate impression of the size of this infirmary one should imagine two New York City blocks used for one purpose. The whole establishment, which is really a series of separate but connected buildings, will cost about $10,000,000. It will be officially opened by King Edward. The same American company which is doing this work has also obtained the contracts for doing the floors and partitions of the Birmingham Telephone Exchange Building and the "Orleans" apartments in Liverpool.

For a long time the Britons, with their dislike for innovations, rebelled against the American steel frame. Finally, however, architects and engineers realized that the crowded conditions of English cities demanded some change in the general building scheme. Meanwhile builders in the United States had made such great advances in massive and fireproof construction that Americans had a great advantage in bidding upon the modern kind of buildings.

It has been some time since Mr. George Westinghouse upset traditions by the speed with which he erected his Manchester plant, and now the English people are growing used to seeing "rush" work. In London the steel frame and concrete or terra cotta protection, which distinguish the American buildings of the best type, are beginning to be a familiar sight. Scientific fireproofing has gained special favor since the erection of the Ritz Hotel in London.

The Sinking Criminal Courts.

Public Works Commissioner Thompson has appointed Daniel E. Moran, C. E., chief engineer of The Foundation Company, and Rudolph P. Miller, formerly chief engineer in the Manhattan Building Department, to make an investigation of the Criminal Courts Building in Centre st. It has been known for some time that there has been considerable settlements in the building, which is not to be wondered at, since the locality is the site of the old Collect Pond, and the neighborhood is notoriously a bad location for foundations.

DANIEL E. MORAN, C. E.

The block bounded by Centre, Franklin, Leonard and Elm sts, the site of the Criminal Court Building, formerly comprised the northwestern part of the Collect Pond, and it was at the southwest corner of White and Centre sts that the old Lispenard Creek entered into this pond. The latter started at about the west end of Canal st and North River. The Collect Pond known by the Dutch as the "Kolck," was a depressed bog-like pond on the present site of the Tombs in Centre st. The Tombs, years ago known as the "Hall of Justice," stands at about the centre of this pond, or lake—a celebrated resort for winter pastimes and mentioned in contemporaneous references as "a beautiful sheet of water."

In 1730 the region of Canal and Lispenard sts was only a marsh over 70 acres in area and covered with low bushes and swamp rubbish. In 1805 it was inspected, and then work began for filling it up. In some places this pond was about 50 feet deep. It had been recorded as a nusiance and menace to health on account of the dead animals put into it.

It will be the business of the engineers to examine into the whole matter and make recommendations as to what, if any, measures can be taken to repair the damage caused by the settlements and to prevent any continuance of the depressions. Incidentally the engineers will investigate what, if any, effect the construction of the Subway on Elm st has had on the building. Mr. Miller's extensive experience as engineer in the Building Department has brought him in contact with a great many questions involved in the city. Mr. Daniel E. Moran has been actively engaged in engineering and construction in New York City for many years past, and has been connected in an engineering capacity with probably more deep and difficult foundations than any other one engineer. He has acted as consulting engineer in connection with the Capitol at Albany, where somewhat similar conditions existed.

RUDOLPH P. MILLER, C. E.

Commissioner Thompson says there is no danger whatever of the building collapsing but he considers that the settling of the walls is a serious matter which will require skilful work to rectify. The foundations have sunk at least four inches in places, and there are many cracks in the walls of the interior court. The settling of the building has broken the capitals in some of the columns. The trouble is due to the rotting of the piles on which rest the foundations of the building.

Points on the Material Market.

The structural steel business shows no tendency to recede from its active position, and orders for small lots continue to come in in large numbers.

There is supposed to be but a small amount of unsold lath afloat headed this way, and should New York show a strong buying tendency during the next four weeks a $4 market can safely be predicted.

Yellow pine shows but little change within the month, though it is admitted on all sides that the mill position is less independent, and concessions are being made, particularly on small timber and boards.

The market for tin plates holds strong under a heavy demand for all positions. Mills are working to capacity and have sufficient business on their books to keep them busy for some time. Premiums are easily obtainable for prompt shipment.

Hemlock is firm and active in everything except what is known as New York sizes. The New York market is calling for very little stock, but the country trade is ordering freely on the basis of $22, which base price has prevailed now for many months.

Hardwoods show no change, with mahogany, ash, poplar and oak—both plain and quartered—well sold ahead at full prices. In view of the strain between supply and demand the chances are that none of these woods will show any weakening tendency within the next six months.

Apropos of the failure of Milliken Bros., the Iron Age says there is no feature concerning it more important than that prices for raw materials, and notably of basic pig iron, in the East, have been out of line during the last six months with the prices realized for finished products.

Hudson River bricks are more moderate in price, under heavy arrivals, though the consumption is heavy—between seventy and eighty cargoes going out weekly. Light hards have been cheap all season, as there has been very little demand for them, for the class of work now in hand calls mostly for the best stock.

Not so many "Harvard" bricks are being sold as two years ago, and the light shades again have the call for fronts.

George Brown & Co., cut stone contractors, 1123 Broadway, state that they note an appreciable improvement in conditions over those existing a month ago. Considerably more estimates are asked for, which denotes an increasing number of building projects which will come to light sooner or later. Some of these, of course, have been held back on account of the stringency of the money market, but nevertheless they show that there is something being planned, at least.

Building Operations.

Builders Figuring for the American Seamen's Home.

WEST ST.—Plans are now in the hands of builders, who are figuring the general contract for the new fireproof home, which the American Seamen's Friends Society, of 76 Wall st, is to establish at West and Jane sts, at an estimated cost of about $325,000. Among those bidding is the C. F. Bond Company, of 136 Liberty st. The structure is to be 8 stories in height, 35x165 ft. in size, and will provide for at least 300 sailors. Messrs. Boring & Tilton, of No. 32 Broadway, are the architects. At the northeast corner of Coenties Slip and South st, fronting Jeannette Park, the Seamen's Church Institute of the Port of New York will also erect, at a cost of $550,000, an institute building which, it is said, will be the largest sailors' home in the world. The price paid for the building site was $200,000. (For further particulars see issue Feb. 24, 1906.)

The Jones Construction Co. is now receiving estimates on various branches of the work. The building will cost, complete, about $250,000. Preliminary sketches were reported last March for a 20-sty office building to cover the whole block bounded by Broadway, 7th av, 41st and 42d sts. The New Amsterdam National Bank was named in connection with the project. (See also issue March 23, 1907.)

BUILDING NOTES

A superintendent is wanted in a builder's office. He must be capable of handling new and old construction and assist in estimating and soliciting. See Wants and Offers.

Owing to the demands of increased business the managers of the sales department of the Holophane Company have recently enlarged their office. They now occupy the eighth and ninth floors of the Glackner Building, 227 Fulton st, Manhattan.

Examinations will be held by the New York State Civil Service Commission on June 29 of candidates for the positions of assistant civil engineer and engineering examiner for the State Civil Service Commission. Application blanks can be secured from the Chief Examiner, Albany.

Clinton & Russell, the architects, have just specified East India mahogany trim of an unusually elaborate character for the first and second floors of the Lawyers' Title Insurance & Trust Company's building at Maiden lane and Broadway, and also similar East India mahogany trim in the first and second floors of the Edward Holbrook's building, which runs between 15 and 19 Maiden lane and 18 and 20 John st. Frank Freeman, the architect of the Mount Vernon Bank building now being erected, has specified East India mahogany for the entire trim throughout the building.

In relation to a report mentioned in the Times that the O'Rourke Engineering & Construction Company lost $600,000 on the New York Central contract recently surrendered to the company it may be said on good authority that the loss was much less than that, as the Construction Company sold its machinery and implements to the New York Central at something like $400,000. Mr. O'Rourke's friends may rest assured that he is not worrying over this loss, but is enjoying life as usual, doing a lot of work and spending as much time as he can spare at his country seat on Long Island.

Italian Immigration to America.

ITALIAN immigration into the United States has grown rapidly in twenty-seven years. It was only in 1880 that the number of Italian immigrants exceeded 100,000, and from that time Italian immigration has constantly increased. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, it reached 273,100—taking the head of the column over all nationalities which contribute to form the large stream of immigration to this country.

The larger percentage of Italians coming into the United States are uneducated, and it is rare that any are found who understand English. These people are not alone uneducated, but poor—so poor that to live they must find employment immediately upon landing.

From the immigrants' ignorance of the English language on the one hand, and the demand for labor on the other, arises the necessity for agents, to act as intermediaries between the two classes. And these agents, with but few exceptions, take advantage both of the ignorance and poverty of the immigrants and the necessities of the American employers by charging exorbitant fees both to the laborers and to the people employing them. At the present time some of these agencies are charging only the applicants for work, not the employers; but, in one way or another, they always manage principally to exploit the newcomers.

Struck by this condition of affairs some American gentlemen last year decided to form an organization for the purpose of creating a labor exchange, the first aim of which would be to act as a free intermediary between those seeking employment and those who would employ them. These Americans are Mr. Augustus A. Healy, of New York; Mr. Giovanni P. Morosini, banker, of New York; the late Mr. Joseph Ratti, of Bloomsburg, Pa.; Mr. Joseph Tuoti and Mr. C. A. Aimone. The Record and Guide is indebted to a correspondent for some statistics of the work:

The office was opened in April, 1906, under the name of "Labor Information Office for Italians," at its present address, No. 59 Lafayette st., New York City; and, although it threatened some rather powerful interests, from the date of its opening up to June, 1907, it had secured employment for 7,194 persons, of which number 2,493 were employed in the last five months. Also during this last period 319 employers made application for help, and 5,532 Italians were advised as to the condition of work, wages, etc.

It must be remembered that the organization is as yet but little known among Americans, and it is hoped that in the not very distant future the number of employers applying to the labor information office for Italians will be greatly increased.

The office has still another aim, which is of national interest—the distribution of newcomers throughout the United States. It is well known that most of the Italians coming to this country settle in the large cities of the East, while they would be of much better use to their new fatherland if they would go to the Western and Southern agricultural regions.

The Labor Information Office for Italians does its best to assist any who express a desire to devote themselves to agricultural pursuits, giving them detailed information as to the most suitable sections of the United States, etc. Great results from this branch of the work cannot be expected, because the financial circumstances of Italian immigrants prevent them from grasping all the opportunities that the United States offer to those willing to become farmers. The extreme poverty of these people prohibits their either buying lands or waiting for crops to grow; for they must live in the meantime.

Notwithstanding the difficult circumstances attending the work, the office hopes in time to succeed in placing a good number of the newcomers in the agricultural districts of the United States.

A Conflagration which Increased Real Estate Values.

Last Sunday afternoon's conflagration on Madison avenue had the singular effect of producing elation in the minds of everybody concerned, so far as heard from. Property owners of the immediate neighborhood and the whole surrounding section are inexpressibly pleased, and will continue to be pleased if the traction company does not rebuild the car barn that had become very hideous, and a decided detriment to residential property interests.

As the property has been in the market for sale for several years, it is not believed that the company will rebuild. As a business proposition it would be extravagant to provide storage for so few as fifty cars, which was the capacity of the barn, at an annual cost of a sum equal to the interest at 5 per cent. of the market value of the property, plus taxes, insurance and other charges.

Some time ago the company agreed to give immediate possession to the property if an acceptable offer should be made. It is understood that the asking price is $1,250,000. That values in the vicinity have been increased owing to the destruction of the unsightly building is generally conceded. A less expensive site for a carbarn could be easily found if the company cannot do without the storage space.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

The number of private sales for the week is small when compared with the volume of trading for the preceding period. Several purchases of plots in the older sections of Manhattan were effected with the view of improving them in the near future. Among the larger downtown purchases may be mentioned the sale of a block front on the north side of Stanton st, between Mangin and Tompkins, the sale of No. 45 Murray st, in the hardware section, and the resale of 441-443 Water st. In upper Harlem a 6-sty elevator apartment in 124th st, near Broadway, figured in an exchange, and on Washington Heights several apartments of a similar type changed hands. Over in the Bronx lots and 2-family houses still continue to be a feature. The total number of private sales is 95, 30 south of 59th st, 34 north, and 31 in the Bronx.

The old Church Street Police Station, at the northeast cor of Church and Liberty sts, has been leased by the City Investing Company for a term of 21 years at an aggregate net rental of about $500,000. The lessee will remodel the structure, or erect a new building on the lot. The height will be limited to 6 stories, thus protecting the light and air of the new City Investing Building on Broadway, Cortlandt and Church sts. The lot measures 27 feet on Church st and 118 feet on Liberty st. The City Investing Company bought the old police station from the city several months ago for $330,000, after the city had acquired the site for a new station house running through from Greenwich to Washington sts, between Cortlandt and Liberty sts. The city will retain possession of the old property until the new building has been completed.

The Board of Estimate yesterday, upon the report of its appraiser, Mr. Mortimer Brown, agreed to purchase the Staats Zeitung office building for the sum of $1,650,000.

Downtown mortgage loan brokers are experiencing difficulty in securing good applications. In speaking of the subject a member of one of the largest firms prosecuting this branch of the real estate business affirmed that the matter of placing mortgage loans is becoming unprofitable owing to the fact that the bulk of applicants invariably apply to the large institutions before engaging the services of a competent broker. Most of the applications for loans which we now receive have previously been rejected by large lenders, he said, and those remaining are so small in number that they scarcely go around.

There is a well defined movement on the part of owners of real estate in some of the newer sections of Manhattan to discourage the sale or lease of property to negroes. The latest development of this nature is the filing of an agreement between the several owners of 5 and 6-sty tenements in West 140th st in the vicinity of 8th av, not to convey or lease their premises to "colored or negro tenants." While several uptown agents question the legality of a compact of this nature, they admit it will result in strengthening values in the locality mentioned.

According to reliable authority the Equitable Building on lower Broadway was recently appraised at a figure between twelve and thirteen million dollars. A director of the Equitable made the statement a few days ago that the rumor of the sale was without foundation. In this connection a well-informed broker argued that whether or no negotiations for the purchase of the site have been or are at present in progress there is little reason to doubt that eventually the Society will secure an offer for its Broadway home that it will conclude to accept and seek a location elsewhere. It is thought by real estate experts that in this event the management of the Equitable would be likely to select a site between Cortlandt and Chambers sts, west of Broadway, this section being regarded by many as particularly suitable for such an undertaking.

There was an upset in the baseball series of the Real Estate League last Saturday, when the Robinson-Brown team, leaders in the race, were beaten by the McVickar-Gaillards at Ontario Field by a score of 14-11. The other game at Van Courtlandt Park, between Slawson & Hobbs and Southack-Ball, lasted ten innings, and resulted in a victory for Slawson & Hobbs by a score of 12-9. The result was not the fault of "Teddy" Devine, the crack little pitcher of the Southack-Ball aggregation. His record for the game was 16 strike-outs and only two men sent to base on balls. The games to-day will be very interesting, as the contest is close, and each team will strive hard to win out. The attendance each Saturday is increasing, and members of the teams would like to see still more interest taken by their friends. Both League games will be played at Van Courtlandt Park, and are scheduled to start at 2.30 p. m.

When a Cornice Overhangs Adjoining Property.

Editor of the Record and Guide:

Dear Sir—A buys a house from B, and sells it to C, who has the house surveyed, and the survey shows that the cornice of house is overhanging the adjoining property about eight inches. At the closing of title from A to C, C demanded fifty dollars damages for this overhanging cornice. A, knowing that it would cost fifty dollars or more to remove the overhanging cornice, paid the fifty dollars to C. The question I wish you to answer is, can B, who sold the property to A, be made to pay the fifty dollars to A? Neither A nor B had any knowledge of this overhanging cornice until C had it surveyed.

S. M. BROWN.

Answer.—Not on general principles. The defect is one usually raised as an objection on closing title or considered to have been waived by the parties. In case however, that B had given a warrantee deed on his sale to A, and the adjacent owner afterward brought an action to clear his premises of the offending encroachment, B would become liable to A or his grantees for any damage.

Legislative Digest.

Governor Hughes has not yet signed the Cohalan bill making the Bronx a place in which to hold legal sales, and it is not believed he will, as he has received many protests from real estate interests. The present law requires that property adjudged to be sold must be sold at some place in the county in which it is situated, by the Sheriff or referee, as the case may be. The amendment adds the words "and borough" after the word "county."

Clergymen and church representatives generally from New York City and other parts of the State vigorously opposed this afternoon, at the hearing before Governor Hughes, the bill of Assemblyman Ralston, which would permit the issuance of liquor tax certificates to hotels situated within 200 feet of a church, provided any portion of the church property is leased or used for business purposes.

REAL ESTATE RECORDS

Key to abbreviations:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

4th.—The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

A BROADER, stronger and a somewhat more active stock market this week has had a decidedly encouraging effect on Wall Street sentiment. While undoubtedly there was much professional operation it was not wholly of that character, though there is no evidence that the elusive factor called the public is in the market. All kinds of reasons were given for the improvement. It was said that the well-known Boston operator had begun a bull campaign and that a pool had been formed in United States Steel. But in the light of events an advance in prices is strictly logical. Even when there were advances in the morning session succeeded by declines in the afternoon there was decidedly a better tone at the close. The principal features were Union Pacific, Amalgamated and Reading. Europe, too, seems to be in the market for our stocks again. Foreigners are surprised at the equanimity with which the American markets have viewed the loss of about $25,000,000 gold in the course of four weeks and the unconcern with which the prospect of further losses next month is regarded in Wall Street. As the Record and Guide pointed out in this column last week, the serenity of the market, if it happens to be quiet at the time, is no longer disturbed by the shipment of a few or even many millions of the yellow metal from these shores to Europe. The outlook financially abroad is much brighter than it was at the beginning of June, Paris, Berlin and London being much more cheerful, partially the reflection of favorable condition on this side. Certainly the splendid earnings report of Atchison, which showed an increase of more than $1,350,000 in gross and of more than $330,000 in net, and the belief that this year's crops will at least be average, may have something to do with the more confident tone both at home and abroad. The report that Mr. E. H. Harriman was shortly to resign all his offices in the Union Pacific Railroad Company and to go abroad for his health is said to have caused considerable buying by some operators who recently have been entirely out of the market. Call money rates continued to stiffen, touching six per cent. on Thursday. Time funds are also higher. These higher rates, while not encouraging to real estate and building interests, are neither unusual nor unexpected at this time of year in view of the enormous July disbursements that will be made by industrial, railroad and other companies, which makes a demand for money and causes holders to ask higher rates.

THE price which the city has agreed to pay for the building of the Staats-Zeitung and its site affords another illustration of the difficulty of appraising special parcels of New York real estate. Probably this is the highest price per square foot which has ever been paid in New York City for a plot of this size. The lots on the corner of Wall and Broad Streets, and on Herald Square, which brought over $300 a square foot, contained less than 1,000 square feet. Nevertheless it cannot be said that the city is paying more than the property is worth. Mr. Ridder could probably have obtained as much from a private purchaser, provided he could afford to wait for the man or the company who needed the plot to come along. The point is, not that the city has paid too much for the property, but that in all such cases, the tax assessor is confronted by an almost impossible problem. The Staats-Zeitung property was assessed at $1,000,000 and brings $1,650,000. If the Tax Department had assessed the property at $1,500,000 last year, its owners would have been furiously indignant, and would doubtless have carried the case to the courts, and they would have done this in spite of the fact that they valued the property in their own minds at over $1,500,000. Everybody must admit that in the present instance the Tax Department is not to blame, in case the property is under-assessed. It is almost impossible to determine the value of such a special piece of property; and if expert appraisers had been called in their appraisals might well have ranged between $1,300,000 and $1,800,000. Moreover all real estate in advancing speculative neighborhoods is in very much the same condition, and the margin to be allowed for possible error should be equally as great. It is just because their task is so difficult that the deputy assessors should have access to every available means of information bearing upon real estate values. They should know the price at which every parcel of property in their district has been sold, and private purchasers should be compelled to furnish this information under oath. In any one instance the price at which a parcel sells does not determine the value, but taking a number of such instances together, these prices are the most useful information the tax assessor can possess.

Governor Hughes and His Work.

THE Legislature, which has just adjourned, accomplished more useful work and did less harm than any similar body that has sat at Albany in a great many years, and this result was due almost exclusively to the personal influence of one man, Governor Hughes. Almost everything which the Legislature accomplished of public benefit was not merely instigated by the Governor, but was forced on the legislative body by the public opinion which Mr. Hughes rallied to his support. The most important measures which were passed without the Governor's instigation, such as the teachers' salary bill, and the two-cent fare bill, were of no public benefit, and were very properly vetoed by Governor Hughes. The latter did not secure from the Legislature the whole of the program laid down in his first annual message; but his most important recommendations were enacted into laws. The net result of the session has undoubtedly been a great personal triumph for the Governor. His will and his conception of public policy have prevailed, and it has prevailed in spite of the active opposition of the regular Republican political machine. A better illustration could not be desired of the way, which under our American political organization, the necessary reforms will have to be accomplished. Reforms will rarely originate in American legislative bodies and will not willingly be accepted by them. Congressmen and Assemblymen always represent small districts, and a body of these district. delegates represent not the whole state or the whole nation, but merely a collection of districts,

The official who is elected by the whole body of voters is the man who represents the interests of the state or the nation as a whole. This is the condition of things at Washington, and in all the States that have been sufficiently aroused to elect an executive pledged to a reforming platform. Our Legislatures do not represent the people as a whole. In all matters pertaining to the general popular interest they are the creatures of the political machine which made and can unmake them.

Governor Hughes' success in forcing his program through the Legislature carries with it a corresponding responsibility. If possible the Governor should remain at his post until his reform measures have been fairly tested and their good or bad effects have been fully revealed. The Governor is not merely responsible for the Public Utility bills, but under the terms of this legislation he is also responsible for the successful operation of the new laws. The commissioners are to be appointed by him, and are removable by him, and he should remain in office a long enough time to make sure that the commissioners are carrying out the law in a just and efficient manner. One term is not sufficient for this purpose. He should remain in office for at least one additional term, and he himself should refuse to allow his name to be used in any other connection. If he should actively seek, for instance, a presidential nomination, he would in effect be betraying the confidence which the people of New York state have reposed in him. Under his advice they have insisted on the passage of the most thorough-going and drastic body of legislation regulating franchise corporations, which has yet been enacted by any state. The wisdom of this legislation is at least an open question. The Record and Guide does not wholly like it, because it divides responsibility between the public commissions and the private corporations, and systems of divided responsibility rarely work well. There is at least a grave danger that private capitalists will not invest their money in enterprises, over which they can exercise subsequently no effective control, and if this danger is averted it will only be by extremely skillful management on the part of the commissions. They must somehow make the public believe that its interest is being promoted, while at the same time doing nothing to damage the confidence of private capitalists. We do not envy them the job, and inasmuch as Governor Hughes has imposed it upon them, it is only fair that he should, if he can, remain at the helm until the issue becomes clear. As soon as it is certain that his machinery of legislation will serve both of its conflicting purposes, his responsibility will be over, but thus far the people of the state merely have the guarantee of the unquestionably excellent intentions with which the legislation was drawn. Before he retires it is up to the Governor to make these intentions good.

In case Mr. Hughes does remain in office it is much to be hoped that he will also consider seriously the matter of state and local taxation. Next to finding a solution for the complicated problem of corporate control, he could not do the state a greater service than by the improvement of its system of taxation. During the two terms of ex-Governor Odell, and the one term of the late Governor Higgins, the sources from which the state derived its revenues were radically transformed. The general state tax on property was practically abolished, and the state revenues were collected entirely from special taxes. It looks as if these special taxes would be sufficient to meet the expenses of the state for some time to come—even if the state should have the interest on a much larger canal and road debt to pay. But the responsibility of the state does not cease when it has provided for its own revenues. Its laws prescribe local systems of taxation as well as the general state system; and the means whereby the local revenues are raised are of much greater importance than the means whereby the state revenues are raised. Indeed, as the state commission appointed by the late Mr. Higgins recently pointed out, state taxation is really an incident of local taxation, and should be so treated. But our system of local taxation is wholly unsatisfactory. It has been somewhat improved by the exemption of mortgages from taxation, except when recorded; but the glaring inequalities and inefficiency of the personal property tax remains. As it stands, this personal property tax is tolerated only because it is evaded. It is unjust in principle, and practically forces business men to be dishonest. No doubt it will be extremely difficult to find any sufficient substitute for the revenue which the cities and the towns raise from this source. The State Commission failed utterly to accomplish this object; and the extent of the failure is a sufficient indication of the difficulty of the task. But if the state cannot accomplish its duty in this respect it might at least pass the responsibility on to the local governing officials. It might at least allow the local bodies some effective option in matters of taxation. The objection to local option in respect to taxation is very much smaller than it used to be, now that the state derives its revenue from special taxes, and the state government should either reform the system of local taxation or else pass the responsibility for reforming it on to the local governments. Governor Hughes is in an extraordinarily good position to accomplish a desirable alteration in the system of local taxation. His prestige is such that any well-advised plan emanating from him will have an unusually good chance of success; and he should devote hereafter his unusual talents as an originator of legislation to this all important matter.

A Possible Remedy.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

The too frequent occurrence of cases, which often reach the courts, but more often do not, in which a justly earned commission is deprived a broker after the exercise of much labor and loss of time, and the use of his professional knowledge, by the device of dummies and circumlocution to deprive him of justly earned commissions, prompts this communication, with the hope that it may result in a much needed reform and a blacklisting of those who make the real estate broker a mark of their dishonest practices. Such methods are well known to be practiced by several prominent real estate men and even by large realty corporations; it is even known that some such corporations are allied with certain favored brokers who do what is possible to deprive other brokers of justly earned commissions to their own enrichment.

We suggest that the Record and Guide should print every case that is brought into the courts, get an accurate report of the proceedings, with the final adjudication. Publicity is the most potent weapon for the cure of such evils, and will unfailingly accomplish the desired result. All that is necessary is to let in the light. A correct report of all such actions, giving the names of the parties involved, will do more to weed out these parasites of the real estate business than anything we can imagine.

We suggest that the Record and Guide establish a column for this purpose, and it is quite certain that there will be greater hesitancy in committing such dishonest practices upon the part of those who are in the habit of indulging in them. Besides being a warning to the unscrupulous it will be highly instructive to those interested in real estate as brokers, speculators and investors.

The only pity is that it will not prevent all the cases of dishonest practices that the law cannot reach. Probably your readers may have suggestions to make pertinent to this subject.

W. & J. GOLDBURG.

A Prediction.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Let me predict the future of the following indicated land—Fifth av to Lexington av, 96th st to 110th st—now covered so largely by undesirable flats (some of them new, I know). This property will fall into the hands of the mortgagees, as I believe it is largely held on "air." It will never pay an average, fair income to those who will acquire it under foreclosure. It certainly is and will be unreliable as to income, as the shifting, changing, bad or wretched wear and tear by careless tenants will disgust the new owners. And then will happen what should have happened, the natural improvement will follow, a continuation of Fifth, Madison and Lexington avs of the first-class residences, similar to the recent revolution or evolution from the fifties to the eighties. Probably many will not agree with me, but I can easily see the future as I predict it.

OLD NEW YORKER.

Deal Beach, N. J., June 25, 1907.

"Slicing a Skyscraper."

"The famous Singer Building at Liberty st and Broadway is going under the knife. Its top is to be sliced off and three additional stories sandwiched in between the seventh and eleventh floors."

So runs a story in the general press. The strangest thing about this operation is the amount of discussion it has caused. Some one called it "a surgical operation," and the phrase seems to have caught the popular fancy.

The original Singer Building was 11 stories high. The company built an addition on Liberty st, called the "Bourne Building," which is 14 stories high. It was decided to make the other addition on Broadway also 14 stories high, so there was nothing to do but to raise the height of the old building. As the upper three stories of the old building consisted of a frieze and mansard roof, the three additional stories could not be put on without taking these stories off, or at least the front of them, and carrying up the general wall surface in harmony with what is below. The stone work of the frieze and dormers, and the metal work of the mansard, are to be taken down and replaced above the new work.

By far the most difficult part of the operation about which no one has spoken was the strengthening of the supports and foundations, which were proportioned to the original load they were to carry. To do this it was necessary to introduce new columns, with independent foundations, in some places to bear the new load, and in other places to relieve the old walls and columns of part of the load which they now carry, so that they may be able to take the weight of the new floors. These new supports had to be introduced while the building was occupied without disturbing the tenants. The work has been done at night and on holidays without the least disturbance to any one and without making any dirt in the offices. It now remains to take down the upper part of the front, build in the new wall and replace the part taken down; also lengthen out the elevator shafts without interference with the elevator service.

Before beginning the work, every step in the operation was thought out and planned for, both as regards the method of procedure and the time required to perform the work. The most difficult part has already been done exactly in accordance with this prearranged programme, and Mr. Flagg thinks the rest will follow in the same way. It has been a most difficult feat of construction, and no doubt has caused Mr. Flagg more trouble and thought than the building of the 612 ft. high addition, which is straightaway work.

Mr. Mordecai on the Money Situation.

In canvassing the subject of the mortgage market as affecting Manhattan realty, Mr. B. Mordecai, of A. L. Mordecai & Son, 135 Broadway, Manhattan, said that in his opinion there is plenty of money for good loans on bond and mortgage. The difficulty at present is to secure the right kind of applications. The class of security most acceptable by lenders at present, he further stated, includes elevator apartments, business property, and tenements in thickly populated districts, upon which loans are readily obtained at liberal percentages of their appraised value.

The Assessment of Real Estate in the City of New York

By HON. LAWSON PURDY

President of the Department of Taxes and Assessments

THE BLOCK SYSTEM of recording deeds forms the basis of the assessment system in the boroughs of Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn. It is complete in Manhattan, in the territory west of the Bronx River in the Bronx, and in all but a small part of Brooklyn. In the boroughs of Queens and Richmond, assessments are still made by ward divisions, but the block system will be extended as rapidly as possible. Under the block system the boroughs are divided into sections and sections into blocks by unchangeable boundaries, the numbers of sections and blocks being permanent. Blocks are divided into lots, numbered consecutively from one up within each block. When large parcels are divided and improved, or become subject to separate ownership, these lot numbers are subject to change. In such cases new lot numbers must be added and when parcels formerly assessed separately are consolidated by improvement with a single structure, some lot numbers are dropped.

Accurate maps are necessary as the basis of a good system of assessment, and these maps must undergo constant change as streets are opened, large tracts of land divided, and small tracts are consolidated into one parcel. For the use of the Deputy Tax Commissioners who make the assessments, maps are prepared identical with the office maps, which are bound into volumes of convenient size. Throughout the territory included in the block system the maps are made on a scale of fifty feet to one inch, and in the front of each volume there is a key map on a scale of from three hundred to seven hundred feet to the inch. In the territory not yet covered by the block system the maps are temporary and are commonly called "tentative maps." As these maps cover territory held in large parcels, much of it still farm land, the scale varies somewhat, being from eighty feet to two hundred feet to the inch. The length of all boundary lines is shown on the maps in feet and inches. On valuable lots of irregular shape, the area is shown in square feet, on larger parcels the area in lots, and on parcels containing several acres, in the rural parts of the city, the number of acres is marked on each parcel.

Beside his map books, each deputy has field books, which are almost identical with the annual record and, in addition, contain columns for the final assessed valuation for about seven years, and a wide column for remarks. The field book shows the name of the owner of each parcel, if known, the size of the lot, the number of houses on the lot, the size of each house, the number of stories in height, the street number and the lot number. Above each block appears the section and volume number, and the names of the streets bounding the block. Since 1903 both the field books and the annual record books contain a separate column in which is set down the value of the real estate unimproved. In the last column left for remarks, the deputy sets down all sales with the true consideration, if it can be ascertained, or notes of the probable consideration; all mortgages, with the name of the institution lending the money, if the institution is one which is limited by law to loans not in excess of a certain percentage of the market value; all recorded leases with the period and rental, and such other notes of rentals, asking prices and offers as can be secured and may be indicative of value.

When the deputy is thus equipped with map and field book filled with all available data, the value of the land per front foot for one hundred feet deep, or per lot 25x100, is set down at each point on each street where the value changes. In some cases the same unit of front foot value or lot value may obtain for the entire side of a square, and in others the value may increase or decrease at intervals as short as the width of a single lot. Having determined the unit of value, the actual value of each lot is very quickly ascertained and entered when lots are regular in width and depth. When lots are longer or shorter than 100 feet, the value is determined by the Neill or Hofman rule, and the Neill table is used to determine the value of a narrow lot of irregular depth when the lot unit of value has been employed. When several lots are held in one ownership, and the parcel is so situated that a suitable improvement must cover several lots, the property is worth more than an equal number of single lots, and an addition of about ten per cent. more or less is made for plottage. By entering on the field book, and often on the map itself, the units of value per front foot or per lot, comparison between the values of lots in the same neighborhood is very greatly facilitated. If the units were not employed, and the lots are of irregular shape, it would be necessary to make a computation for each lot in order to make any comparison, whereas, a comparison of units may be made without further calculation, no matter how irregular are the parcels.

When the value of the land is ascertained and appropriately recorded the value of the buildings is next to be determined. A building can never have a greater value than the cost of replacing it, and the starting point for all buildings must be the cost of replacement. When this is determined, due consideration must be given to two factors; first, the suitableness of the building for the site; and second, its depreciation from age and wear and tear. To determine the cost of replacement of a building, a method has been employed in the department for over twenty years, devised by the chief deputy in charge of the real estate department, which has been found in practice to be the best for the use of an assessor. While architects and builders frequently compute the cost of a building by applying an appropriate factor to the number of feet of cubical contents, this plan is not ordinarily practicable for assessors, who cannot ascertain the precise height of buildings. By studying different classes of buildings, it soon became apparent that the height between floors is nearly uniform for buildings of the same class, and as the ground area covered by each building is shown by the record book, the number of square feet of floor surface is readily computed. In making this computation it has been found best to disregard spaces left vacant for light and air, as such spaces are practically uniform for buildings of the same class. The number of square feet of floor surface in a building is ascertained by multiplying the number of square feet of one floor by the number of floors. Then it is only necessary to multiply this number by an appropriate factor to ascertain the cost of replacing the building. To ascertain the assessable value of any particular building, the factor of value cannot be more than the cost of replacement, but may be reduced to almost nothing in the case of a building unsuited to the site, or in a dilapidated condition.

The factors of cost are determined for practical use with reference to the record description of the size of buildings. If all the land is covered that may lawfully be covered the record shows "covered." In this case the size of the lot is regarded as the size of the building, and no allowance is made for vacant space for light and air. If a tenement is eighty feet deep, the width of the lot is multiplied by eighty, and in all cases where the size of the building is given the area covered is computed without allowance for air shafts. This simplifies the calculation and proper allowance is made for open spaces by reducing the factor of value. The following table shows the factors in common use for buildings in good condition and suitable for the sites on which they are placed:

Modern office buildings	$4	to	$8
Modern hotels	3.50	to	8
Elevator apartments	3	to	5.50
Flats	2	to	3
Ordinary stone or brick dwellings	3	to	5
Very costly dwellings	up	to	10
Frame dwellings	1	to	3
Lofts	1.50	to	3
Factories	1	to	3

The factor employed to determine the value of every building should be noted in the margin, so that the deputy can quickly compare the assessment of buildings in any part of his own district and in other districts. By the use of these factors comparisons are easy when applications are made for the reduction of assessments. These comparisons would require a separate computation for each case if the factors were not used, and this would be impossible in the limited time available. For example, if complaint is made that a new corner tenement is assessed too high, and the factor is $2.25, it can be seen at once that the complaint is unfounded, unless the circumstances are very peculiar. Without the use of these factors of value such quick comparison could not be made at all.

By the use of unit land values and factors of value for buildings plainly set down in field books both deputies and commissioners are greatly aided. The system of maps and methods for determining values and keeping records, is the result of an orderly development under the direction of competent and faithful men, whose tenure of office is secure. No such results could be accomplished if the tenure of office were short and uncertain, as in many cities where the assessors are elected. The Deputy Tax Commissioners doing the most important work have served the city for ten to twenty-five years.

The best system is impossible without certain tenure, and time is necessary to ripen the experience and knowledge which are essential to the best use of any system, no matter how perfect.

To do first-class work as an assessor, a man must use intelligently a good system and he must have experience and a well-balanced judgment. Besides these qualities he must have the courage of his convictions and the determination to resist all influences inconsistent with his duty.

The equitable assessment of real estate is the very foundation of the city's credit and the basis of its economic welfare.

The Staats Zeitung Sale

THE award made in the case of the Staats Zeitung porperty is in realty circles considered fairly in line with the determined stand for equitable treatment of property interests that Mayor McClellan, Comptroller Metz and the Board of Estimate have again recently taken. An important and necessary piece of property for the City to own has been put into its hands for what is generally considered a reasonable price.

Speaking of the motives which actuate him in these matters, Mr. Metz remarked this week that so far as he was concerned he was simply trying to go ahead and straighten out such as he thought wrong, and to improve upon methods which do not appeal to him:

"Having no aspirations or political ambitions, I do not have to worry much about what I say, or how I say it, or whose feelings I hurt. The only thing I can get out of it is the satisfaction of knowing that I am trying to do the best I know how. If I meet with success, well and good. If I do not, I have still got the satisfaction, and that is all I am looking for."

In awarding the sum of $1,650,000 for the Staats Zeitung property, the Board of Estimate apportioned $1,200,000 for the land, $400,000 for the building and $50,000 for immovable machinery. For the purpose of taxation the Tax Department estimated the value of land and building last fall at an even million dollars, and the year before at $775,000. There has been a great advance in the market value of property in that quarter within a few years.

Over and above what might have been considered by the generality of appraisers as a fair market value for this site, and for this building, there was an additional and peculiar element of value to be figured. The situation of the building was particularly adapted for a newspaper publishing house. It is doubtful that a site so well fitted for the line of business of the Staats Zeitung could be found in the city at any price, and it was better adapted to that utility than almost any other. To deprive the owner of this location was a hardship for which a sum representing only what this property would be worth for ordinary utilities would not have been a sufficient recompense. It was in the midst of other printing offices, adjacent to the seat of municipal government, near the post office, at the entrance to the Brooklyn Bridge, on the greatest current of travel, and in the very theatre of public action.

The building being a special construction, was worth more to the Staats Zeitung than to any other firm. As a mere money maker it was not proportioned to the land, a safe general rule in that regard being that the cost of the building should approximately equal the cost of the land; but it suited the purposes of the owner and was worth its cost to him.

Another peculiar advantage of the location was its three-sidedness. Having frontages on three streets, it had a rare prominence, besides good light and accessibility. This is also an element of value particularly appreciated in the line of business in which the Staats Zeitung is engaged.

There being 5,776 square feet in the plat, the price given for the land without the building figures out $207 a square foot. With the price allowed for the building included, the result is $277 per square foot. Though the building may have been worth as a construction a greater sum than $100,000, which the city assessors estimated, it was of a character unsuited to derive the best possible rate of income from the site, and hence not worth to any one else as much as to the Staats Zeitung. One year ago the Union Dime Savings Bank, a similar building on a plat having frontages on three streets, but in a different part of the city, was sold for an even million dollars, or at the rate approximating $250 for land and building.

On the whole the city, without being generous, is considered to have rendered very exact justice. But it is now the business of the authorities to get the best possible return for the city from the site, and so doubly exhibit their business acumen.

Death of Mr. Kyle.

Mr. James Kyle, head of the real estate firm of James Kyle & Sons, 721 Lexington av, corner of 58th st, who died on June 21st, at his residence, 300 West 106th st, had been in the building and real estate business in New York City since 1855. For thirty years his office was at 610 Third av, between 39th and 40th sts. Mr. Kyle was one of the pioneers in erecting model tenements on the East Side. He is survived by his wife, one daughter and two sons, John M. Kyle and Harry B. Kyle, who will continue the business.

Method of Assessing Buildings.

AT the municipal election early in June the people of Wilmington voted on the following question: "Shall the Mayor and Council memorialize the next Legislature to enact a law providing for Wilmington, Del., the system of assessment of real estate which is now in operation in New York." The vote has just been announced. It was carried by more than ten to one. The vote being 8,280 for and 757 against.

On May 23d the President of the New York Tax Department, Hon. Lawson Purdy, on the invitation of the Mayor and City Council of Wilmington, delivered an address in the Council Chamber explaining the New York methods of assessment. In Wilmington the assessors are elected for short terms, and Mr. Purdy's description of the personnel of the New York Department came as a revelation when he said that the men in charge of the most important work have been in the city's service over twenty years, and that the present efficiency of the department was due to the faithful development of a settled policy.

Sample sheets of the maps, field books and record books in use in New York were exhibited and left with the Mayor for the benefit of the Wilmington assessing department. The accurate and scientific methods shown will be models for Wilmington.

The method of assessing buildings which has been in use in New York for over twenty years seemed a model of simplicity of universal application. Buildings are classified and appropriate factors determined for each class. The maps and records show the size and number of stories of each building. The number of feet of floor surface is then calculated and multiplied by the appropriate factor, the result being the value of the building.

With proper modification for depreciation the fair appraisal of buildings for assessment is made as easy as the nature of the case permits, while comparison is greatly simplified by entries in the field book showing the factor for each building. The separation of the land value from the total value was seen to be essential to a fair assessment, and the exhibition on the public records of this separation makes comparison easier, which would be practically impossible without such a separation of value. Wilmington by popular vote has acknowledged its debt to the City of New York.

Mr. Jenney's Career.

William L. B. Jenney, the Chicago architect who died in Los Angeles, was Chief Engineer of the Fifteenth Army Corps during the Civil War. He was one of the Board of Architects for the Columbian Exposition, and designed the Horticultural Building. During a world's congress of architects he was vice-chairman, and he held other positions of note in the architectural world. He retired in 1905 and went to Los Angeles to make his home. Mr. Jenney was born at Fairhaven, Mass., in 1832.

After graduation from the scientific school at Cambridge, Mass., in 1853 he entered the Ecole Centrale des Arts et Manufactures at Paris. His studies in France terminated at the beginning of the Civil War, when he volunteered for army service and was appointed captain additional aid de camp, being assigned to engineering duties at Cairo, Ill. Subsequently he served as engineering officer on the staff of General Grant from Cairo to Corinth, and at General Sherman's request was transferred to the latter's command and put in charge of the engineering works around Memphis. At the siege of Vicksburg Mr. Jenney was made chief engineer of the Fifteenth Army Corps and so remained until he resigned May, 1866. Two years later he went to Chicago and began his professional career.

Among his architectural works were the Union League Club, the Fair, Siegel, Cooper & Co.'s store, the Association building, New York Life building, Chicago National Bank building, Trude building and Fort Dearborn building.

Progress of the New Bellevue.

In appearance the new Bellevue Hospital will be a palace; in reality it will be a perfect modern hospital—airy, light and roomy. It will cover the site of the present buildings and another block to the north, stretching from 26th to 29th st and from First av to the East River. There will be room for 2,000 patients at once. Balconies and roof gardens will permit the open air treatment on a large scale. The New Bellevue is being built wing after wing. At the present time the foundations of the pathological department, on the corner of 29th st and First av are being laid. Two pavilions at 26th st and the East River are nearly finished.

The contract for fireproofing the pathological department wing has been let to the National Fireproofing Company, which recently secured the contract for fireproofing the ten million dollar infirmary at Manchester, England. The masonry walls of Bellevue will be self-supporting, and the columns and floor beams will be of steel. The floors and walls and column covering will be of hollow terra cotta blocks.

Aids to Business Making.

In no city in the world is the real estate man so well supplied with absolutely necessary information as in New York. For nearly forty years the Record and Guide has been the mainspring of realty office machinery, and it has raised the business to the dignity of a profession. This has been made possible by records. A man with adequate records KNOWS. He does not have to guess.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Points on the Material Market.

All this spring Portland cement has continued in good supply for consumers and of moderate price.

There has been considerably activity in the market for cast iron pipe during the week, and several good-sized sales are reported. Among the contracts to be placed shortly are 6,250 tons for New York, 1,650 tons for Hoboken, and should funds warrant, an additional 20,000 tons for this city.

In speaking of the copper metal situation yesterday, John R. Stanton said: "There is no basis whatever for the reports that the leading producers of copper have been cutting prices. What the market will be a week hence, two weeks hence or a month hence, is something I do not know."

In hardwoods there is quite an amount of new stock coming on the market, which is relieving the shortage of the past few months quite materially, but the demand of the market for pretty much all of the hardwoods is such as to keep prices and supplies well absorbed. Poplar, plain oak, ash, birch and chestnut seem to be in first call, but the general list is in very fair demand.

Eighty-three cargoes of Hudson River brick were taken up last week, indicating that as much brick building is being prosecuted as in any previous year at this time. Yet wholesale quotations for good brick have fallen to an average of $6.50. For inferior grades there is almost no demand at all, which is evidence of the general good quality of work in hand.

There has been a much better tone to the lumber market during the week, and, despite the fact that plans filed with the building department have not been up to expectations, dealers say there will be a much better business coming forward during July. There was a little more inquiry during the week, and quotations which have been shaded in some cases recently have stiffened perceptibly. Among the features of the week is the good demand for spruce and some good orders have been booked.

Steel Frame of the Metropolitan Tower Started.

Operations on the new 48-sty tower of the Metropolitan Life Building, southeast corner of Madison av and 24th st, to this date are not far behind the schedule time set down by the architects, Napoleon Le Brun & Sons. The structural features of the steel skeleton for the tallest office building yet undertaken are, of course, a matter of some interest to engineers and builders all over the world. Several of the corner and interior columns which foot on cast-steel and iron-beam grillages of varying sizes, reaching down to solid rock, are now in place, pointing above the sidewalk level. The base of the largest corner column put in is 7.5 ft. sq. and 3 ft. high, and the grillage upon which it rests is made up of one tier of 20-inch iron beams and three tiers of 24-inch iron beams, 12 ft. square at the bottom. All these grillages are encased in concrete. The largest corner columns weigh about one ton per lineal foot. To the double wings of the wall columns are connected two parallel horizontal wall girders which are to perform the double duty of wind-bracing and floor beam support. Below the 11th story both girders will be of built-up-sections but above the 11th story the inside girders will be changed to an iron beam. In another month the ironwork, it is estimated, will reach to the third story, and the first, second and third-story floor beams will be set. Some 15,000 cubic feet of stone has already been cut, which will rapidly follow the ironworkers. Post & McCord, 24 East 24th st, are erecting the steel, and the Hedden Construction Co. is the builder. The Waverly Marble Co., No. 1 Madison av, has contract to furnish and set the exterior Tuckahoe marble, constituting about 200,000 cubic feet, which will be the same as was used in the main building.

Unique Engineering.

The Borough of Richmond has just awarded the contract for the building of a mammoth refuse destructor on Richmond Terrace, West New Brighton, S. I. The area covered will be about 60x60, and the construction will be of reinforced concrete, resting on a foundation of concrete piles. Since the position of the destructor will be on the marshy shore of the Kill von Kull, it is necessary to drive concrete piles to secure a foundation absolutely permanent and not liable to decay, as is the case with timber piles. The building is to be connected by an elevated trestle roadway 17 ft. wide also built of reinforced concrete and resting on reinforced Simplex piles. The contract for the pile foundations was given to the Foundation Company, 115 Broadway, New York.

A right-thinking business man with an unperverted idea of what is right should never become irregular or demoralizing. If he gets more money than he wants there are better uses to which it can be put than driving his fellow man to the wall. This may be idealistic, but it was promulgated over 1,900 years ago and is as good now as it was then.—Lumber Trade Journal.

The fine new mill plant of the Cross, Austin & Ireland Lumber Company, Newtown Creek, Brooklyn, which has been building for some months, has begun operations. Very little overtime work was done. The construction is entirely of reinforced concrete on the Ransome system.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

While the private sales market for the week has given little evidence of improvement in so far as the number of transactions is concerned, an inspection of the budget will show that the trading has been more evenly distributed than during the preceding period. In the lower business section of Manhattan several corner parcels changed hands, including the purchase of 87-89 Wall st by John G. Agar, which completes his ownership of the entire block front between Pearl and Water sts. Above the Circle, the acquisition of several large plots involves the building of elevator apartment houses, plans for which have already been filed. Over in the Bronx, besides many lot sales, a large purchase of acreage on the Fort Schuyler road was the distinguishing feature in that zone. The total number of sales is 91—21 south of 59th st, 45 north, and 25 in the Bronx.

THE AUCTION MARKET

A considerable volume of business was transacted in the auction room during the week, and considering the fact that the vacation season is near at hand, the attendance was all that could be expected. Tuesday's sales attracted a number of operators and investors, and Auctioneer Joseph P. Day succeeded in securing more than $270,000 for his properties. Among the parcels sold may be mentioned Nos. 45-47 Downing st, 29.7x90, which brought $17,500, and No. 71 East 127th st, a 3-sty stone front dwelling, 20x99.11, which was knocked down at $11,700. Other properties at the same stand were struck off to either plaintiffs in foreclosure actions or "parties in interest." During the same day L. J. Phillips & Co. sold No. 1047 Simpson st, a 3-sty brick dwelling, 25x100, for $9,900, and a similar property, No. 1045, to Nicholas Tietjen for $9,850, representing fair prices, when compared with other sales of a like character in that section of the city. On Thursday Joseph P. Day conducted a sale of the holdings of the Robert McCafferty estate in the Bronx and at Edgemere, L. I. The former involved a block bounded by the Grand Boulevard and Concourse, Sheridan av and 161st and 162d sts. The best bidding was for the southwest corner of Edgemore and Ocean avs, five lots, for which the Union Title Mortgage paid $4,800. The Bronx plots brought good prices. For a vacant plot, 115x100, at the northeast corner of Grand Boulevard and Concourse and 161st st, E. J. Cuddihy paid $26,000, which is considered an excellent figure; and for three plots, each 48.3x117 on the south side of 162d st, 100 feet east of the Grand Boulevard, $12,300 was secured. The heirs obtained a sum exceeding $308,000 for the lot. In addition to the above Mr. Day also sold No. 2144 5th av, a 4-sty stone front flat 19.11x75, which was bought by James Henderson for the sum of $13,500.

—Next Monday will be the first of July, the time for the regular semi-annual declaration of dividends, and millions upon millions of dollars will be distributed. Not all the money that is required is ready to hand, so a great deal has had to be borrowed for short periods this week. The effect has been to advance money rates. Thus, on Thursday money rose from 3½ to 6 per cent. But the final effect is to make money a little more plentiful, for investments as well as for current business. It was just a year ago that the money pinch began, signalized in the realm of buildings by a crash in brick quotations. Money is now in very much better form for builders than a year ago. One of our largest lenders is quoted as saying that there is more money to loan on bond and mortgage than there are good applications. Owing to the weather, building work was late in getting into a good stride, but in every department except tenement house construction, it is fairly good, with a promise of improving as the summer advances.

Lot Auctions Affecting Sales at Private Contract.

Real estate brokers who complain of the loss of many "prospects" attribute it to the lot auctions. A prominent broker who makes a specialty of selling vacant property in the annexed districts exhibited a list of possible purchasers with the remark that he had lost many of them as a result of their subsequent attendance at auction sales. While this condition must be admitted rather disheartening to the agent, it serves on the other hand to emphasize the attracting influence of up to date auction methods.

An inspection of this series of articles will explain how the magazine continues its policy of presenting to its readers subjects of interest in the broadest sense architectural. These subjects it presents not as they would be presented to explain to one architect the works of another, but rather in such a way that the great multitude of others not architects will find both entertaining and instructive. The Architectural Record stands on the issue that there is an absorbingly interesting story to be told about architecture and the allied arts and that a great many people now indifferent to the fine arts will be interested listeners to this story. From this point of view the readers of the Record and Guide will find an abundance of entertainment combined with a liberal mixture of facts of vital interest to every New York real estate broker and builder, not to say the average well-informed citizen.

Several lots on Long Island City are noticed for sale in Wants and Offers. Also a good transfer corner in Brooklyn. At Eltingville, Staten Island, a tract of 23 acres is for sale.

There is one sure way to get at the true market value of a lot, and that is to base the calculation on prices paid in sales recently made in the same or corresponding localities.

Before breaking up, the Rapid Transit Commission advanced the 4th av route to Coney Island as far as it could, as was proper, but it is regrettable that the action comes so late.

Golde & Cohen, the well known real estate operators of 171 Broadway, have issued a revised list of holdings which they will mail to those in the market. The list is a large and varied one and covers many sections of the city.

The commissioners in condemnation proceedings on the Riverside Drive widening, about which there has been much dispute, have made another cut in their awards. The commissioners have now reduced the award 40 per cent., or a saving of $440,000.

HURD'S PRINCIPLES OF CITY LAND VALUES.
Price, $1.50.
A book that shows how city values are made and the basis upon which real estate appraisements should be made.

W. Hamilton McBride has severed his connection with Ames & Co., real estate agents and brokers of 26 West 31st st, and has taken an office with Charles Hibson & Co., at 237 Lexington av, cor 34th st. Mr. McBride has recently been elected a member of the Real Estate Board of Brokers.

Although present indications point to a cessation of lot buying in the Bronx, it is known that many deals of importance have been arranged, the closing of which depends on the easing up of the mortgage market. In this connection J Clarence Davies says that many buyers are taking an optimistic view and are confident that as summer advances much improvement will be noticed in this direction.

The Broadway subway extension, from Kingsbridge to Van Courtland Park, is being pushed onward every working hour. In a short time it will be usable for trains to the park entrance, which is only a short distance from Loweree, Park Hill and the other southern Yonkers suburbs, all of which are in for a fine development. Really, brethren, Yonkers is a sure producer for a real estate turn, though only a few New York operators seem alive to it yet.

Ernestus Gulick Company's first transaction in its new Manhattan offices at 5th av and 33d st is the conclusion of negotiations for a new hotel at Long Beach. G. Jason Waters, of Winsor Hotel, Atlantic City, is the purchaser of two blocks of land, with ocean frontage and riparian rights, at Long Beach, and the Estates of Long Beach, of which Senator Reynolds is president, are the sellers. The consideration for the property is about $250,000. The hotel will be constructed in the fall and will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars.

While no confirmation of the report of the sale of the Fifth Avenue Hotel has been obtained, it is not denied that negotiations of some nature involving the improvement of the site are under consideration. The most significant fact upon which to base this belief is the information that the title to the property was being searched by at least one of the large title insurance companies. An announcement of this nature is usually regarded as presumptive evidence of the existence of either a contract of sale or that some character of mortgage loan is in the course of flotation. Whether this be so or not, it is argued with no small degree of logic that the time is ripe for the erection of a modern building at that corner. That such an operation has been thought of by the owners of the Fifth Avenue Hotel themselves there is good reason to believe.

Major Gulick and his associates in the Ernestus Gulick Company, estate agents, have leased from the Gorham Company, for a term of fifteen years, the first floor of the corner building known as the "Cambridge," No. 334 5th av, at 33d st. These offices will be occupied by Major Gulick and his associates as permanent headquarters for the various companies with which they are identified, operating particularly in Long Island property. Garden City Estates, however, which was organized by Major Gulick, and of which he is vice-president, will retain its offices in the Flatiron Building as heretofore. The following companies will be located in these offices: Long Island Estates, Estate Agents, Jamaica Estates and Hempstead South (Ernestus Gulick, president). Mr. Franklin P. Duryea, formerly of Duryea & Potter, 477 5th av, and more recently managing salesman and assistant to the president of Garden City Estates, has been elected vice-president of Ernestus Gulick Company.

In the suit of Nathan Cahasan against Hyman Levin, tried before Judge Wadhams and a jury in the City Court it was shown that after the broker's customer and Levin had fully agreed and a contract was about to be made, the customer inquired whether a certain mortgage had a subordination clause. Levin stated that he did not know, and an appointment was made to meet the next day at the office of Levin's lawyers to ascertain that, and make the contract. At the appointed time the broker and his customer appeared and waited two and a half hours for Levin, who, however, did not appear. Lawyer Jacob Friedman, of 302 Broadway, who also appeared for the broker in this case, showed that the buyer had merely inquired whether there was a subordinate clause, but had not refused to take without it, and, on the contrary, had Levin appeared the next day, the sale would have been made, even though there were no subordination clause in the mortgage. A verdict was given the broker for $310.

No Ready Market for 125th Street Property.

MANY reasons have lately been advanced for the falling off in the number of sales of business properties in 125th st, but the most logical lies in the fact that prices are being held higher than local conditions warrant. Besides, there has gradually been taking place a concentration of the ownership of real estate on both sides of the street which has lessened the number of available parcels, resulting in a marking up of prices beyond a reasonable limit.

Notwithstanding this forcing process, sales have been made from time to time at figures representing good profits over prices previously paid. In the section bounded by Lenox and 8th avs a 20-foot lot on the south side of the street brought recently about $87,500. What little there is to be had at present to the westward is held by strong hands and at figures which in several instances equal about $8,500 per front foot.

On the northerly side owners are asking as much as $3,500 per front foot for well situated parcels, being less than twice the sum asked for property on the opposite side of the street.

F. A. Shaw, of Shaw & Co., 113 West 125th st, attributes the decrease in activity along that thoroughfare to much the same cause, and further argues that in reality there has been no ready market for 125th st property for more than a year past. Mr. Shaw expressed the belief that when a readjustment of rentals takes place, professional operators and investors will more frequently figure in purchases in that street than formerly.

Present store rentals within the limits mentioned are considered excessive by 125th st merchants, some of whom, contrary to supposition, find it difficult to more than eke out a living. Small stores, on the north side of the way, west of Lenox av, averaging 15 feet in width, command a rental of $3,000 per annum, others of larger dimensions being proportionately more. On the south side of the street one tenant is paying an annual rental of $8,500 for a 20-foot store, not including an expense for repairs.

In this connection Chas. F. Porter, of Porter & Co., 159 West 125th st, emphatically made the statement that owners misunderstand true conditions and had forced rentals higher than present circumstances warrant. He affirmed that the way to stimulate a healthy activity in trading along that thoroughfare was to lower rentals to a point within the bounds of reason.

Other brokers in that locality share this opinion, and assert that the time is close at hand when property owners will be brought to a sudden realization of the true state of affairs by the exodus of some of the larger merchants.

Deputy Commissioner Hugh Bonner has recommended to Fire Commissioner Lantry the acquisition of sites and the erection of buildings for the Fire Department, in Manhattan, as follows:.

The following recommendations have been made for the Bronx:

Ten new sites in the vicinity of Port Morris, Southern Boulevard, Van Nest, Fordham, Bedford Park, Prospect, Union and 3d avs, Claremont and University Heights, Mt. Hope and the several necks of land projecting into the sound, at an estimated cost of $10,000 each, $100,000; ten new houses to be erected thereon, at an estimated cost of $35,000 each, $350,000; site for school of instruction, $50,000; erection of building thereon, $100,000; site at 161st st and Elton av, four lots, for branch telegraph bureau, repair shops and veterinary stable, $30,000; erection of building thereon, $75,000; site at Westchester and Willis avs, 50x100 feet, $20,000; site at Forest av and 162d st, 50x100 feet, $18,000; site at 149th st and Mott av, 50x100 feet, $20,000; site at Boston road and 170th st, 50x100 feet, $30,000; site at Washington av and 172d st, 50x100 feet, $18,000; site at 3d av and 81st st, 50x100 feet, $18,000; site at Westchester and Prospect avs, 50x100 feet, $15,000; erection of new buildings thereon, $35,000; site at Southern Boulevard and 138th st, 50x100 feet, $18,000; site at Westchester, 50x100 feet, $8,000; new house on site owned by department at Van Nest, $65,000; new house on site owned by department at Prospect av and 151st st, for truck company, $35,000; new house on site owned by department on Boston Post road, Eastchester, $20,000. Total for the Bronx, $1,025,000.

The imperative demands being made upon the department today are due, to a very large extent, to the wonderful development of the Greater City. Sections within the area of the paid department, heretofore sparsely settled, and in which the volunteer companies were able to cope with the fire hazard, are rapidly growing to the size of well populated cities.

Structural Ironwork of the City Investing Company's Building.

Some of the work of handling the iron for the City Investing Building has had to be done at night when the traffic on Broadway could not interfere. As many as 4 girders and 4 columns have been handled in two successive nights. Sixteen 25-ton girders and 20 column sections were thus handled from the Broadway front. The traveler and falsework were erected in 12 hours. The five derricks together erected 850 tons of steel in one week with a force of 45 men.

As soon as possible after erection the ¾ and ⅞-in. field rivets in the connections are driven by 16 four-man gangs, with pneumatic hammers. The steel is stored at Greenville, where it is unloaded from lighters and whence it is transferred by trucks to the building, as required. Generally, it is set by the derrick at the same time that it is unloaded from the truck.

Mr. Francis H. Kimball is the architect; Weiskopt & Stern are the consulting engineers, the Hedden Construction Co. is the general contractor, and the steel work is furnished and erected by Post & McCord.

The Best Fireproof Construction.

Investigations made by a number of competent experts in the employ of the U. S. Government, notably Captain John Stephen Sewell, acting for the War Department, disclose that no great city is proof against a general conflagration. Captain Sewell points out the fact that fires and fire tests have proved conclusively the inadequacy of commercial methods of fireproofing as at present applied. The recommendations of the experts as to the essentials of fireproof construction are definite and positive:

High, steel-frame office buildings, properly braced, are declared to be stable and reliable, and concrete and reinforced concrete structures are placed high among materials well adapted to withstand earthquake and fire, while hollow tiles and hollow concrete, although not in the past universally successful, may be so employed as to yield most satisfactory results. Concrete floors with metallic mesh reinforcements are strongly recommended for strength and fire resistance, and wire glass, metallic rolling shutters, and metal sash have proved such excellent fire protectors that wise economy demands their use in every important building.

Building costs rgulate rental rates, which in turn are governed by the ability of the public to pay. It is well enough to strive for an ideal construction, but before engineers and underwriters are permitted to cast their fluid ideas into hard-and-fast laws, the other side of the house should be consulted. Buildings from which an income is expected must not be made so costly in their construction for the district in which they are situated that no one can afford to occupy them. Hence, (1) building construction must be kept within commercial possibilities, and (2) the area for absolute fireproof construction should have reasonable limitations and boundaries. Dangers and risks cannot be entirely eliminated from life. Certain risks must be accepted by every human being. Let us be reasonable.

San Francisco Advices.

Building materials in San Francisco are on the decline. Lumber has dropped $6 within a brief space of time. Lime has declined from $2.25 a bbl. to $1.75. Steel men are much interested in the outcome of the bidding for the new Phelan building, the Palace Hotel building and the First National Bank building. All three structures will cost $1,000,000 or more each. The contract for the Phelan job will probably be the first of the three to be let and it is reported that the American Bridge Co. will get the business. The Phelan building is being planned by Architect William Curlett, while D. H. Burnham is the architect for the First National Bank building.

A number of contractors who went to San Francisco from the East since the fire and have secured contracts are purchasing their material in New York, Chicago and other Eastern trade centers. Those places are not the only sources of supply. There are 100,000 barrels of cement from foreign ports on the waters heading for San Francisco, not including seventy ships laden with building material of all kinds, including marble, iron, cement and lumber, coming to San Francisco from ports in England, France, Germany and Italy.

It took just 156 days to wreck the old Palace Hotel building and remove the debris. The McLellan Company got the contract on its bid of $100,000 in cash, and to receive all salvage in the way of junk and brick. McLellan says he was able to get 2,000 tons of old iron and 8,000,000 good bricks. The latter sold at an average of $12 per thousand. About 5,000,000 bricks were broken in tearing down the walls and in breaking up the foundations below the sidewalks. Some of the latter were utilized by being crushed and sold for the same purpose as crushed rock.

The Real Estate Directory and the Record and Guide Quarterly are built like a watch. Have your clerk wind up the Directory once a week (post the transfers). Open the covers at any time, and you have a clue to the records reaching back a hundred years. You might as well be without a watch as to try to make a success of real estate without them.

Park Slope Property.

In the Park Slope section of Brooklyn, owing to the popularity which the suburbs have over the old parts of the borough where tight building prevails, dwellings are being released at prices less than the cost of construction. Mr. Charles Elting Rickerson, of 276 Flatbush av, who makes a specialty of Park Slope property, remarked this week that the inquiry for a certain quality of dwelling in that zone was large:

"The demand for dwelling houses in this section from $7,500 to $13,000 is quite considerable for this time of the year, and in fact much better than in any previous year I can remember, and the fact that convinces me of this demand to purchase is that the Park Slope holds the record for the highest altitude in Greater New York, with the character of the neighborhood essentially educational, with natural and recreative amusements to be found in Prospect Park.

"Improved property which has been built here from eight to twenty years could never be duplicated at the present selling prices, as most of the properties are selling at twenty-five per cent. less than original cost some years ago, and to-day's price of wages and building material is at least forty per cent. higher then the price when these properties were built. It is therefore this state of facts which encourages many to purchase in this section, where improvements of the neighborhood and streets are here. There is a positive certainty that prices will increase in the coming years.

"With the Utilities Bill in force, I can see that the Borough of Brooklyn will be especially benefited, as under the present conditions Brooklyn is used by the Borough of Manhattan in a manner which is to Brooklyn's detriment, but with this bill in force and fair minded commissioners, Brooklyn will be much benefited, and its subways, ferries and other means of transportation to New York will not be juggled with politics. Brooklyn's interests should stand united regardless of political party for the improvements in proportion to the taxes, which its citizens pay."

Three Fares to Queens.

Mr. Belmont not choosing to reveal how much the fare to Queens from Manhattan will be, the public is left to infer what the schedule will be from the existing indications.

These are the facts: (1) The tunnel company is a separate corporation from the Interborough-Metropolitan and the Queens County Traction. (2) There is no physical connection existing or planned between the tunnel railroad and the Subway rails on the Manhattan side and the Queens County trolley tracks on the other side of the river.

At Fourth av and Forty-second st, where the tunnel ends, the floor level of the Belmont tunnel is thirty feet below the tracks in the subway. At the Long Island City end the tunnel tracks do not come to grade or show any intention of uniting with the Queens County trolley.

It follows that no surface cars will run through the tunnel and that passengers must change cars on both sides of the river and pay three fares, or a total of fifteen cents each way, or thirty cents for a round trip, $1.80 for a working week, and $7.20 every month.

Since Mr. Belmont keeps silent in the matter, refusing to inform the real estate interests what the cost of travel will be, the only safe course is to estimate the maximum.

Several months ago it became apparent that there would be no rail connection with the Subway at the Manhattan end of the tunnel, and then the hope was expressed that arrangements would be made at the Queens end for surface cars to enter the tunnel and proceed to Manhattan. But it is now perceived that no provision will be made for this, and that the tunnel trains will merely run back and forth under the river like shuttles.

Tour of Investigators.

Representatives of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange, headed by President H. Stewart McKnight, are continuing their examination of properties publicly advertised for development. On a recent trip the party went directly to Babylon. Following luncheon at the Watson House, the various properties within Babylon township, but outside the village proper, were visited. After leaving Babylon, the directors enjoyed the opportunity of inspecting the property recently acquired by T. B. Ackerson, midway between Babylon and Bayshore. The elaborate plans for the development of this property include a grand canal, in Venetian style, from the great South Bay to South Country road. After visiting several properties just east of Bayshore, the party returned to the city.

Aids to Business Making.

The mortgage broker experiences his greatest difficulty in finding out when mortgages mature. The simplest, most complete and least expensive method requires only the Record and Guide Quarterly. Choose a different colored ink for each year of expiration. Thus "July" written in red in the margin of the annual number for 1902 means expiring July, 1907. Thus the broker sees at a glance all the expirations which interest him. Full sets of the Quarterly are for sale at a greatly reduced price.

Product and Appliance.

Avernarius Carbolineum.

Whether a great wood preservative by any other name would be as honest a production as "Avernarius Carbolineum" is a matter that can only be decided by those who have had experience in these matters. What will interest the readers of the Record and Guide most now is to learn that "Avernarius" was the name of a great German doctor who invented carbolineum, in 1875, and was shortly afterwards registered in the United States patent office as "Avernarius' Carbolineum." Consequently carbolineum with any other name attached should be investigated before being accepted.

"Avernarius Carbolineum" is simply a heavy oil for the superficial treatment of wood, which possesses antiseptic ingredients that will thoroughly neutralize the rot-producing elements or germs contained in the wood structure, while its fatty oils seal up the pores on the outside and prevent the further entrance of insects or germs from permeating the wood under exposure. It is insoluble in water and self-impregnating. It will waterproof not only wood, but ropes, nets and tarpaulins, and keep them soft and pliable in the coldest weather. It also prevents checking or warping of wood, and is ever ready for immediate use without detriment to quality or loss through evaporation.

No special skill is requisite in using Avernarius Carbolineum. A common paint brush and common labor only are necessary. Even the brush may be dispensed with by dipping the wood into the liquid. Sometimes it is applied on walls and houses with spraying machines.

The covering capacity of this preservative oil is as follows: One gallon will cover 350 square feet on dressed lumber; 250 feet on rough lumber, or 100 square feet on shingle roof. This is for one coat; the second coat requires about one-fourth the quantity for the first coat. When the wood is to be immersed the covering capacity is about one-third to one-half, because of the heavier impregnation. One hundred pounds for 1,000 feet board measure guarantees a thorough impregnation.

Avernarius Carbolineum takes a few days to develop after being applied, when it appears as a beautiful nut-brown stain, which is said to outlast the best oil paint made. Further details of this oil may be had from The Carbolineum Wood Preserving Co., 349 West Broadway, New York.

Steel Sheet Piling.

Steel sheet piles in rolled sections are of recent origin and are extensively used because of certain advantages they possess over ordinary forms of wood piling. They can be driven in soil where it would be impossible to drive wood piling, and the greater lengths in which the steel piling can be furnished permits of cofferdams of greatest depth. One of the most useful features in sheet piling is the system of interlocking which secures practically a water-tight wall and effectually ties the piling together. The Wemlinger Steel Piling Co. has a special system of interlocking steel piling. Replying to an inquiry Mr. Wemlinger said:

"In our system each section is complete in itself, stiffer than I-beams or channels of the same weight, uniform in strength, and does not require riveting. All of the sections are interchangeable, are interlocking and watertight when in position.

"When the piling is made up of units of different sections and weights, the strength of the wall of piling is, of course, limited to that of the weakest member, and one of the most serious complaints against the forms of piling heretofore used is their lack of lateral stiffness.

"Our sections are of uniform strength and are proportioned so that the wall of piling is of practically uniform thickness and, by reason of their arched shape and locking features, act as a whole and are exceedingly well adapted to withstand the thrust of the material behind them.

"The radius of gyration of our section is 28 per cent. greater than that of an I-beam, and 38 per cent. greater than that of a channel of the same weight. Our piling weighs 30 pounds per square foot, and its strength is greater than that of a piling made of channels and Z-bars weighing at least 10 pounds more per square foot, while for equal weights, our piling is nearly 40 per cent. stronger than the latter."

Hardwood Floors Held Mechanically.

The special feature of the new method of laying parquet and other hardwood floors, as patented by J. O. Beers, Jr., consists of a series of steel rails set in and flush with the surface of the cement bed. This permits a positive hold by means of a steel clip on the cement foundations, the hollow bars as shown in diagram A permitting of free circulation of air underneath the wood flooring.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

June 21, 22, 24, 25, 26 and 27.

The following special quotations, for cargo lots, in wood (or net), are furnished by agents of the brands, and they, not we, are responsible for the accuracy of the figures given:

AMERICAN GERMAN

MANY architects in their anxiety to get a safe durable cement, overlook the important question of color. One glance at finished Alsen work shows its much finer shade. No yellow or blotchy effect so common in most good brands, a clear bluish tint, perfect for artificial stone. Of course color doesn't count in work like the Panama Canal. There American Alsen was given preference at equal prices only because of ultra high quality. The bids are on record at Washington.

Quick or slow set.

WHY?

Why are the Palmer Lime & Cement Co.'s Limes in demand?
Why are they used in all principal buildings in New York, Brooklyn and neighboring cities?
Because they are the BEST.
Best for FINISHING.
Best for BRICK and STONE WORK.
For finishing; because they will NOT pit, will NOT FOLLOW the trowel, and work SMOOTH and CLEAN.
For BRICK and STONE, because they are strong, large yielders, and will lay MORE brick per barrel than any other lime on the market. Therefore, they are cheaper for the mason's use.

No other Lime can be compared to this for QUALITY, ECONOMY, and SPEED IN WORKING.
STRONGER than lump Lime, because all impurities are removed in the process of refining and hydrating.
MORE ECONOMICAL than lump lime, because it not only sells at a lower price, but makes more and better mortar, requires less calcined plaster, spreads over a greater surface, takes less troweling, and effects an IMMENSE SAVING OF TIME, for it REQUIRES NO SLAKING, but is ready, when mixed with water and sand, for immediate use, and WORKING FREELY UNDER THE TROWEL, can be applied more quickly.
GUARANTEED NOT TO PIT OR BLISTER on the walls.
Can be mixed on the upper floors of tall buildings and applied to the walls immediately.
GREATLY IMPROVES CEMENT MORTAR by making it denser and stronger, smoother and very much easier to work, and waterproof.
GOES 20% FARTHER than any other hydrated lime.
WILL NOT AIR SLAKE OR SPOIL, even though kept for years before using.
WILL NOT HEAT, SWELL OR CAKE IF WET; water just limbers it up. Put up in barrels, cloth and tough paper sacks.
